QUICK TRIP FROM ROME

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell Reached Boston on Steamer Canopic Today

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell reached Boston today aboard the steamer Canopic after a quick trip from Rome, where they had attended the coronation of Pope Benedict XV.

The voyage across was made at night with all lights out and portholes shrouded; the only reminder of war-time.

"I would congratulate the American people on the fact that they are enjoying peace while other nations are in the throes of war," said Cardinal Gibbons. "And I would also congratulate and praise the American government on its maintenance of peace, notwithstanding great temptations," he added. The venerable prelate said that what little he had seen and the much that he had heard of the horrors of the war impressed him deeply.

"It is a great pity," he exclaimed when he learned of the damage to the cathedral at Rheims, "and a loss that can never be replaced. I knew it well and admired it in common with a world of lovers of art."

Cardinal Gibbons said he had no doubt that the war had shortened the days, if it had not directly caused the death of Pope Pius X. "I am sure the present Holy Father will do his utmost to bring about peace."

Pope Loves Americans
"Pope Benedict, the new pontiff, has a great love for America and Americans, looking up to our government as a model and exemplar of the best on this earth," said Cardinal O'Connell. "The Holy Father sent a message of sincere good will to the people of this land."

As to their inability to reach Rome in time for their participation in the election of the pope, the cardinals said their consolation lay in the fact that they had done their duty. Cardinal O'Connell expressed the opinion that the law setting the date of the conclave as ten days after the death of the pope would be changed to enable the cardinals at points distant from Rome to take part in future elections.

Cardinal Gibbons said he was very tired and would be unable to address the American Federation of Catholic Societies at Washington next Sunday. He said he would appear before the convention as will Cardinal O'Connell, but both will make only brief remarks.

Troops are Mobilized
Rev. R. G. Gaw of Washington, one of the five clergymen returning from the Holy Land, where they had been sent by a Washington newspaper, said that Italy had mobilized 400,000 troops on the northern frontier, and was calling out a class of reserves every few days.

"Everybody in Italy seemed to want war," said Mr. Gaw. "Turkish mobilization delayed the clergymen in Palestine, where all available horses were seized by the Turks for military purposes."

T. Tlesion Wells of New York said that he had been detained as a Russian spy at Riva, in the Austrian Tyrol. A letter from Secretary Bryan eventually established his identity.

Wm. S. Spencer of New York was a bearer of three medals, decorations of the order of Skender Bey, recently created by Prince William of Wied as king of Albania. They are for Colonel Roosevelt, Lyman Abbott and Charles R. Crane, Chicago.

knackles, undoubtedly donated by Geo. Clark.

The hundred yard dash was won by Jack Lynch, one of Lowell's foremost athletes and D. O'Hara captured second prize. Jack will wear for the first time Sunday. All the boys signified their intentions of greeting him on that day.

Mr. O'Hara was presented a pipe, no doubt a scheme to keep him out of training. The hop, step and jump was won by Frank Brown of the Oakland and he was awarded a briar.

A baseball game between the married men and the single men provided everyone with a vast amount of fun. The benefit proved too much for the bachelors and hammered out a 10-5 victory.

The feature of the game was a home run drive of John Larriere of the married men when three runners occupied the sacks.

ALLIES WIELD GREAT BATTERING RAM

Formidable Force Thrown Against Allies Left is Still Flinching — Germans Losing Heavily on Their Right — Belief Unanimous That Battle of the Aisne Cannot Last Much Longer

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The formidable force the Germans threw against the allies left is still flinching, according to the official communication, under the unrelenting blows of the Franco-English battering ram. Even the famous guards, as in the battle of the Marne, are unable to stand the pressure and are giving a little more ground every day.

The diversion attempted in Lorraine having proven ineffectual, the Germans are now making a fierce drive in the Woëvre district northeast of Verdun. The object, no doubt, is to cut off the army operating around Nancy, but the Germans already had tried to make an opening between Verdun and Toul, besieging Troyon at the same time. It is doubtful if they will succeed any better this time than they did in the former attempt. Nevertheless, the maneuver constitutes a menace to the allies, who are resisting with all their might and are repulsing attacks with heavy losses.

That the Germans are losing heavily on their right is also attested by the constant arrival here of prisoners and wounded. Early this morning many automobiles were seen with the German army, and allies passing through the streets, but some of these were convalescents returning from the seashore and rejoicing their corps.

This morning's press is unanimous that the battle of the Aisne cannot last much longer for the steady retirement of the German right must entail a weakening of the center elbow that the Germans threw out along the river Oise to prevent being turned.

THE NEWLY FORMED RUSSIAN REGIMENTS COVERED THEMSELVES WITH GLORY

PETROGRAD, Sept. 24.—An official communication issued by the general staff today says:

On Sept. 21 the Russian troops took by storm the fortifications of Jaroslavl, on the right bank of the River San. They took 20 cannon, even though the enemy offered heavy resistance and blew up the bridge over the San.

Two days previous the Russians had occupied Staromasto, Przeworsk and Lancut (to the north and west of Jaroslavl). The Russian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Austrian rear guard and inflicting heavy losses, although the Austrians destroyed many bridges.

Every day the number of prisoners and seized cannon increases.

The demoralization of the enemy is shown by pillaging and panicky retreat. The villagers assert that a majority of their officers are killed or missing and that the soldiers feel the loss keenly.

The newly formed Russian regiments have covered themselves with glory, fighting side by side with the veterans.

GERMAN CRUISER EMDEN FIRED FEW SHELLS WHILE PASSING MADRAS

CALCUTTA, Sept. 24.—The papers published an official despatch stating that the German cruiser Emden while passing Madras fired a few shells but that the damage to the city was slight.

Madras is a seaport of British India, the seat of government and headquarters of the Madras army.

SUBMARINE CREDITED WITH DESTROYING BRITISH CRUISERS IS UNINJURED

LONDON, Sept. 24.—A despatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. from Amsterdam states that the German submarine U-9, which is credited with blowing up the three British cruisers in the North Sea early Tuesday morning, has returned to a German port uninjured.

BRITISH TROOPS JOIN IN MOVEMENT AGAINST GERMANS AT TSING TAU

TOKIO, Sept. 24.—The war office makes the official announcement that British troops under Brig. Gen. Nathaniel Barnardiston, commander of the north China forces landed on Sept. 23 in the neighborhood of Laoshan bay to participate in the movements against the Germans at Tsing Tau.

THE STEAMER GAYHEAD

ASHORE A LITTLE WAY OUTSIDE OF BRANT POINT—RISING TIDE WILL FLOAT HER

NANTUCKET, Sept. 24.—The steamer Gayhead, which left here early today for Martha's Vineyard and New Bedford is reported ashore about half a mile outside of Brant Point one of the harbor boundaries. The steamer grounded during a dense fog. It was expected that she would be floated on the rising tide.

FELL DOWNSTAIRS

The ambulance was called yesterday afternoon to the corner of Middlesex and South streets to remove a man named John Mullen who had fallen down a flight of stairs and sustained a bad cut on the head. He was taken to St. John's hospital.

FUNERAL NOTICE

SHEA.—The funeral of the late Daniel D. Shea will take place on Friday morning at 8 o'clock from his late home, 181 Grand street. High mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

ENGLISH PAPER PRINTS LINCOLN'S PLEA

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Spectator, in an article on "President Lincoln and Compulsory Service," gives verbatim Lincoln's plea for the draft as taken from John Hay's biography of Lincoln.

The paper says that while England is likely to get only a million men without conscription, it is obviously better to leave things as they are during the war "even though the voluntary system acts with a good deal of unfairness and places a heavy burden on willing shoulders."

GERMANS SUFFER GREAT DEFEAT AT SUBIR

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Paris Matin prints a despatch from Petrograd stating that the Germans who drove General Rennenkampf back into Russia are reported to have suffered a great defeat at Subir. The Russians have reoccupied Soldan in East Prussia on the Polish frontier. It is stated that the Germans are evacuating East Prussia to reinforce the line from Thorn, in West Prussia on the border of Poland, to Kalisz.

CASUALTIES OF OFFICERS ABOARD BRITISH CRUISERS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The admiralty in publishing a list of the casualties of officers serving aboard the cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, which were blown up and sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, says:

"Not being among those saved, it must, therefore, be presumed that they lost their lives."

The list contains 24 names from the Aboukir, 25 from the Cressy and 11 from the Hogue.

TROOPS TO LEAVE MEXICO

Troubles Between Carranza and Villa Will Not Alter Plans—U. S. Will Insist on Peace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—It was officially stated at the White House today that the latest troubles between General Carranza and General Villa would not alter the plans of the United States as to withdrawing troops from Vera Cruz or the status of the embargo on arms. No date had been fixed for moving the troops.

General Villa's open repudiation of General Carranza's authority as first chief of the constitutional army in charge of the executive power in Mexico spread a sinister feeling in official circles today.

While officials admitted that the situation was a threatening one they were not without hope that the rupture would not lead to a physical clash.

Once before Villa renounced Carranza's authority, they said, and delegates of the two chiefs met at Torreón, where Villa again recognized Carranza as president.

What is perplexing officials here is the variety of reports from their agents as to Carranza's attitude. One reliable report was to the effect that Carranza recently expressed his willingness to retire soon and go to the United States for a rest, believing that with the evacuation of Vera Cruz and the selection of a new provisional president he could retire happily to private life.

President Wilson was expected to confer with state department officials today about the situation.

TRANSLATES FRENCH PROTESTANT MINISTER'S WORDS OF CONSOLATION TO DYING PRISONER

BORDEAUX, Sept. 24.—A young German soldier lay dying of his wounds yesterday in a Bordeaux hospital. He asked for spiritual consolation and a French Protestant chaplain came to his side. The chaplain, however, spoke no German. Hearing of the difficulty, a Catholic priest volunteered to interpret. The Protestant minister pronounced the words of consolation and peace in French and the priest translated them into German to the dying man, who breathed his last peacefully.

THE SPELLBINDER

The caucuses are over and there were no great surprises. The large vote that came out in this city was in the nature of a surprise.

On the republican state ticket which included two interesting contests, Alphonse B. Cook, of Boston, defeated Joseph Monette of Lawrence for state auditor, and Henry T. Atwell, of Lynn, defeated the field for attorney-general. It was thought that Mr. Monette, who resided in Lowell and who had been in the city for some time, would have been successful in winning the vote of wards six and seven. His former neighbors did not rally to his support. In the attorney-general contest John J. Higgins, who some thought would be "run down hard" in this city, received a handsome vote, and his victory was a surprise. The democratic candidate for state treasurer, George E. H. Smith, who is a native of this city, was also successful. The democratic candidate for state treasurer, George E. H. Smith, who is a native of this city, was also successful. Lowell's vote in the state election was a surprise. The democratic candidate for state treasurer, George E. H. Smith, who is a native of this city, was also successful. The democratic candidate for state treasurer, George E. H. Smith, who is a native of this city, was also successful. The democratic candidate for state treasurer, George E. H. Smith, who is a native of this city, was also successful.

In the seventh senatorial district, Candidate Jones had the advantage of the strongly democratic ward in Lynn, and he showed great strength in the lower part of the county where he is known. An indication that he will make a strong bid for the election. Senator Draper, as a campaigner, has few superiors and his campaigning was the day in the eighth district. A friend of his said of him before the caucuses: "He is a campaigner who would beat him must go home." James P. Draper came along so strongly during the past few days of the campaign that many thought he would surprise the district. But he can't. Hea, John J. McManis ran third.

COURAGE IN WAR

What war teaches—as well as business life.

Courage in war or business is born of good pure blood. Pure blood is the greatest blessing mankind can have.

Millions of people need this powerful vegetable remedy that puts the stomach, liver and bowels in fine condition, that rid the skin of pimples, rash, eczema and eczema, that dissolves bile and carmines that makes nerves stronger and steadier and gives to pale, weak, run-down people the "fullness" of health and happiness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, free from alcohol or narcotics, does just what is needed above, simply because it cleanses from the blood all poisons and impure matter. It is the world's great blood purifier, enters veins, dissolves the impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities, through the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, headache, over the kidneys, nasal or other catarrh, muscular aches or unsightly skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigorous action.

triumvirate, who as county commissioners have run things to suit themselves and with an extravagant hand for many years. The term "county ring" has never included the sheriff who is elected independently by the people nor the county treasurer elected similarly even though they might have been in sympathy with the "big three," recently reduced in numbers to the "big two," and about to become the "little one." But the C-C's political genius says that the "county ring" gave us such fine men as the late Sheriff Cushing, Keepers Eveleth and Baker and Deputy Sheriffs Stiles, Clark and Courtney, forgetting for the moment another fine man though temporarily in hard luck, the present sheriff, Mr. Fairbairn, who is the equal in every fine way of his predecessors and who appointed Messrs. Eveleth and Courtney. If the "ring" gave us these fine men it also gave us the sheriff who defaulted and put Sheriff Fairbairn in an embarrassing position, through no fault of his own. And if these men are to be included in the "ring," so also must be the county treasurer, Joe Hayden, who is the leading spirit in the Somerville Journal stock company, whose plant has done about all the county printing for years, without competition, it is alleged, and without "the label," while the Courier-Citizen maintains a fine union job plant employing Lowell men, and in every way fitted to compete for all kinds of printing in a fair field. The "county ring" that the voters of Middlesex are after at the present time, consists of Messrs. Gould and Williams. Fate has ordained that Williams cannot be reached for another year, but Levi is at the bat and it is the firm determination of the democratic voters of the county together with a goodly number of disgusted republicans to strike him out and send him back to the bush league.

Harvard Paying Job
It is understood that Contractor McHenry has sublet the paving job at the Harvard University on which Mayor Murphy refused to permit Sunday work. This new work done by the contractor has brought him in from out of town, and is paying them on a piece-work basis with the result that while the work is being done for about half what the city pays to have its paving done.

The Municipal Field
While there is talk of putting the county government from the mayor down, on the ballot this fall in any event there will be no dearth of candidates. At present the bona fide candidates are Commissioners Donnelly and Brown, John J. Patton, James P. Smith, the William W. Duncan, John Kelly, and Jeremiah Connors, while the "merchandise" candidates include former Commissioners Andrew E. Barrett, Newell E. Putnam and Abel R. Campbell, and there will be others.

Same for the Goose, Etc.
When the Greek residents purchased the Plunkett property for school purposes the state authorities held them until they installed the indirect system of heating in the building, and nobody had any criticism to offer but when the state police applied the same to the transfer on the Vermont property, there was a great howl from city hall and the municipal council with its brace of local lights tried to have the chief of the state police suspended or evade the law. Chief Whitney has a whole lot of authority but he can't suspend a law, as most high school pupils are aware. The mayor apparently has suddenly lost interest in the heat and ventilation of the Vermont property and is letting Commissioner Donnelly have it out with the state authorities.

Charlie Waves Scurable
It is reported that the mayor's office, called off a little scurrier, stating that what the city needs is to have the editor of The Sun for superintendent of streets and the proprietor for commissioner. As both of these gentlemen are pretty well fixed for jobs it is not likely that either will seek the office selected for him by the factions commotion, but should such a thing ever happen it is a good bet that Rogers street would be put in good condition at least, while they might buy paving blocks at the short price; carry out all work as estimated at the beginning of the year; put in sewers where they are needed; and at the same time keep the "boys" at work. Possibly also they might learn to run an automobile and save the city $15 per week for a chauffeur.

Promises for Next Year
After a tour of the street work Tuesday, Commissioner Morse is reported as having made this statement: "If all goes well and the weather holds good, I will do a lot more work than has ever been done before in a single year. I can't do all the things I want to. Now, Elm street will never be in proper shape until it is black-paved and next year I will tackle that job. Hale street is another thoroughfare which must be black-paved and then there is the final stretch of Gorham street. My appropriation is decidedly limited considering the very great need of new work. But I am making it go as far as possible."

Charlie is certainly honest in his statement about his intentions for next year. He will come before the voters for re-election next year, and it is to be expected that he will have the street department working up to the hilt. They all do it, though few of them come out openly and tell you about it in advance, as does Commissioner Morse. Still it would be well for Charlie to give his undivided attention to this year's street work before starting that of next year, even in his mind's eye, for one never knows what the future will bring forth. As an instance, Commissioner Morse was going to pave Gorham street to the railroad front this year, while now he states that he will reach "the iron" next year; that is, with God's help, assuming that he has caught the religious spirit of his colleagues.

These These Tears
The heartfelt sympathy of the community went out to the editor of the Courier-Citizen after reading the following editorial which appeared in Tuesday's issue:
"You can say what you like, and you can think as you jolly well please, but our own judgment is that the eighth senatorial district is going to be unable to avoid covering itself with

LEADING LAWYER DEAD

WILLIAM H. NILES OF LYNN
PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME
YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

LYNN, Sept. 24.—William H. Niles, the president of the Essex County Bar association, and one of the leading lawyers of the state, died at his home, 215 Ocean street yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for several weeks.

William H. Niles, for years one of the most prominent attorneys in this vicinity, three times refused to accept an appointment as superior court judge.

He was born at Oxford, N. H., Dec. 22, 1839. When a child he resided in Wakefield and later in East Bridgewater, where he grew to manhood, graduating from the public schools. He attended Conference seminary at East Greenwich, R. I. On graduation he went to Athens, Ga., in 1861, where he was principal of the local academy.

In 1865 he returned north, having been in Georgia during the Civil war. He entered the office of Caleb Bloodgett of Boston and was admitted to the bar in 1870 and came to Lynn the same year. He was the senior member of the firm of Niles, Stevens, Underwood & Mayo.

He leaves a wife and three daughters, Mrs. John M. Farquhar and Mrs.

Florence N. Moulton of Lynn and Mrs. Charles Houshous of Reading. Mr. Niles was especially strong with juries and for years held a reputation as one of the leading pleaders. He was forceful in his arguments and strong in his opinions.

While he never held public office, Mr. Niles for years took a deep interest in political affairs, being a prominent republican, and leading in many municipal movements. He was a director of the Lynn chamber of commerce.

VIRGINIA VOTES PROHIBITION
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 24.—While complete returns from the state wide prohibition election still are lacking, figures received up to today showed that the voters had placed Virginia in the "dry" column by a majority of more than 32,000. Delayed returns will increase the majority.

Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria and Williamsburg, were the only cities returning majorities for the local optionists.

The result of the election means that on and after November 1, 1916, Virginia will be dry.

MEDICAL CLINIC OPEN

The Dummer street charitable clinic closed during the summer months is now in full swing. The quarters consist of two rooms, an operating room and a reading room, where magazines of all descriptions can be found. The medical department is in care of Dr. C. Livingston, Dr. L. E. Schiller, Dr. P. J. Meehan and Dr. A. H. Khudjian.

THIS FALL FASHIONS FOR LADIES SHOW AN ABUNDANCE OF BEAUTIFUL LACE—SHORT SLEEVES AND V SHAPED NECKS—BEAD AND METAL THREAD EMBROIDERIES ALSO PREVAIL

So much beautiful lace is to be worn this autumn that the evening costumes are unusually lovely and charming in effect. Soft satin is to be combined therewith to a great extent and the new satins include charmeuse and also some brighter in surface but equally soft and pliable and the latter are to have great vogue. Since lace and satin seem made one for the other, the combination means an assured success.

Every known kind of lace will be worn both the flouncings and the all-over lace that can be cut to any shape.

Bodices show many variations of short sleeves and are made both with V-shaped and with round necks. Incidentally, there will be a great deal of embroidery used and metal threads will be extensively introduced. Often lace will be further enriched by gold and silver threads outlining the pattern and among new silks are shown satin brocaded in silver and in gold. They are so marvelously soft in effect that they can be draped as successfully as liberty itself, notwithstanding the generous use of metal threads.

The seated figure of the group shows one of those silks with a deep chemise of soft net in contrast and, incidentally, the big rose that is tucked into the belt is worthy of note, for just such garnitures are the smartest of all things and velvet roses are the preferred ones for the purpose while the colors are everything from black to the natural pinks and yellows. We are not hampered by nature. We simply choose the rose for the beautiful form and make it in any color that suits the costume.

All these bodices are adapted to lace and to satin and, in this connection, it will be well to add that the lace bodices will be combined with skirts of velvet to make handsome costumes, for it is to be a season of rich materials of satin and of velvet, of brocade and of lace, used in as rich profusion as the purse allows.

Head embroideries are to be employed as well as those of silk and metal threads and, in some instances, crystal beads are used to give an exceedingly beautiful and scintillating effect while pearls are pronounced favorites.

The new velvets are wonderfully soft and pliable while the nap retains, all the depth and richness of the heavier sort. While chiffon velvet will be used to a certain extent, plain velvet is the preferred one. All sorts of rich colors will be in vogue, for rich colors are particularly effective in velvet. Dark colored velvet with white or cream lace makes a wonderful combination and we shall see numbers of skirts flounced with lace while the bodices are of velvet with perhaps lace sleeves or lace trimming. Chantilly lace is extremely fashionable and, since it always is beautiful, the return to favor will surely be met with a hearty welcome. It is to be worn both in white and in black and, when we have a season of lace, velvet, brocade and satin, evening costumes are sure to be beautiful.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

NOTE.—All parents are deeply interested in the well being of their boys and girls. In the articles under the above caption to appear in this paper every Thursday, parents may learn much that will be helpful in the difficult task of keeping the boys and girls well and always moving along the right path.—Editor.

Whatever reproach or privation we impose upon a child must be clearly connected with the offence. The child should always know just exactly why it is being punished.

Moreover, the punishment should not be so long deferred that the child can lose the connection between its offence and the punishment.

Nothing that affects a child's health, such as interference with meals or with sleep, should be used as a punishment. Nor should useful work or study be discredited by being used as a means of punishment.

We must remember that punishment is like medicine. There is no one punishment that fits all cases or all children. Each case must be studied by itself, and the punishment must be made to fit the offence and also the offender.

Loose and light clothing a rigid vegetable, fruit and cereal diet without overeating, and absolute cleanliness of body and clothes will keep a child's skin in its best condition.

To prevent prickly heat, dress the children in thin cotton or silk underwear, but when the rash is really out a cooling sponge bath should be given three times a day. As the rash subsides a bath at night will be sufficient.

A pint of water is enough for one sponging, and in it should be put either a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda, a tablespoonful of vinegar or a lump of starch the size of a cherry. Let the water dry on the body without the use of a towel. Dust talcum powder between the folds and creases of the baby's body.

Whether a child's hair should be curled or left straight is not a question that needs much consideration because there will always be curly hair and straight hair, and both will continue to be stylish.

If the straight haired child is much improved in looks by a little artificial curling, the simplest way to accomplish this is to dampen her hair slightly with cologne and then roll it on soft kids until it has become perfectly dry, when it will be fluffy and curly enough to do up prettily.

Never use irons on a child's hair, as the soft little tresses are easily burned and made harsh and brittle.

Children enjoy cookies which are cut in distinctive shapes more than the round ones.

Cookies in the form of the letters of the alphabet, different animals and also in the shape of different kinds of leaves, are especially pleasing to the youngsters, and cutters of all these shapes are to be had.

Have each child come representing his birthday months by some symbol or costume. January should represent the New Year or snow man. February a valentine. March the winds. April an April fool or showers. May a May queen. June a bride. July a snail or patriot. August a harvest. September, golden rod or the beginning of school. October, autumn. November, a turkey. December, Christmas.

This is good for both children and grown ups. Provide clay pipes tied with colored ribbons. Also plenty of soap suds made with castile soap and a little glycerine. Give prizes for the largest bubble, the smallest one, the one which lasts the longest, flies the highest, the one with the most brilliant colors, etc.

When travelling with baby one of the greatest conveniences is a folding high chair. This chair is light, compact and safe, and there is no possibility of the baby upsetting it or falling out. It can be attached to the back of any ordinary chair or car seat and is easily adjusted to any height.

CHURCH NOTES

The result of the annual election of officers of the Mission band of the Central M. E. church, held last evening, was as follows:

FALL MILLINERY OPENINGS

FINE DISPLAY TO BE FOUND AT THE LEADING MILLINERY STORES

Edith M. Murphy, a well known designer and importer of up-to-date millinery, will hold her fall display of the latest exclusive styles in ladies' hats at her parlors, 226 Merrimack street, Old City Hall building on Friday and Saturday of this week. The newest fall styles will be shown, and the designer is well known, a large number of people will doubtless be present at the opening tomorrow and Saturday. In addition to Mrs. Murphy herself, there will be in attendance her capable assistants, Malvina Brunelle, Mrs. Julia May and Mrs. Parnell. These ladies have had a wide experience in the business of making and trimming ladies' hats. All are now busy preparing for the fall show, and anticipate a rush of business during the last two days of this week.

Ladies' Specialty Shop
One could hardly find a more attractive little establishment than is the Ladies' Specialty Shop of J. and L. Berton, located at 123 Merrimack street. With a complete new fall stock of the various articles that delight the ladies, the attractive appearance of the shop is more than a credit to the proprietors' talent. The fall line of gloves, coats, hosiery, infant's wear and neckwear is of the most up-to-date variety and the business at the shop has been very brisk.

Miss Anna Ouellette
It is now that the minds of the ladies are occupied with plans for new dresses and gowns for fall and winter wear. Judging from the large number of ladies who have visited the new millinery establishment of Miss Anna Ouellette, rooms 701 and 702 Sun building, it is quite evident that the high quality of the goods and workmanship of Miss Ouellette is widely appreciated. Miss Ouellette finds that her trade increases with each succeeding season, because of highly pleased customers who are not backward about telling their friends of the quality of her establishment. Miss Ouellette is showcasing imported and domestic and original modes and has a fine line of fabrics on display.

Display of Horne and Plumstead
At the millinery parlors of Horne and Plumstead, one of Lowell's best known and highly respected establishments, there are being shown the newest fall models in ladies' hats displayed in a most effective manner. The parlors are located at rooms 51-53 Central building, and the days set for the fall opening are Friday and Saturday. On these days, there will doubtless be a very large number of visitors at the establishment, for the many former customers of Horne and Plumstead will not fail to return to view this season's offerings. The prices are reasonable, and the quality of the workmanship wholly known.

Display at Ella M. Burke's
The millinery display at the up-to-date and widely patronized establishment of Ella M. Burke at 20 Palmer street, is attracting a large number of people. The display opened on Monday to continue throughout the week, and there has been an accompanying rush of business. The latest styles and exclusive imported and domestic designs are being shown in a most effective manner, keeping everyone constantly busy. Friday and Saturdays are expected to be big days at these parlors.

E. H. Severy Bleachery
The excellent quality of the work which is done at the hat bleachery of E. H. Severy, located at 123 Middle street, has attracted a great number of ladies who wish to have their velvet, felt or beaver hats re-blocked, cleaned or dyed. This bleachery is well equipped to do this kind of work, using the most up-to-date methods, and if one wishes to economize on millinery this establishment will insure help solve the problem. The satisfaction expressed by those who have sent their hats there to be made over as good as new is a sufficient assurance of first-class work. Another feature of this bleachery is the promptness with which all orders are attended to.

WOUNDED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Houston Injured at Randolph and Car Wrecked—Men in Other Machine Arrested

RANDOLPH, Sept. 21.—When a touring car, owned by the Restfulude garage, was colliding last evening with a roadster automobile containing Arthur M. Towns and Miss Anna Houston on North Main street, near Broad street, the young woman was thrown out, sustaining severe scalp wounds, a broken arm and other lesser injuries. She is at her home on North Main street, attended by two doctors. The touring car almost demolished the roadster and knocked it into the bushes at the side of the road. Towns' five occupants, all of Middlebury, Robert A. McPherson, the operator, of 26 Florence street; Fred C. Nichol of 12 Brooks street; Ward E. Trickett of 12 Cambridge street; Frank A. Anderson of 12 Huntington avenue and Thomas J. Lewis of 23 Taft place, were arrested. Later bail was given for their appearance in the East Newfalk District court, Quincy, today.

Prescott's hip was cut by being thrown against the windshield of the car. The charge against the car's occupants is reckless driving. Chief of Police McFetridge alleges that a bag filled with bottles of beer, found by the roadside, was tossed there by the car's occupants after the collision.

MOVIE DEPOTIZED ON FINE SATURDAY
October 3rd, in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank, will draw interest from that day.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR PROTESTS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, lodged with the state department yesterday a complaint from the British consul in New York that certain German societies in the United States were violating the nation's neutrality laws.

MINISTERS OF FRANCE

Forced to Resign — Kitcheners Ousted Cabinet — Governor Failed to Reinforce British

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The failure of the military governor of Lille to give reinforcements to the British forces at a time when they were in danger of annihilation during the battle of Mons, and the resultant protest of Lord Kitcheners, Great Britain's secretary for war, made to President Poincare, brought about the recent resignation of the French cabinet, according to Dr. Fred S. Mason of New York, who arrived here yesterday on the Olympic.

Dr. Mason while in France was allowed to visit the hospital at Camp Marborough, Boulogne-Sur-Mer, by Surgeon General Linden Bell of the British expeditionary force. He also visited other hospitals prepared for the wounded at Boulogne, Trouville and Havre. At Boulogne Gen. Bell introduced him to a well informed official of rank.

Kept Joffre's Order in Pocket

The following is a report of the facts as the official is said to have stated them to Dr. Mason:

When a force of about 100,000 British under Gen. French were opposed by more than twice that number of Germans of Gen. von Kluck's army at Mons, Gen. French saw that he was in a desperate situation. After the first day of fighting, when it was seen that the overwhelming force of Germans threatened to surround the entire British force, Gen. French made an earnest appeal to Gen. Joffre, commander of the French troops, requesting support on the left wing where the British were entirely alone.

"Gen. Joffre wired instructions to the governor of Lille to send his garrison of 40,000 men to support the British forces.

"It appears, however, that the governor put the telegram in his pocket for women and children to evacuate Lille, and this nearly brought about a defeat of the allies, and was certainly one of the main reasons why they were obliged to retreat toward Paris.

Lord Kitcheners Trip to Paris

"The British managed to cut their way out of the German trap by almost superhuman effort and at tremendous loss. They were in full retreat away from Mons when the reinforcements arrived.

"Although Gen. French made casual mention of the alleged failure of the French forces to assist him in his official report designed for publication, he sent a complete report and a bitter complaint direct to Lord Kitcheners, saying that the failure of the French to answer his plea put his whole army in jeopardy.

"Lord Kitcheners was furious. He made a secret trip to Paris and laid his complaint against the military governor of Lille before President Poincare and the French minister of war. The latter, who was a friend of the general, complained against, refused to punish him.

"President Poincare, however, to make every concession to Lord Kitcheners, forced the resignation of his whole Cabinet. This was on Aug. 25, about a week after the battle of Mons. A very serious crisis in the affairs of the allies was thus averted and Lord Kitcheners triumphed in his demand. The governor of Lille has been sent to an obscure post of duty."

Why Modern Women's Hair Is Getting Thin—By Mdm. Beaupre

Wigs, switches, curling tongs, artificial waving, singeing, etc., have combined to ruin the hair of many women, so there is decidedly an increase in baldness. But proper care will develop heavy, beautiful hair upon any head. In washing the hair do not use a makeshift which may remove more than the excess oil, leaving the hair dangerously dry, but use something which is made for shampooing only. A perfectly safe, economical, invigorating shampoo, that makes the hair so fluffy it seems much heavier than it is can be had by dissolving a tea-spoonful canthrox, which every good druggist sells in a cup hot water. This mixture cleanses gently, yet thoroughly, removing all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, getting to the scalp and hair the vigor that insures scalp health and hair beauty. Canthrox shampoos make the head feel good, make the hair look good, are very beneficial where hair is faded, dull or brittle, and the regular use of canthrox will greatly enrich the color of the hair and give a beautiful gloss and softness.

structed in the flooring of the piazza of a Somerville residence without the owner's knowledge, the excavation of a trench beneath the porch, an attempt to cut a hole in the lattice work of the piazza, and the receipt by the owner of a Black Hand letter, is engaging the attention of Chief Kendall and the detectives of the Somerville police department.

The case was first reported to Chief Kendall last Sunday, who kept the facts a secret until yesterday when the letter was received, in which the writer warned the recipient to call off the police.

Herbert Buzzell, aged 31, owner of a two-family dwelling house at 3 Whitman street, West Somerville, brought the case to the attention of the police. He occupies the upper half of the house with his mother, Mrs. James Buzzell, and Eleanor Davis, 15 years old, a pupil at the Somerville high school. The lower apartments are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Rich and their son.

According to Mr. Buzzell's report the discovery that three boards of the piazza had been sawed through and made into a trap door about 15 inches square by being cleaved together was made last Sunday morning. The door was lifted and upon dropping through it to the ground beneath Mr. Buzzell was astonished to find a trench about three feet long.

A woman's coat, identified as his mother's, a trunk and a paper bag, each containing a quantity of tin, paper, pasteboard box and an envelope containing two hinges, screws to fit and a small bolt were found lying on the ground.

He also found a saw with which, it is supposed, the trap door and lattice front of the piazza were cut. It is believed the bolt and hinges were designed to be fitted to a door in the lattice.

The coat of Mr. Buzzell's mother had been placed in storage in an attic room. How it was taken from the house and by whom is a puzzle to the family, as there was no evidence of a robber's having broken in.

It is presumed the trap door was made Saturday night, as members of the family occupying the first floor heard the noise of a saw, but supposed it came from a house in the neighborhood.

The threatening letter was postmarked in Boston and was written on ordinary wrapping paper. It read:

"A word to the wise. Pull off the bolts or look out for yer dump."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

There isn't a spot in town which is so cool as the B. F. Keith theatre. During the torrid spell through which we are passing it has literally been "a cool as ice." And in addition to receiving cool air in the theatre, for the minimum of price one gets a splendid combination vaudeville and motion picture bill today another big change in program takes place, with the Five-Melody Boys topping the list of attractions. The quintet are the premier saxophonists of the vaudeville stage, and only last week, scored a big hit at the Hammerstein theatre in New York. The second feature is that of the Van Der Kooys, who will feature Felix, the mind-reading duck. This is granted to erase the blues from anybody's mind, and it's as original as it is funny. Denton & Howard, singers and dancers, and Jeanette Childs, a dainty and gliding act, conclude the vaudeville part of the program. Then, there will be four specially selected motion pictures. Beginning next Monday a return will be made to the former policy of "all-vaudeville." And, to head the bill, will be the beautiful diver, Miss "Ideal," who is often called the diving Venus.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Not very much like theatrical weather is it? More like vacation time coming back again, these hot, uncomfortable afternoons and evenings. For many of us vacations so soon again are impossible—yet we long for a moment's rest, long to get away if only for two or three hours—and there's no better place where we can enjoy these few hours than at the cool Merrimack Square theatre.

"Alma, Jimmy Valentine" is the attraction this week—one of those breezy, care-free plays that make us forget our big city's heat. The acting is capital, the staging is all that one could demand and so far all who have seen it have pronounced this week's bill as the best so far offered this season. Tickets for all performances are now on sale at the box office, phone 2053. Subscription list open at the box office.

THE OWL THEATRE

Mystery, intrigue and drama are cleverly mixed in "Doc," the four-part feature that is shown at the Owl this afternoon and evening. This story is taken from the Saturday Evening Post, and in its filming, it has not lost a whit of its interest. Besides this feature another two-part play entitled

"The Stigma," a Keystone comedy called "The Sky-Pilot" and many others complete another fine program.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

Every woman who is in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercureous wax will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not caustic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of dirt which come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercureous wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples. Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by dissolving in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce of powdered arsenic in 1 pint of witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.

AMONG THE TOILERS

Robert Winters of the Mass. mills has returned from a three days' visit to North Scituate.

Thomas Connolly of the Bigelow Carpet rug department is of the opinion that Nashua is the best little town in the world.

William Farrell of the Mass. mills returned today from a four days' fishing trip to a lake in New Hampshire. He made a very good catch.

The members of Painters' union will hold a meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runkels building tonight. All members are requested to attend.

Patrick Farrell, foreman of the cloth room at the Tremont & Suffolk mills has postponed his advent in Lowell for the season owing to the extreme weather.

Charles Borden of the Stirling mills has formed a fishing party and will start Saturday afternoon for Long Pond where he expects to make quite a catch.

Jim Denahy, foreman of the Mears Adams sole leather department is of the opinion that a mid-winter sociable by the employees of the shop would not be half bad. Go to it, Jim!

The Machinists' union will meet tonight in its rooms in Middle street. Business of much importance will come up for transaction and a good time will be had after the meeting.

Miss Ethel Ashton, a prominent book-keeper at the Lowell Bleachery will be seen in the near future as the heroine in an amateur drama to be given by a local society.

Andrew Lovell of the Mass. mills had the misfortune yesterday afternoon of striking a tense on a beaming machine on which he was working. But he took his ill luck good-naturedly and soon had things straightened out in shape.

Joe Sears, ex-president of the Carpenters' union and George Field business agent of the Painters' union have some very exciting games of cribbage in the union rooms in the Runkels building. George avers that Joe's neighbors complain about Joe talking in his sleep. "Fifteen, two, fifteen four, I'm not going to play. You're a cheat," etc. are some of his expressions.

Daniel P. Whalen, organizer of the Bunk & Shoe Workers' union in this city returned from Brooklyn yesterday where he spent a few delightful days with his family. He also had the pleasure of voting at the primaries, something that he thought he would have to pass up this year owing to his work in this city, which keeps him very busy.

Fiskadee Mills

The Fiskadee cotton mills, Sturbridge, Mass., which have been idle since 1910 will reopen within a short time. It is thought that something besides cotton cloth will be manufactured.

Lowell Textile Co.

The Lowell Textile Co., North Chelmsford, is running overtime three nights a week and Saturday afternoons. The night operations started Monday night and ended last night. The operatives, all men, work until 10 o'clock at night, and Saturday afternoons until 5 o'clock. The same schedule will be maintained until further notice.

Saco-Lowell Shops

The Saco-Lowell shops are not running as well as they might, but if predictions coming from men closely identified with the machine business, can be taken as a criterion these shops will be operating at a whole lot better in the fall. When the shops are running full over 1000 men are employed. At the present time it is stated that there are but a little over 2000 men employed. But no one is working harder to build up business than Agent Blake who besides being a very able man is well liked by the employees.

Lyon Carpet Co.

The Lyon Carpet Co. is running as full as usual and shows no signs of slackening. This season which is

PECULIAR LOVE BALLAD AIMED TO DEVELOP THE VOICE

Of all the strange songs yet written the one just out called "The Rose of My Heart" is the most unique which New York has had in some time. It is a high-class ballad on the order of "A Dream," by Bartlett, and begins with a simple melody that leads the voice up to a very strong climax. A part of the chorus runs thus:

THE ROSE OF MY HEART

By JAMES KENDIS

The song is quite a novelty in a way. It does not appeal to the popular idea, but is aimed to develop the voice of those who care for the better class of music, such as "Sing Me to Sleep," "The Rosary," and kindred pieces. The arrangement contains about a dozen different harmonies for high baritone, contralto and soprano voices.

The ballad is said to be the most pronounced hit in classical music which has been issued in many years.

unusually dull in the carpet business has had no depressing effect at this plant, which, to the contrary is very busy. Rugs and carpets of any size and quality are made and a fine line of Persian rugs are also manufactured.

Musketaquid Mills

The Musketaquid mills, situated in Howe street are sharing in the prosperity that has struck the woolen mills all over the country. These mills are running on a very even keel and indications seem to point to even more prosperous times in the near future. Superintendent Laycock is a man fully conversant with the woolen business and has been very successful since his coming to Lowell only a few years ago.

Carpenters' Union Held Meeting

The members of Carpenters' union, held a very largely attended meeting in their hall in the tunnels building last night. Much business of a routine nature was transacted and one new member was admitted. Three propositions were received and turned over to the investigation committee. Committee reports of much import were read and properly referred. The agreement which runs out in a few months was the topic of much discussion and at the next meeting plans will be formulated towards a new agreement. A report from the business agent showed the local well up among the leaders in the state and nearly all members working. The secretary reported the local to be in a good financial condition.

Attachment Calculating Wages

A calculating machine is in use in attaching continental mills for automatically calculating the wages of weavers. It is manufactured by the Arbelits-und Lohnverrechner-Gesellschaft, Vienna, Austria. The machine is attached to the chain shaft on cotton looms.

It is the custom to pay the weavers in continental mills an advance based on the number of thousand picks actually woven, and it is for this system that the calculating machine is specially adapted. The figures in the upper row at the left show the amount due the weaver. Figures to the right in the upper row, on the front of this box-like arrangement, indicate the number of thousand of picks that have been woven. When the machine is attached to a loom the pointers on a lower row of figures are adjusted to the list price per thousand picks. The machine is so constructed that when the figures in the upper left-hand row automatically indicate the amount due the weaver at this rate for any cloth that has been woven. At the end of the week all that is necessary is for the overseer or payroll clerk to make a record of the amount due each weaver as indicated by the machine on each loom. The indicators in the upper row are then set at 0 ready for the next week's work.

The indicator is securely locked so as to prevent any interference with it except by authorized persons. The weaver's wage is not affected by the number of picks per inch, but depends solely on the total number of picks actually woven in the week. The indicator also tests the amount of cloth obtained from any given quantity of filling. This enables the mill manager to determine accurately the cost of the material and also detect of making of any excessive amount of waste.

Mill News

The Union mills, knit goods, has shut down its factories at Hudson and Mechanicville, N. Y. The company does a large export business and it is reported that about $20,000 in knit goods, now on the ocean, will be returned on account of the war. It is stated, however, that both plants may resume work.

The B. & L. Textile company, Cohoes, N. Y., manufacturers of knit and underwear, are planning to increase their output by installing about 75 new machines, and doubling their present force. They say that business is picking up and that the rush of orders has necessitated the hiring of more employees.

Departments B and C of the Sanford mills, Sanford, Me., including the plush and hosiery industries of the town, are on a full time schedule after running four days per week for six months. The company officials state that they have received sufficient orders to warrant running on full time for several months. A large order which has been placed by Detroit parties with a Belgian concern before the war broke out in Europe has been placed with the mills here.

The drawing and spinning departments at the Atlantic mills, the largest factory in Olneyville, R. I., has begun a night schedule to keep pace with the demands of the weaving department. At the office of the mill it was stated that the overtime schedule will continue indefinitely in order to get sufficient material ahead to feed the looms. For the present the entire yarn department will not run nights, although this may be necessary later on. The mill situation in the section is declared to be very promising and the orders that have hovered over the industry for the past few weeks have passed. Other mills in this section report a brighter outlook, and while business cannot be said to be at top speed, a general increase is looked for this fall.

The A. S. Amble plant, Sussex, N. J., has gone on a four-day-a-week schedule and will be operated on short time for several months. The European war is said to be the cause. About 35 employees are affected. The factory makes towels, Terry cloth, cotton and wool filled novelty flannels and serges.

A three-day schedule is now in force at the carpet weaving plant of the Beattie Mfg. Co., Little Falls, N. Y., which affects 500 hands.

The Gardner Print Works and Bleachery, Wappinger Falls, N. Y., which does a large export business, has closed down its printing department for three weeks. Uncertainty in foreign shipping is the cause.

The American Mills Co., New Haven, Conn., is erecting an addition to its weave shed, 200x120 feet.

It is stated that the Universal Wind-up company at Cranston, R. I., has laid off 20 employees, including six clerks and 12 draughtsmen. The lay-off, it is said, is due to the war, which has curtailed the company's foreign trade.

The carpet mill of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Amsterdam, N. Y., employing several thousand, which had been idle for many weeks, has resumed operations.

CUFF'S VOTE CLOSE

WARD SIX OF LYNN CARRIED DAY FOR SENATORIAL CANDIDATE

With still a few towns to be heard from, but not enough to change the result it appears that Commissioner Gould carried the county with a grand total of 5847 votes, with 7404 for Major Barnes and 2096 for Julius Meyers. Major Barnes vote surprised many Gould supporters who clung to the belief that Lucie Levi would sweep the county as in former years. On the democratic end, Senator Charles P. McCarthy, of Marlboro, whose great popularity in his home districts has kept him in the legislature and senate for many years, despite the fact that he was a democrat in a republican district was the winner with a vote of 3173 with Deputy Sheriff Walsh, second man with 2312. John J. Butler, who carried Lowell by a good plurality came out fourth in the final accounting with 2355. The fact that there were three Cambridge candidates in the field split the great democratic vote of that city in such a manner as to place the final result in doubt until the last minute. Last year Candidate McCloskey swept Cambridge but this year Candidate O'Connor, an ex-alderman of the University City got a big lead on him and finished third with 2662. McCloskey received 1662 in the county and McLaughlin, 781.

In the seventh senatorial district Thomas S. Cuff lost by only 125 votes receiving 1016 against 1144 for Henry Dunn of Lynn. In wards five and nine Cuff led Dunn by 703 while in ward 6 of Lynn Dunn led Cuff by 326, and that Lynn lead was what did the business. Otto Reither didn't have a look-in against Candidate Kimball, for the latter received 1246 while Reither got only 298.

In the 8th district Marchand's total vote was 2071 while the best best collected was 1483. Senator Draper had a total vote of 1045 while McLammon ran second with 895 and Dunigan, third with 758.

The town of Ashby had the distinction of having no democratic voters show up at the polls. Ashby is the most northern town in Middlesex county and possibly the demmons never got that far north. Ashby gets into the papers about four times a year, when it sends a juryman down to the big cities.

WHAT LOWELL NEEDS

Already one hears sundry rumors on the street regarding the possible candidates for municipal office a few months from now, and as usual these candidates may be roughly divided into two groups: the professional politicians and the politically unknown. All have their following, whether it be a personal one because of some engaging qualities, a selfish one because of liberal promises made to office seekers, or a really disinterested one founded on the belief that a certain candidate would be able to give an efficient, economic and yet progressive term of service to the city. What the masses of the people think—if the masses really do think about such things as municipal politics—cannot be easily determined, but if the masses wish for really good and adequate government there are many things to be learned from past experience.

It is not a particle too soon for the people of Lowell to impress on candidates for office the desirability of showing in their campaigns some practical reason why their election would improve Lowell, industrially, politically or otherwise. Let us demand more business and less buncombe. Campaigns of mere abuse with personal vilification of rivals we have experienced and learned to regret; political campaigns that gave a bad reputation to our city and its institutions and tended to some disadvantageous advertising have been politically effective in some notorious cases but the gain of the individual has been the loss of the municipality. Lowell citizens need no argument to support this statement now; it is commonly known and commonly regretted.

Lowell citizens should realize before it is too late that municipal government is not the personal business of the official selected to fill some public position; it is the business of the citizen, run as the citizen dictates and paid for with money subscribed by the citizens collectively. Any man of common sense who wishes to hire an individual to transact some business does not judge of the ability of the applicant because of his magnetic personality, or his personal claims or promises. The employer investigates and makes sure that the would-be employee is capable, honest, and industrious; when he has found that his business may be trusted to such hands he doesn't hesitate long in making a choice.

To realize what municipal government really is in its connection with public officials and with the people of a community, one need but attend a New England town meeting—an ideal representation of efficient and democratic government. Everything is transacted in the open, and there is no chance for buncombe. There one will not hear any fine speeches about public morality, law and order and other high sounding political issues that are as insincere as they are eloquently expressed. The people of the town are fully aware of the fact that the money to be spent is supplied by them and they vote it away with a full sense of their responsibility and with full regard for economy. Petty graft and pernicious personalities are kept out of sight and the motives of the speakers for or against any suggestion are generally analyzed by the next shrewd commentator. For the sake of good government it seems a pity that communities have grown so large and so complex that town meetings have been discarded in favor of municipal meetings with their prearranged surprises, their selfish misuses and abuse of public funds, their vote-baiting policies—and their notorious insincerity.

Lowell voters have in the past been fooled by cries of "economy," "respect for law," "special privilege to none" and other fine things, warranted to catch the crowd and play up the emotions of the electorate. Have the promises really been kept? Has Lowell progressed under such a regime? Are we, with our enormous tax rate, our poor water supply, our wretched school accommodation, our honeycombed streets, our insufficient lighting, our involved finance and many other drawbacks any better off than we were before we looked for saints to run the affairs of the municipality? Wake up, Lowell voters, and ask yourselves if you must go on indefinitely voting insincere, inefficient and incapable politicians into office, that they may make the city a public laughing stock and an object lesson in political inefficiency. When we nominate and elect our next commissioners, let us forget petty issues and vote with the intention of getting for our city the best in efficient, economic and yet progressive government.

SOME WORLD LOSSES

When the passions of men and of nations have cooled down no people will regret some aspects of the present war more than the Germans, who, excusable or otherwise, have wrought vast damage that time cannot repair. As yet the world generally is not disposed to accept their side of the burning of Louvain and other Belgian cities and towns, the damage to Rheims cathedral, the destruction of libraries and pictures and the other losses that are a blow to the world as well as to the countries that have directly suffered. Many papers have commented on the paradoxical destruction of such things in the name of "culture" after they had been spared through the centuries of Goth and Visigoth, by Vandal and Hun.

One such loss, the enormity of which is as yet little understood, is that of the library of the University of Louvain with its 70,000 precious manuscripts and priceless relics of the first products of the printers' art. Among these who will most poignantly regret this blow to literature are the many interested in the Celtic renaissance, for among the manuscripts destroyed were thousands of precious books illuminated by Irish monks in Ireland's golden age with sagas, tales of saint and scholar, of gods and fighting men and with fervent poems that reflected the life struggle of a suffering nation. During the dark days of persecution these books were taken to the continent by Irish prelates, priests and political exiles for safe keeping and the greater number found their way to friendly Louvain, German and Irish scholars of the type of Cuno Mayer and Dr. Douglas Hyde were giving a fragmentary part of their contents to the world, but they are now gone and with them a prolific source of Celtic culture and artistic feeling.

Latest reports from Rheims indicate that the walls are still standing and that the great cathedral may yet be externally restored, but they tell of the destruction of the beautiful windows especially the "rose window," of the facade with its rare amber glass. The wood carving of the interior, including the roof, the paneling of the altars, the choir ornaments have also fallen prey to the flames. Art lovers who know that medieval stained glass cannot be duplicated by any modern process—being a lost art—and that museums spend thousands for a small fragment of the wood carving that was destroyed so ruth-

THE SUBMARINE

With a well defined thrill of anxiety England is now recalling the warning of Admiral Sir Percy Scott who declared long before the present war that naval strategy had been revolutionized by the invention of the torpedo and the submarine and that in consequence the greatest dreadnaughts were rendered of second rate importance. Germany has long professed its belief in this theory and has gone on perfecting the engines of war in the air and under water, professing no fear of England's mighty naval armament. The sending of five submarines against the British fleet was only a slight move on the part of Germany, but it is acknowledged that three of the greatest battleships could have been sunk as easily as the three powerful cruisers. That there is genuine danger in the situation for England is not denied, and it would appear that English government officials favor offensive naval tactics, advising their admirals to "go in and dig out the German fleet" before any more crawling submarines send English war ships to the bottom. With the possibility of destructive bombs from the air and deadly torpedoes from under water, the modern ship of war is not the powerful thing it once was. It is surely a long way back to Nelson's "Trafalgar."

GOOD VOTE CAST

Considering that there was no contest for the head of the ticket and that a great deal of the voting was therefore perfunctory, and considering also the usual apathy at primaries coupled with the all-absorbing war of this season, the vote cast in Lowell was most satisfactory. It indicates a good degree of general interest in the coming campaign and is to be commended as the exercise of a good public spirit. One of the surprises was the return of so many local men to the legislature, a gratifying fact if an indication that the public does not think length of service of itself a disqualifying factor for re-election. The public that has begun as well should not now lose interest but should follow the campaigns of their respective representatives until after election. The Democrats of Massachusetts have an unusually strong ticket and there is victory ahead if each individual does his part in legitimizing furthering the work that his party has set out to do in national and state circles.

STREET DEPT. PROGRESS

In the construction of the Pawtucket sewer and the completion or continuation of the various jobs in Westford, Gorham, Andover and First streets, Commissioner Morse has tackled a great many problems and it is evident that he has lost none of his enthusiasm. It is well, for a great deal remains to be done and the street department will have no time to congratulate itself on one task before another presents itself for settlement. Rogers street, Elm street, Lawrence street and many others are in a sorry condition and those who are striving for better things must realize the weaknesses of the Lowell policy of the past quite as strongly as do the many critics. With regard to consistent repair it is a matter for congratulation.

tion that the street department is attending to this most important phase of street work with more intelligent persistence than has been shown for a long time. From now until the snow flies there are urgent necessities which will keep the officials of the street department continually on the job.

THE AISNE CARNAGE

If the battle raging on the banks of the Aisne is really as represented, the final toll of death will be enormous, for the great feature of the fighting is the dreadful cannonade that has poured shot, shell and bullet on the respective lines of both the Germans and the Allies. English despatches say that the battle has developed into a siege with the Germans firmly entrenched in almost impenetrable positions and with the English and French burrowing towards them, digging up fresh trenches as they advance. Occasionally the fight has come to tests of "cold steel" between detached groups but for the most part the damage has been done by the most deadly guns of the respective powers, carefully planted behind the respective positions of either side and trained on the strategic points of the enemy's fortifications. The Germans, apparently, had anticipated the possibility of defeat to their preliminary plans of invasion for they had made arrangements to take up their present position on the Aisne some weeks ago. After ten or eleven days' continuous fighting, the result of the battle cannot be far distant.

It is not very alarming, after all, to consider that there is a possibility of a federal war tax on beer, tobacco, pullman tickets, cheques, etc. Most of us anticipate but little hardship on that score, but if we must give up beer, pullman tickets, etc.—Oh well!

A news item from New Orleans states that the bubonic plague there is not entirely stamped out yet as two new cases have been discovered. Would it not be a most effective war move for one contesting force to enclose some bubonic plague germs in capsules and send them into the ranks of the enemy? Not a whit more horrible than some of the things being done daily, and when all is said and done, war is at best only a process of extermination—furthered by any means at hand.

Let us hope that the cleaning out of the boulevard main by the New York concern will result in visible cleanliness to the water system. We have long tried to believe that our polka dotted supply is pure, but the stomach is apt to be ruled by the evidence of the eyes. Let us have but clear water for a while and the warnings of twenty experts will not be able to keep us from drinking copious draughts.

Although there is little sincerity in the economy cry of the republicans, the democrats must not ignore the fact that it may be made effective campaign material. Economy just now is good politics as well as good business. If only the republicans could point out some precedent while they were in power, their contention would carry more force.

The day of prayers for peace is approaching. Will the day of peace follow?

SEEN AND HEARD

Why is it that your nose always falls due on the day you are broke?

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who used to have the belly-ache?

It is a great comfort to a fat woman to imagine that she is broad-minded just because her shape is that way.

The men needn't talk. Most of the white vests are just as dirty as the white stockings.

They haven't discovered perpetual motion yet. But the man who invent-

This would be a whole lot better world if we did not leave our religion behind us when we walk out of church on Sunday.

An automobile is like a baby. You can get along without it before you get one, but after you get one you wouldn't give it up for anything.

The old-fashioned man who used to blow down the muzzle of a gun to see if it was loaded now has a son who cranks an automobile with the clutch in.

There was quite a contrast between Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. But wasn't as great as the contrast between the woman the ice man sees in the kitchen in the morning and the woman he sees leaving the same house for a trip down town in the afternoon.

"Where are the women going to?" "They're going to the voting booths."

"The big policeman said."

"Why are they all so smartly dressed?" "They hold receptions at the polls."

"For the women are receiving and they're casting votes today."

And they're serving tea in pretty gowns of mauve and silver gray, and they're buying votes with tickets to a nearby matinee.

For that's the way they work it in the morning."

—Harvey Pearce, in Truth.

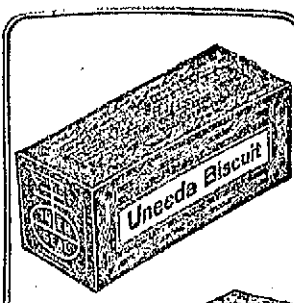

Of course daughter won't believe this, but you can get a beautiful complexion by straining your face over a washbasin and wringing out the clothes makes the arms plump, and hanging the clothes on the line increases the bust measurement, and stooping to pick up the clothes makes the waist line smaller, and carrying the clothes out into the yard makes the lower limbs firm and shapely.

not wait for the waiter, but addressed the "bun." When the "bun" returned he brought a glass of food tea. The order was given again, and the boy repeated it—at least that is what the two assistant managers thought. When he came back the next time he bore a plate of food.

"Maybe he is French," said one to the other. He addressed the boy in that language. A blank look and a shake of the head was the reply. Next he tried him in German, with the same result. Spanish and Italian fell upon deaf ears.

"I'll bet he's a Pole," said one of the assistant managers, and he called over a captain and told him to address the boy in Polish.

Again the boy shook his head, but this time he spoke.

"I'm very sorry, Sir," he said, "but I'm Irish and I don't speak anything but English. I didn't suppose I was required to speak five languages."

SUCKING CORN
Ho boys, we go, boys out to the fields of corn.

To the yellow ears and tawny spears that hang in the frost of morn.

Where the partridge whistles from the ripened burrs and floats in the hazy air.

And the wild geese cry in the autumn sky, and the day is dawning fair.

Pluck 'em and suck 'em and chuck 'em away.

The corn that is shorn in the morn of the day.

The gold that is rolled in the fold of the husk.

We'll rip and we'll strip and we'll crib before dusk.

Get when, keep the row—we're gathering in the grain.

The swelling crib with bulging rib will shelter the store from rain.

The golden ears in the stable as to laurels of the Doge.

In beauty fills the sower hills, suffused in rich gamboge.

The ripened grapes in perfect shapes, and crimson apples elude.

The elder press with firm cress their luscious juices will wring.

The sparkling cup abriming up, we'll drink in hearty guise.

To hurrying hours and fading flowers and Indiana summer days.

The tender shocks of bladed stalks like council chambers stand.

And eager hands to silent sheaves describe a warrior band.

And here and there through balmy air an arrowed shaft is flung.

On downy furrows summer streams threadlike o'er the dales.

Ho ho, the pumpkin pie, and hominy and pork.

Speed along with happy song: the day is ripe for work.

Yank the war and shag it clear and toss it on the load.

Tonight I see my dear Marie in the cottage down the road.

—George T. Edson.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

ANOTHER GRAFT NAILED
The executive council is to be commended for its action in putting a check on the grafting game of members of legislative recess committees and exacting their duty but exact compensation for services not rendered. Hereafter the rule will be, no work, no pay for such delinquents. These committees, at best, are needless expenses to the state inasmuch as they are rarely of great importance in the guidance of the legislature but are a device whereby their members are furnished with an excuse for sponging a little easier money in addition to the regular salaries out of the commonwealth.—Fall River Herald.

AMERICAN TOURISTS

It is supposed that the number of Americans driven home from Europe by the war will reach 100,000. Already $7,000 have passed through London on their way and many of them needed help from the relief committee. The total number is surprising in its magnitude. Few persons could believe that so many of their countrymen were abroad at one time. Last year, for some years to come these repatriated patriots should devote some time to seeing their own country, and they probably will. Their return from England and the continent will be another item in the cost of the present war.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

"President Roosevelt kept Mr. Barnes in office for several years and knew all the things about him then that this answer alleges, then President Roosevelt's actions were nothing less than criminal."

But the like inconsistency has characterized the whole Roosevelt political life.—Worcester Post.

NO DEFINITE RESULT

Wonder if "no definite result" in a battle means that nothing definite has happened to any of the participants in it? The bulletins from abroad dealt largely with the situation; deaths and wounding and additions to the throngs of missing are not considered to be of any importance if the battle itself doesn't result in a defeat of one army or the other in general.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

GOVERNMENT OWNED

A merchant marine owned and operated by the government would shorten the step to the government-owned railroads and other enterprises. Even in an emergency such as that which now confronts us, the state as to consequences of the remedy proposed cannot be overlooked.—Fall River Herald.

NEVER TOUCHED US

The closing hours of the primary campaign developed two regrettable things. One was the introduction of the sectarian issue, and the other the effort of the chairman of the republican city committee of Boston to advise republicans of the state as to what he considered the official republican state. As a matter of fact the republican state committee had no knowledge of either of these moves.—Gorham Eagle.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL MET 1200 TO 1500 PERISHED NEWS FROM CITY HALL

Funds for Sewer Dept. to Keep Job Moving—Jurors Drawn—
Other Business Transacted

At a meeting of the municipal council held this morning Commissioner Morse informed his colleagues he would close down all the sewer jobs in the city Friday night if the transfer of the money received from the county for the Training school sewer job was not made today. The order which had been mislaid was later found and passed.

The meeting which was scheduled to be held at 11 o'clock was opened by Mayor Murphy at 12:15 o'clock with all the members present except Commissioner Brown. Several petitions from the New England Telephone Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for pole location and wire attachments were read referred. A hearing was given the New England Telephone Co. on its petition for the erection of a pole in Crowley street. A representative of the company appeared in favor of the petition and the following as remonstrants: John Fahey, Owen E. Brennan, John J. Lowmyer and Mr. Mooney. On motion of Commissioner Donnelly the petitioner was given leave to withdraw.

The Lowell Electric Light Corp. petitioned for the erection of a pole in Methuen street and the petition was referred. An order was received from the clerk of the superior court for the appointment of eight traverse jurors for the civil session of the superior court which will open in this city on the first Monday in October and Commissioner Carmichael was requested to draw names. The following were drawn:

John M. Irwin, 83 Pine, confectioner.
Richard J. Welch, 545 Andover, plumber.
Henry J. Williams, 354 Pine, engineer.

Edgar A. Gerry, 12 Bellevue, messenger.
William O. Dickerman, 64 Bellevue, clerk.

John F. Rogers, 29 Cedar, undertaker.
John H. McNabb, 108 Pleasant, laundry.

Frank A. Cassidy, 9 Livermore, fireman.

A petition was received from the Lowell board of trade, asking that Winchester and Chester streets be made one-way streets and it was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

The Bay State Street Railway Co. petitioned for the junction of Corral, Gasco and Westford streets and it was voted to give the company a hearing on Oct. 8.

Several orders for the laying of sidewalks and edgelines were read, but inasmuch as some of the abutters objected to the laying of the sidewalks, the orders were laid on the table for some time. Mr. Morse explained that some of the abutters were not able to defray the expense of such work and were in favor of waiting some time, and he said he was willing to lay out the sidewalks where they were wanted, but the mayor said he did not believe this would be proper.

Commissioner Carmichael was authorized to sign contracts for pipes and valves for the filtration plant. At this point Commissioner Carmichael moved adjournment until Friday morning, but the motion was killed.

Mr. Morse said he would shut down all the sewer jobs of the city Friday unless a transfer of the money received from the county for the Training school sewer job was made. Messenger Monahan was then asked to find the order for the said transfer, but it was beyond the capacity of the messenger to produce the copy. Mr. Morse joined in the search and his efforts were also fruitless. Then it was stated that the city solicitor had the order in his possession and he was not to be found at city hall. A recess of 20 minutes was taken and in the meantime a new order was drafted.

At 1:30 o'clock the commissioners convened again and the following order was adopted:

That the sum of $6220.56, being the amount of money paid into the general treasury fund of the city of Lowell by the Middlesex county commissioners for the cost of construction of a sewer and a road at the Middlesex County Training school in North Chelmsford be and the same is hereby appropriated and transferred from the general treasury fund and placed to the credit of an appropriation designated "An appropriation for sewer construction in the year 1914."

This order is of urgent necessity for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety.

After the passing of this order the council adjourned to Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

WAR CREDIT INFLATED

BANKS ADVANCE MONEY ON CASH BASIS OF 5 PER CENT—TOTAL TO BE $375,000,000

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Westminster Gazette, in an article on international conditions, says:

"Germany has not proclaimed a moratorium and is proud of the fact. Instead she has adopted financial measures entailing considerable risks. German business is transacted on a cash margin, which to the English mind appears dangerously narrow, but under the pressure of war credit is being enormously inflated.

"In the first place, the banks are doing everything possible for their customers, and it is quite probable that owing to the great number of small banks in Germany, advances to firms of good standing are being made more rapidly than has proven feasible in England.

"Secondly, a 'war credit bank' has been set up which has the power to advance $375,000,000 upon securities. Thirdly, full scope has been given to local initiative everywhere throughout Germany. Credit banks are projected or being established with the idea of helping the small capitalists, which are guaranteed by 'communes' or cooperative societies, supported by the larger firms.

"The amount of credit which these banks are prepared to advance is enormous. At Frankfurt, for example, it is proposed that credit to the amount of $2,500,000 shall be advanced on cash deposits of one-twentieth of that sum, or $125,000. This cash basis of 5 per cent is extraordinarily flimsy, especially when the securities offered for the remainder are not readily convertible into cash.

"The experiment is only possible because the German mind, as revealed in the German press at least until 10 days ago, was still full of confidence owing to the advance of the German army in France. The whole office of credit may collapse under defeat. A great play is being made of possibly doing business with neighboring neutral states and of transacting a world-wide trade in neutral bottoms, but the plain fact remains that orders are not coming in."

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL.

Reopens on Monday—Extension of Chemistry Course to Be One of the Features

The Lowell Textile school will reopen for courses next Monday morning and Principal Charles E. Eames anticipates fully as large an attendance as last year. Plans have been perfected for an extension of the chemistry courses so that dyestuff manufacture may be studied. There will also be an extensive addition to the laboratory for testing the strength of textile materials.

In North Sea Tragedy—Report That Submarines Were Sunk Lacks Confirmation

The British admiralty has not made public its estimate of the casualties when three British cruisers were sunk by German submarines but press reports indicate that probably from 1200 to 1500 officers and men were lost. Reports that two of the attacking submarines were sunk lack confirmation.

The German casualties so far as reported number 63,467, according to an announcement at Berlin. The latest casualty list issued last night bore 5,895 names. The deaths of General Von Wronin and General Von Arbon are chronicled.

An official statement issued at Paris at three o'clock this afternoon says the allies have advanced their western allies after severe fighting. It is also declared that German attacks on the east wing of the allies have been repulsed.

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian forces in supporting the capture of Jaroslavl says there is no change in the situation on the northwestern frontier.

It is announced officially at Nish that after a nine day's struggle the Austrians are in full retreat along the front from Ljubovia to Lomnica.

A despatch from Rome says it is reported that the Austrian cruisers Maria Theresa and Admiral Stain have put into Sebenico in Dalmatia, badly damaged.

A press report from Petrograd says that the railroad leading to Przemysl are held by the Russians and that the Austrians are falling back behind the forts at Przemysl.

The Belgian army at Antwerp is reported as continuing occasional sorties against the German army whose base is at Brussels.

NEUTRAL MENUS PAPER MAKERS

French, Russian and German Names Cut
Out in Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The leading hotels and restaurants of this city, in order to observe strict neutrality, have eliminated from menus French, German and Russian names of popular dishes. The Hotel La Salle started the movement and others followed. "The Germans have been boycotting French and Russian dishes, while 'goulash' and 'Wiener schnitzel' found no favor with English, French and Russian guests."

Under the new rules of civilized eating as applied to peaceable Chicago restaurants where "canape russe" led off for luncheon, caviar on toast is the new appetizer. "Wiener schnitzel, Helstein," has been given its passport as a veal cutlet with fried egg and vegetables rushed into its place. "Fillet mignon" is no more; it is plain tenderloin steak. Chicken broth "en gelée" is just plain chicken broth in jelly. "Ris de veau aux petits pois" is nothing more nor less than sweetbreads with new peas. Chicken "sous cloche" is the same bird "under glass."

The Blackstones will retain foreign names because the chef says there are certain dishes which cannot be translated but can be devoured.

SAYS MURPHY MOVED

ALBANY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
WANTS MAIN OFFICE IN ALBANY, AS LAW PROVIDES

ALBANY, Sept. 23.—J. Y. Reed, president of the Albany chamber of commerce, declared yesterday that keeping the main office of the working-men's compensation commission in New York instead of in Albany is a Murphy political scheme. Mr. Reed points to the fact that the compensation law provides that the principal office of the commission shall be in Albany, but that it is in the Metropolitan Life Insurance building in New York.

He says the evasion has caused much inconvenience and that one Albany contractor who was ordered to appear before the commission in New York refused to go there on the ground that he should be heard in Albany. He notified the commission that he would take the matter to the courts if it insisted on the order being obeyed and has received no reply.

"Charles F. Murphy would like to see the capital moved to New York," Mr. Reed said, "and a lot of his followers feel the same way about it, but the Albany chamber of commerce does not propose to allow a bunch of politicians to cheat us out of what belongs to us."

A taxpayer's action is threatened which might lead up the salaries of all persons connected with the commission.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

BORDEAUX, Sept. 23.—J. W. Garrett, United States minister to Argentina, who is temporarily residing in the United States here, is now motoring to the various concentration camps in the Bordeaux district in behalf of Myron T. Herriek, the American ambassador, to whom he will make an official report. The camps are at Libourne, Bazas, La Courville, Perigueux and St. Blaye. The last named camp is for prisoners exclusively. Speaking with a newspaper correspondent today Mr. Garrett said:

"My visits are full of interest, but I prefer to withhold details until my report is issued. Generally speaking, a large proportion of those in the camps are badly wounded. No one is sent back till special instructions are given."

UNREASONABLE FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Paper manufacturers of New England today united in a complaint to the interstate commerce commission against alleged excessive and unreasonable freight rates on wood pulp imported through the port of Boston destined to New England mills.

It is urged that the rates on imported pulp ought not to exceed those on the domestic product to mills in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York.

BUILDING DRENCHED

The J. L. Chalfoux building in Merrimack square was given its second shower bath about 10:30 this morning under the supervision of Fire Chief Edward Saunders. The operation was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators and was much enjoyed by them. The streets were first roped off and then the sprinkler system was put into operation, sending down a deluge of water that compared with the falls of Niagara. The demonstration was highly successful. In time of fire this system would be very effective and a blaze would have little or no chance for headway, so that the Chalfoux building is well protected. The demonstration had a decidedly cooling effect in Merrimack square and many shoppers availed themselves of stopping for a few minutes in the cooling shade.

FUNERALS

GRENNAN—The funeral of the late William E. Grennan took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Grennan, 15 May street, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Dennis A. Murphy. The service was directed by Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, was augmented for the occasion, solos being rendered by Prof. Frederick G. Bond, Mr. David Martin and Miss Catherine Hennessey. Miss Ella J. Reilly presided at the organ. There were many beautiful floral offerings, among them being a pillow and carnations inscribed "William," from the family; cross on base from the Ryan family; basket from John E. Burns and family, also tributes from Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Conway and family, Keene, N. H.; Mr. John Wiley and daughter, Mrs. Cording and family, Mrs. Catherine Currier and Emma, Miss Bertha Lee, Misses Mary and Elizabeth Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cullinan, Mrs. Lilla Pearson and Jeanette, Mrs. Richard Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinn, Miss Minnie Connor, Miss Margaret McCluskey, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Silk, Mrs. Rose Bradley, Miss Anna Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. John Keogh, Elsie sewing circle, Miss Anna Scovell and Mr. Joseph Scovell. The bearers were Messrs. Patrick McCarthy, Mr. Daniel Cookley, Mr. Edward Quahan and William Conway. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Fr. Murphy. Funeral Director James W. McKenna in charge.

DEATHS

ALLARD—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allard, of 193 Mammoth road will be grieved to learn of the death of their son, Albert Jr., which occurred this morning. Deceased who was a bright little fellow was 9 years, 2 months and 15 days old and was a pupil at the Pawtucket school where he was held in the highest esteem by his classmates and teachers.

Several months ago the little fellow was enjoying himself with a bicycle when he met with an accident, which later resulted in the amputation of one of his legs. The operation having been performed at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. The boy rallied from the operation and seemed to be gaining strength, but he died, however, he was taken ill and despite the best of medical attendance he passed away this morning. The parents have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement.

Funeral will take place tomorrow morning from the home, 193 Mammoth road. High mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Columba's church at 9 o'clock. Friends invited. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

FUNERAL NOTICE

SHEA—The funeral of the late Daniel P. Shea will take place on Friday morning at 9 o'clock from his late home, 184 Grand street. High mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery, Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

Building Permits Granted

E. A. Simpson has been granted a permit by the commissioner of buildings to make alterations at the Richardson estate at 150 Nesmith street, recently purchased by Mr. Simpson. According to the application for an alteration permit, the owner intends to convert the present building into two eight-room dwellings, one to be erected on a new foundation, near Wyman street. The other will have frontage on Nesmith street. It is estimated that the changes will cost $1000 on each building.

Army Rifles for High School

Supt. of Schools Molloy has received a letter from Congressman John Jacob Rogers calling attention to the law recently enacted by which the high school regiment could secure magazine rifles and a supply of ammunition for target practice. The matter will be brought to the attention of the school board at its next meeting and the officers and members of the regiment will avail the committee's action with great interest.

The following letter explains the conditions under which the Lowell high school could secure a sufficient number of rifles:

Sept. 16, 1914.
Mr. Hugh J. Molloy,
Superintendent of Schools,
Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. Molloy:

On April 27th last congress passed a law authorizing the secretary of war to issue, together with suitable ammunition, "for use in target practice, United States magazine rifles and appendages thereof, not of the existing service model, to schools having a uniformed corps of cadets and carrying on military training, in sufficient number for the conduct of proper target practice." The law also provides that the issue of these rifles should be in compliance with regulations prescribed by the secretary. These regulations were promulgated in the form of a circular which though dated July 2nd last was actually issued July 2nd before yesterday and of which I was able to obtain copies only this morning.

I am advised that the Lowell High school comes within the terms of the law and the regulations and is therefore eligible to apply for these rifles if it so desires. It is the plan to issue rifles, together with the equipment and ammunition therefor, "to each uniformed cadet who is receiving adequate military training and who will engage in target practice in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the national board for the promotion of rifle practice for the course known as the junior marksmanship course." Cadets qualifying in this course will receive suitable decorations from this association.

The type of rifle to be issued is the United States magazine rifle or carbine, model of 1895, known as the Krag-Jorgensen.

I of course do not know whether the school authorities of Lowell will deem it wise to take advantage of this recent provision of the law and to apply for a suitable number of these rifles. I deem it proper, however, to call your attention to the possibility, in case you have not had previous knowledge of it, and to respectfully suggest that you submit the matter to the school committee at its next meeting. I think that if application is to be made it is desirable to make it promptly in view of the probability that when the situation is more widely known and appreciated there will be an enormous demand from all over the country for the issuance of these rifles. I am enclosing copies of the circular dealing with the issue of these rifles which explain in considerable detail the steps necessary in connection with an application. I trust that I need not assure you that if it is decided to make application on behalf of the Lowell High school I shall be most happy to lend my assistance in making all necessary arrangements with the war department and to endeavor to secure prompt and favorable action upon such application.

Sincerely yours,
John Jacob Rogers.

FIRE INVESTIGATION

The investigation of the origin of the recent fire in the store occupied by the Qua Jewellery company in East Merrimack street was not resumed today, as Inspector Lorrigan and Rice failed to put in an appearance. Yesterday an inventory of the stock in the store was taken and several witnesses testified before the state inspectors. There are a few more witnesses to be heard from, however, after which the evidence will be taken under consideration and a report made in the near future.

GOLDIE'S MISTAKE

Once upon a time there was a goldsmith who made lots of pretty and very valuable jewelry in his little shop. He had a daughter named Goldie who had been away at school and had just come home to spend a long time with her father for her mother was dead and her father was getting old and needed someone to care for him.

When Goldie came home she found the house very untidy for her father had no time for housework, and she spent several days sweeping and dusting until the house looked very clean and nice.

Pretty soon, one day, father did not feel well and asked Goldie to go to the shop and get from his safe a piece of jewelry which must be sent to the person who had bought it that day.

Goldie did as she was told, but when she got to the shop she found it very dirty, so she took a broom and dust pan and swept it very clean.

She noticed a lot of shiny bits of metal but, as they were on the floor, thought they were of no use, so she swept them up and threw them with the dust into the river which ran by the shop.

It wasn't until two or three days afterward that her father went back to the shop and found the floor swept clean. He rushed home and found Goldie.

"Oh, what have you done?" he cried. "You have swept up my floor and thrown away all the metal silver and clippings from the jewelry which drops on the floor as I work. It is worth a great deal of money and now you have gone and thrown it in the river."

Goldie was very sorry for what she had done but she didn't know that in the dust on a goldsmith's floor are lots of valuable bits of metal.

Father forgave her but you may be sure she never swept the floor of her father's shop again.

HUMAN SIDE OF LORD KITCHENERWife of One of His Staff Tells Stories of His KindnessA Strict Disciplinarian—
He Enforces Square Deal for All

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Mrs. J. S. Erskine, widow of a former captain of the Tenth Royal Hussars, who was for a time attached to the staff of Lord Kitchener, now English war secretary, has given an interview in which she discusses the chief of the English war department at short range.

Long before Mrs. Erskine met the army officer who eventually became her husband she knew Kitchener—at that time attached to the engineering corps—and has continued the acquaintance since. At the first meeting she was a lass of 4, in short skirts and blouse. Today she is in the neighborhood of 40 and is residing temporarily in New York.

"You have seen a great deal printed showing the austere side of this great man's character, but very little relating to the human side, and the human side is very strongly developed in Lord Kitchener," she said. "Then, you have seen him described as a woman hater, but he is far from that, although he has never married. He holds that an army officer can best serve his country by remaining single; that his chief duty is to his king."

Kitchener Shy and Diffident

"I was at the engineering depot at Woolwich with my parents when I first saw the then engineer, Kitchener. He was most shy and diffident, but I wasn't in truth in just the opposite, and probably that is the reason we became fast friends. Even now I can remember how he started when I asked him to please fasten my starter. He did it, but he blushed. Not long after that when he was called to Egypt he gave me a doll, and I treasured it many years."

Mrs. Erskine told how, when she was 8 or 9, Kitchener returned on leave and renewed the acquaintance, telling her all about the Sudan and teaching her French. Next time she saw him she had reached the maturity of 15 and was in love with Capt. Erskine of his staff. It was then that she learned of his objections to the marriage of army officers. He was Sir David of the Anglo-Egyptian army then, and Kitchener was beginning to take some notice of him.

Rebuke for His Government

"When my husband's leave of absence expired I went to Algeria to be near him," said Mrs. Erskine, "and there met a better idea of Kitchener in the field. I remember one incident distinctly. The sultan wanted a certain modern make of gun and so specified in

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? It has helped others, why not you.

a requisition sent to the war office. In due time he received a reply saying the government would send a different make. Immediately he returned the order across which he had written, 'You may keep your guns; I can throw stones at the Arabs myself.' It is needless to say he received the weapons he desired.

"It was during this campaign that he recommended for D. S. O. (distinguished service order) a Roman Catholic bishop named Robert Brindley, and approached by a member of his staff, who remarked he hardly thought this would be popular in England unless a church of England divine was also named. 'I recommended a man for distinguished service,' the general replied. 'His religion has nothing to do with the matter. Personally, it doesn't concern me what the people at home have to say.'"

"When Kitchener was going home after conquering the Sudan I met him in Marseilles. He was wearing a blue serge suit and a derby hat and was much less conspicuous than the members of his staff. And this in spite of the fact that he was about to be made Lord Kitchener of Khartoum. I remember distinctly one thing he said to me. It was this: 'I had always hoped my little girl would not marry a soldier.' 'Why?' I asked. 'Because,' he replied, 'was long drawn out torture for a soldier's wife. Do you realize you'll have to play second fiddle to your husband?' 'Yes,' I answered, 'I know that, but after all she loves me best.' 'True enough,' said Kitchener, 'but you, but in event of war you'll have to leave you. War is his profession and he'll have to follow it.'"

"If Kitchener was determined in war he was equally determined in peace. One thing he had set his heart upon was an English college at Khartoum. He was always raising money for it and I remember that he had been made a lord he raised $25,000 by his determination. There was to be a banquet in the city, as we term the center of London, and the promoters wanted him as chief drawing card. 'Will he there if you'll subscribe $20,000 to the college?' he asked. 'Yes,' I replied. 'I'll do it finally after $10,000.' 'No, it will cost you $25,000,' said his lordship—and he got the entire amount.

His Estimate of Fame

"Later on Lord Kitchener, my husband and myself attended an affair in the general's honor. It was held in the Corn Exchange at a small country seat near London and we had to listen to eulogies of his lordship from a very small, pompous master of ceremonies. On the way home we passed an ice cream stand which was a little out of the way. The prince of Wales and our company. 'That's all right, it is fame,' declared his lordship, 'delecting his own dust-covered picture with the end of his riding whip.'"

Every newspaper reader knows that during the present war correspondents are completely bottled up. Apropos of this Mrs. Erskine tells of a remark once made by Lord Kitchener having to do with the press. 'What do you think of the present war correspondents?' 'If there is ever a great war and I happen to be war secretary,' he once said to me, 'I'll make it a criminal offense to print unauthorized news. But if there is a great war' he added, 'I am sure not to be war secretary.'"

"In the Sudan campaign some of the correspondents begged to go to Khartoum and write what they saw. He just smiled at them and replied: 'You can write what you see.' Then he took good pains that they remained in the rear and saw nothing."

"The general was big enough to do little things and we all loved him for it. I recall that I once wanted my cousin, a member of the guards, to take me to a theater. Lord Kitchener told him he must buy seats in the pit. He was horrified. 'What?' he exclaimed. 'You sit in the pit and your husband a member of the Tenth Hussars?' 'You can't afford to do that!' The general overheard the conversation and smiled a three-cornered smile at me. He is famous for going to London this afternoon, he remarked to me, 'and I'll take you to the pit. I'm not a member of the guards.' We went, but we didn't sit in the pit."

Once When He Retreated

Lord Kitchener's only retreat was orderly, but still a retreat. It occurred in London not so long after royal honors had been conferred upon him by Queen Victoria, whose hand he kissed, although, as he later said, "it was a long way down to reach it." On the day of the retreat the general had been fated at a dozen affairs and finally wound up at a tea where Mrs. Erskine, particularly, had besieged him and when he saw his old friend he rushed to her.

"Talk to me! Please talk to me! Never mind what you say, but say something just as though it was important," he begged me," said Mrs. Erskine. "So I talked to him about nothing and finally managed to let him know what had disturbed him. It was these two women over there," he said, pointing to a couple of grand old ladies who had been following me all the afternoon and I didn't think I ever would escape."

Kitchener has a sense of humor as well as a sense of justice. One day he, Capt. Erskine, the latter's wife and others were visiting friends in Colchester and ate heartily of green peas, which is English for a sort of plum which is green when it's ripe. "The general saw me pouring quantities and finally took me to task," said Mrs. Erskine. "Don't you eat another one of those," he commanded. 'Why?' I asked. 'Because you'll get the stomach ache,' he replied. 'Gravely.' 'So will you,' I responded. 'For you have eaten quite as many as have I. I know that,' he replied, 'for I've got it already.' 'That's why I'm trying to save you.' It was the habit of the officers and their wives to play "the game of war" in times of peace. This consisted of taking a map and, after sides had been chosen, sticking flags in the map, showing the advance and retreat of troops. One day a big European war was suggested and Lord Kitchener was enlisted as umpire.

A Prophetic War Game

"I played England in a war with Germany," said Mrs. Erskine, "and accidentally planted my flag on Belgian soil. Cries that this was neutral territory were immediately raised, but Lord Kitchener backed me up. 'That's just what she ought to do,' he said. 'If ever there is a war with Germany that is what the English will do unless the Germans do it first.' 'You forget the treaty of London,' someone said. 'No,' he shot back. 'Bismarck was a statesman. He signed to something that would be for the future good of his country. War knows nothing about the future good. It is only the present that counts to the warrior, and any clever commander knows that the best way to get from Germany to France is through Belgium.'"

"Then what will happen?" I asked. "I mean what would happen should Germany invade Belgium." "That is in the lap of the gods," was his reply. "But I'll tell you what I think would happen. Germany would win the first round. After that she would be outmaneuvered." "Picking up one of the little flags," he said he thought Ostend would be a good place to land troops, but reconsidered and decided on a point south of Dunkirk."

Mrs. Erskine was in Pretoria during part of the Boer war. When Kitchener arrived at Mafeking as chief of staff for Lord Roberts the young officers realized that "soft snaps" were a thing of the past. They were all put to work. The same was true of the officers at Pretoria. In the latter place one day Lord Kitchener saw a young lieutenant sporting a monocle. "Does your eyeight require you to wear that?" he asked.

"It does," replied the lieutenant. "Then report tomorrow morning to the line of communication," ordered the general. "I do not require men with poor eyesight at headquarters."

His Justice and Discipline

"A soldier was digging a ditch near Pretoria," said Mrs. Erskine, "and the general observed him for a long while. Finally he sent for him. He asked him if he wasn't ill. The soldier replied that he wasn't; that he felt quite badly. 'Then, why don't you report sick?' demanded the general. 'I don't,' replied the soldier, 'but the doctor said I was fit for duty.' Lord Kitchener sent for the young surgeon, ordered him to make an examination, found the soldier was suffering from typhoid fever and sent him to the hospital. Then he said to the doctor, 'You can apply for your leave home. I have no use here for the sort of a doctor you are.'"

Mrs. Erskine prophesies that very little war news will come out of England while Lord Kitchener holds his present position, but says that what does come with his sanction will be accurate.

AGREE ON TRUST BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The Clayton anti-trust bill conferees agreed upon their final report yesterday, completing a measure that is a combination of features of both senate and house bills.

Important changes made in the measure as it left the senate relate to interlocking directorates and exclusive contracts. The conferees restored the house section prohibiting interlocking directorates in banks and other financial institutions, with an amendment to provide.

That from and after two years following the passage of the act, no person shall at the same time be a director or other officer, or employee of more than one bank, banking association, or trust company which has deposits, capital, surplus and undivided profits aggregating more than $50,000. The provision to be applicable only to banks in cities having a population of more than 200,000. The house bill fixed the capital limitation at $25,000 and contained no population limitation.

The provision to prohibit exclusive or "tying" contracts follows the spirit of the Walsh amendment to maintain independence of mail dealers. It should make it unlawful for anyone to make a sale or contract for sale of goods, patented or unpatented, on the condition, agreement or understanding that the lessee or purchaser shall not use or deal in the goods of a competitor of the lessor or seller, where the effect of such a transaction may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly. Specific penalty in this section of the senate bill was eliminated.

CHARETTE PAID TRIBUTE RUSSIA COMPLETES COLOSSAL OPERATION

GEORGE CHARETTE,
Chief Gunner U. S. N.

By Lieut. Com. Hobson—Lowell Man Now in Asiatic Waters Will Return for Christmas Holidays

George Charette of this city, chief gunner aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, is now located in the Asiatic stations, according to information received from Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who is deeply interested in the welfare of the hero of the U. S. S. Merrimack, and who will be home in Lowell for his Christmas dinner.

On Sept. 18, an item was published in The Sun in reference to the whereabouts of George Charette, it being stated that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Charette of Gershom avenue were very anxious about their son, not having received news from him for several months, while they expected he would return to Lowell in July, when his term of 30 years' service expired.

The congressman, who was in Washington when the item was published, and who by the way, receives The Sun daily, became interested after reading the item and immediately interviewed Rear Admiral Victor Bine, chief of the bureau of navigation in the navy department, and the information received was to the effect that Mr. Charette is still aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, located in the Asiatic stations. The ship has no regular course to follow, but steams around China and Japan. The rear admiral also informed the congressman that present plans were to order Mr. Charette to his home in November or December unless plans are changed the hero of the Merrimack will attend the Christmas dinner at the home of his parents.

Referring to George Charette it may be of local interest to read a short address delivered recently in the house of congress by Congressman Hobson, who was in charge of the expedition that sank the Merrimack in the port of Santiago during the Spanish-American war. Congressman Hobson had occasion to speak about the young heroes who gave up their lives in the recent Mexican trouble and he also dwelt at length on the sinking of the Merrimack, making special reference to the Lowell man. His address was in part as follows:

"A matter came up—a little incident; a little episode—in my day. Being a naval constructor, knowing how to build ships, I naturally knew how to sink ships. The question of sinking a ship came up, and naturally I wanted to be associated with it. Seven men were wanted, and Admiral Sampson issued a call for seven men. The call was issued by signal from the flagship, and more than a thousand responded.

"The main trouble I had from that time to the time we started in was in refusing the appeals of men—some who had been my old shipmates, pleading with me on personal grounds, others on other grounds, all begging me to let them go in. Yes, young Pointsett and his comrades, who so gladly gave up their young lives in the Mexican trouble, were the ones of those seven men as they lay with me on the deck as the ship was slowly sinking. Only two torpedoes went off. We had 10, but the wiring and the batteries connected with the others had been broken and cut away and crushed before the time came to fire them. Only two went off. So we went down slowly right under the muzzles of their cannon. The original plan was that after firing the torpedoes we would quickly get away from the ship in the lifeboat and thus try to escape; but the lifeboat was shot away, and I changed my plan entirely, but did not explain it to them.

"Well do I remember these seven

Greatest Ever Undertaken by a Military Power—By Her Conquests in Galicia She Controls the Greatest Supply of Gasoline in Europe—The Russian Movement Now Described as a Huge Wedge—Her Sources of Supply Well Protected

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(Virtually no new information has reached London this morning concerning the progress of events in the western war era, but from the east comes news which here is taken to show that Russia has almost completed the first stage of what may be considered in its entirety the most colossal operation ever undertaken by a military power.

The fall of the Austrian fortress of Jaroslavl virtually completes the investment of Przemyśl so far as lines of communication are concerned. Even the continued occupation of Cracow by Austrian and German forces has not added to that junction of Austrian and German armies which is necessary to keep Russia from overrunning Galicia and from pushing the armies of Austria back to the ridge of the Carpathians. By her conquests in Galicia Russia now controls the greatest supply of gasoline in Europe. This product is of the utmost importance to Russia because of her necessity for motor transport.

right up to Cracow. It is believed here now that the investment of Przemyśl has been practically completed and that another week at least will bring news of the final crushing of the Austro-German forces."

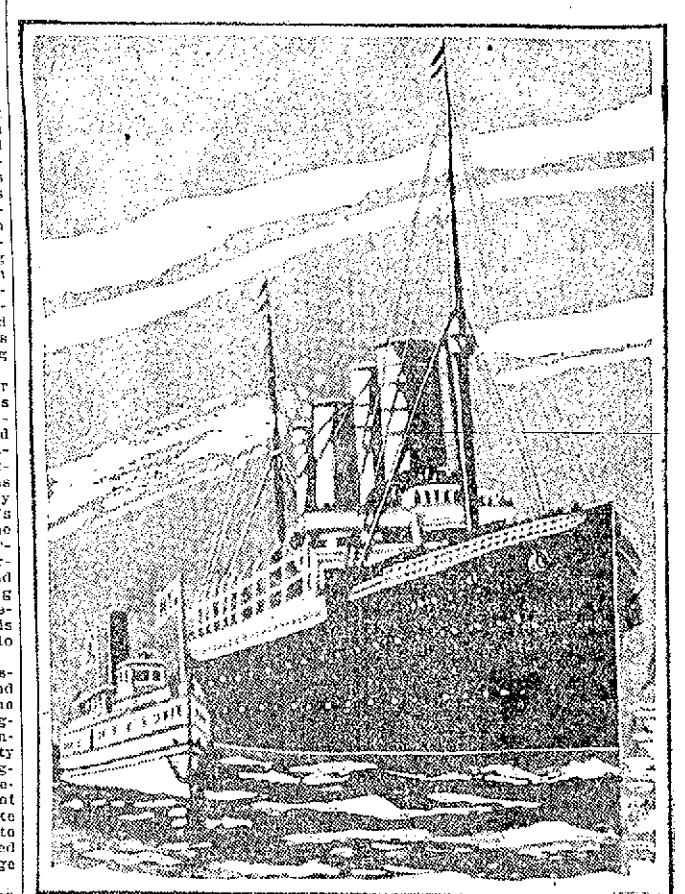

GERMANS PRACTICALLY IN TOUCH WITH THE FRENCH 12TH ARMY CORPS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The correspondent of the Times in France reports that Uhlands yesterday blew up the railroad bridge at Miramont between Amiens and Arras. He adds: "We are certainly on the eve of great events in this region, whence the enemy is being gradually pushed out by the Germans who are still strong beyond a life drawn roughly from St. Amant through Denain, Bouchain and Cambrai."

"The Germans are practically in touch with the French 12th army corps at Courchelette and Arleux, where fighting may be expected."

MYSTERY UNSOLVED; FATE OF KRONPRINZ WILHELM UNKNOWN

GOLDEN QUILS LABOR BOARD

Appointment of Mulready in His Absence Specific Reason

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—John Golden, International president of the United Textile Workers' Union, started the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., yesterday afternoon by announcing that he had resigned as the representative of organized labor on the state board of labor and industries.

The announcement came in the midst of an address on conditions in the textile industry. For a minute the hall revolutions which will startle the country, owing to the positions in society which some of the persons who will not occupy.

"Following this present European war we will get multitudes of aliens, many more than flowed into this country after the war of 1870. In an effort to prevent this it is up to you members of organized labor to get busy on the laws and take advantage of the present conditions."

Withdrew From Governor

John Golden of Fall River, president of the United Textile Workers' union, yesterday sent his resignation to Gov. Walsh as a member of the state board of labor and industries. Because of the fact that the governor is still a patient at the hospital his office force did not feel like disturbing him about it or making the contents of the letter public without the governor's permission.

Following is the official statement issued by the board:

"Mr. Golden's statement that he had sent his resignation to the governor came as a great surprise to his fellow-members of the state board of labor and industries, and when he was asked his reasons he stated that he had the greatest respect for the individual members of the board and felt that they acted according to the dictates of their consciences in all their decisions, including the appointment of a commissioner of labor, Mr. Edwin Mulready, who was in a neutral position as far as capital and labor are concerned; but that he (Mr. Golden) represented organized labor, and in the board refusing to appoint a man for commissioner of labor for the state of Massachusetts who was actively connected with organized labor such action placed him out of tune with the work of the board, and that he (Mr. Golden) felt that he could not further continue to serve on the board."

"The state board of labor and industries expressed great regrets that Mr. Golden felt he could no longer continue to give to the state, as a member of the board, his valuable assistance in the good work they were doing."

RELIEF FUND ON SCORPION

GOLD FROM CRUISER NORTH CAROLINA TO BE MINTED AT CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, via London, Sept. 24.—The United States despatch boat Scorpion returned here yesterday from Tenedos, near the entrance to the Dardanelles. She brought Capt. Williams of the American army, who has with him $400,000 advanced by the American government to American educational and benevolent institutions in Turkey.

This money was sent forward by the American cruiser north Carolina, which made the transfer at Tenedos. The North Carolina is now on her way to Jaffa.

This gold is to be minted into Turkish liras. It is expected that it will be placed yesterday by the Ottoman bank at the disposal of Henry Morgenthau, the American ambassador.

WORRY DUE TO WAR

CAUSE OF SUICIDE—WORCESTER MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN CELLAR

WORCESTER, Sept. 24.—James Green, aged 55, of 11 Belmont street, worried so much over the troubles of his wife, who was stranded several weeks in England, unable to reach her Worcester home until Monday, that he became mentally unbalanced and committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head.

Mrs. Green went to England to visit relatives last April and when it came time for her to return to Worcester she could not get out of the country. Mr. Green was unable to get into communication with her and his mind began to fail a few weeks ago. Mrs. Green's return to her home on Monday failed to relieve his condition.

None of his family knew he had a revolver. Yesterday he went into the cellar of his home and sent a bullet into his right temple. Mrs. Green saw his body lying on the floor of the cellar and summoned the police ambulance. Dr. Richard J. Shanahan, the ambulance surgeon, being the first to discover that Mr. Green was dead.

ATHLETIC BOY IS INJURED

ATHLETIC BOY, Sept. 23.—During the freshmen parade this evening, Kenneth Ledrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urbie Ledrew of Tremont street, was run over by the auto of E. H. Solidge of Orange. The boy ran directly across the street into the path of the machine, which was proceeding slowly. General Sear, Barry of Mill street, picked up the lad, who was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Bolton. It was found no bones were broken, but both knees, his head and shoulder were more or less injured.

SEVEN HOURS DEBATE

WAR REVENUE BILL WILL PROBABLY PASS HOUSE TOMORROW—SHIP BILL NEXT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A special rule limiting debate on the war revenue bill to seven hours and barring amendments was agreed upon late yesterday by the house rules committee. The vote on the bill probably will be reached Friday.

The committee also agreed upon a rule to make next in order for consideration the Alexander bill for the purchase, building and operation of ships by a company to be organized by the government. It would allow eight hours of general debate and opportunity for amendment. Chairman Henry was authorized to call up the bill at his discretion. The recent omnibus rule for expediting all of the conservative bills, several of which have been passed, was vacated and it was agreed that the revenue bill should be called up as a privileged measure whenever it might be deemed advisable.

RUSSIAN OPERATIONS BEING DIRECTED WITH A VIEW TO CAPTURE OF KIEV

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—"All possibility of the Austro-German forces near Przemyśl effecting a junction with the other armies further west has now been excluded, as the Russians have reached the river Wislok," says a despatch from Petrograd to the Morning Post. The message continues: "To the south of Przemyśl the Russian operations are being directed with a view to the capture of Kieff, a junction station 20 miles south of Przemyśl which will completely cut off the Austrians from Galicia. The Russian command of all routes towards Cracow and the lines passing into Hungary."

Perrone Occupied After Desperate Resistance—Heavy Fighting on the Meuse at Eastern End of Battle Line—Germans Pounding at Allies Center—Among the Prisoners Arriving at Paris is a General on the Staff of General Von Kluck

REVOLT MAY MEAN ARMED REVOLUTION

Gen. Villa In Mexico Has Been Importing Large Quantities of Arms and Ammunition — Carranza's Forces Comprise Unified Force of General Pablo Gonzales and Those of the West Coast Troops

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 24.—If General Villa's revolt against the Carranza government results in armed revolution, the first battle probably will occur at the old battlegrounds of either Terreon or Zacatecas. General Villa forced to abandon his expedition in assistance of the Maytorena revolt in Sonora today prepared to rush his troops south from Juarez and Chihuahua City to meet what was reported as a strong force of Carranza soldiers moving north from Aguas Calientes and Zacatecas.

According to official reports Villa controls 10,000 troops. Maytorena has mobilized 3000 troops in Sonora. They are mostly Yaqui Indians. Efforts, it is said, are being made by the Carranza element to enlist the services of the Mayos, a rival tribe who outnumber the Yaquis in the west coast country. Villa also probably will be able to recruit many troops from Durango state, where he has operated frequently.

Carranza's forces comprise the unified force of General Pablo Gonzales, his eastern divisional commander, probably numbering about 30,000 men, and those of the west coast troops under Obregon which participated in the entry of the national capital. It was asserted that all of the west coast forces with the exception of those led by Maytorena would stand loyal to the Carranza government.

Since the lifting of the embargo about a week ago, it is said, General Villa has been importing large quantities of arms and ammunition and sending financial and material assistance to Maytorena, who as governor of Sonora first rebelled against the new Mexican government.

INJURED AT BILLERICA

MR. DUREN, EMPLOYED AT GRAIN ELEVATOR, FELL FROM A LADDER

While lifting a pulley in the grain elevator of the Elmer E. Cole Co. at Billerica, yesterday, Henry Duren, who resides in Billerica Centre, lost his balance and fell from the ladder on which he was standing to the floor, several feet below. Mr. Duren was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and a physician summoned. It was stated that he had sustained internal injuries, the nature of which would not be known for a few days.

NO IMPORTANT CHANGE IN REGION OF NANCY

In Galicia the Russians Have Taken Possession of Jaroslau and are Completely Investing Przemyśl — Bordeaux Correspondent Says Interest in Fighting Today Centers in Woevre

Further successes of the armies of the allies, which are attempting to turn the German right wing, are claimed in an official announcement issued at Paris this afternoon.

It is stated that the allies' western wing has advanced considerably and Perrone has been occupied after desperate resistance. Perrone is 75 miles north of Paris and 25 miles north of Lassigny in the region of which an advance by the allies was announced in yesterday afternoon's official statement. The position of Perrone indicates the movement of the allies' left wing which is much farther north than their main battle line.

The turning movement of the Franco-British forces first directed against General Von Kluck in an effort to envelop his army, appears from unofficial despatches to have made added resistance from strong German reinforcements.

The Paris announcement says that there has been heavy fighting on the river Meuse at the eastern end of the battle line where the allies have alternately advanced and retired.

Up to early afternoon no official announcement had been received from Berlin. The latest German official advices stated that the Germans were breaking through the allies' center.

BRITISH NORTH CHINA FORCE CO-OPERATE WITH JAPANESE IN ATTACK ON KALO-CHOW

It is officially stated at Tokio that the British North China force, which will cooperate with the Japanese in the attack on Kalo-Chow have landed at Lao-Shan Bay. The troops sailed from Tien-Tsin ostensibly for Wei-Hel-Wei landed at Lao-Shan, neutral territory in China, presumably to avoid complication with China.

A despatch from Petrograd to the Montenegro says that the Montenegrins defeated the Austrians capturing Sazuro, a town near Cetinje, the capital of the Austrian province of Bosnia.

An official communication issued at Petrograd, says that following the capture of Jaroslau in Galicia the Russian cavalry is pursuing the Austrian rear guard, inflicting heavy losses.

There is considerable doubt as to the exact situation in the eastern theatre of the war, as the reports from Petrograd, Vienna and Berlin persistently conflict.

A despatch from Petrograd to a Paris paper says that the Germans who drove the Russian invaders from East Prussia have in turn been defeated and are evacuating East Prussia to reinforce the line from Thorn in West Prussia, to Kalisz in Russian Poland.

A news despatch from Paris says that among the prisoners recently arriving at Paris is a general of the staff of General Von Kluck whose army has borne the brunt of the allies' turning movement on the western end of the battle line.

It is announced officially at Calcutta that the German cruiser Emden, which recently captured several British ships in the Bay of Bengal, dropped a few shells, while passing into Madras, an important city of British India.

Press despatches, unofficially report that Zeppelin airships evidently reconnoitring, have been sighted from various points in Jutland, Denmark.

The German submarine U-9, credited by Berlin with having, unaided, destroyed the three British cruisers off the Hook of Holland, has returned undamaged to a German port.

Chief Gunner Dougherty, of the Cressy, one of the three ships sunk during the attack and that one of the five was sunk by the Cressy's guns. The German war loan subscriptions total $1,097,250,000.

The press of Norway is making a ### deliberate effort to maintain strict neutrality.

The indirect cause of the war is recalled by a report from Amsterdam that the trial of the alleged assassins of the Austrian heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his consort, will open at Agram on November 5th.

IN GALICIA THE RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN POSSESSION OF JAROSLAU

PARIS, Sept. 24, 2.30 p. m.—The following official announcement was made in Paris this afternoon:

First: On our left wing, between the River Somme and the River Oise, our troops have advanced in the direction of Rore. A detachment occupied Perrone and held this position in spite of a spirited attack on the part of the enemy between the River Oise and the River Aisne the enemy continues to maintain important bodies of troops, well entrenched. We have made a slight advance to the northwest of Berry-au-Bac.

Second: On the centre, between Rheims and the Argonne district, the situation shows no change. To the east of the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse, the enemy has continued his attacks, delivering them with especial violence. The fighting continues, accompanied by alternate retirements at certain points and advances at others.

"On our right wing there has been no change of importance. In the region of Nancy and the Vosges certain detachments of the enemy have again attempted to enter upon French soil, driving back light covering bodies of our troops, but their offensive was soon stopped.

"In Galicia the Russians, having taken possession of Jaroslau are completely investing Przemyśl and continuing their offensive movement on Cracow.

GERMANS TRYING HARD TO PIERCE LINE OF FORTS INKING VERDUN AND TOUL

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Interest in the fighting today centers in Woevre, says the Bordeaux correspondent of the Times where the enemy is making a serious effort to pierce the line of forts linking Verdun and Toul.

To the northeast of Verdun, the correspondent continues, east of the Meuse heights and in the direction of Mouilly their first attempts have failed. In the south of Woevre they hold line positions running through Richcourt, Seicheprey and Lironville. The general situation remains unchanged.

On the left and center the allies have the best of reasons for confidence in the result of the battle.

A week elapsed since it first became clear that although forced to abandon successive positions prepared for defense, the enemy had found to the north of the Aisne north, north-west of Rheims, formidably prepared fortified positions upon which they might hope to maintain themselves for many days while their own troops were recovering from the retreat and while the fire of victory among the allies was burning out.

The positions, enormously strong by nature and dominating the valleys and towns, have been turned into regular fortresses. The line of trenches built with science and the solidity of permanent works are covered by flanking trenches bristling with mitrailleuses and reinforced by mazes of barbed wire and blockhouses.

Most of the work on this line was finished while the battle of the Marne was still in progress. The allies did their best to prevent its completion and there has been some desperate fighting along the Aisne.

Attack and counter attack, succeeded one another while the endangered crown prince's army has been picking a way out of a difficult country into a still more awkward position. On our right the enemy's army has been seeking for an opening or a weak link in the chain of forts between Toul and Verdun.

The allies for their part have been progressing slowly upon the enemy's right, pushing up a wedge into the center between Rheims and Argonne. Still the actual battle of the Aisne has not yet begun. The railroads on both sides are massing troops along the front, the Germans coming from Lorraine, the British from the whole north and the French from the south and west.

Meanwhile the fierce operations continue. The situation remains unchanged in spite of the furious cannonading and the desperate fighting, but with each fresh engagement the situation becomes more clear, the plan of the staff more definite and the day of its realization more imminent.

TEACHERS OF BILLERICA SCHOOL TAKE CHILDREN UNDER TREES FOR STUDY

For the first time in the history of the town, the teachers of the Pollard school, Billerica, were yesterday afternoon obliged to pick up their books and papers and hold the school sessions under the trees in the yard adjoining the building. Mrs. Bailey and Miss Stone, teachers in the new addition to the school, found that the heat was too intense for study and hence a part of the yard was converted into school rooms and the studies were carried on.

OBSERVES 97TH BIRTHDAY

MRS. ROSINA BALLOU LOVETT, OLDEST PERSON IN AMHERST, IS OF REVOLUTIONARY STOCK

AMHERST, Sept. 24.—Mrs. Rosina Ballou Lovett, the oldest person in Amherst, celebrated her 97th birthday yesterday. She received calls from her pastor, Rev. George A. Tuttle, and others, and gifts of flowers and fruit. Her father, Leonard Ballou, was a soldier in the war of 1812 and her grandfather, Edward Ballou, a soldier of the Revolution.

When 16 years of age she came with her father to Amherst, where she worked in a tool factory and afterward assisted in building the East Amherst meeting house. She married Edward B. Lovett of Guilford, Vt., in 1837. He died in Amherst in 1892. She lives with her daughter, Miss Gertrude Lovett.

HEN HAS AUTO RIDE

CLINGS ONTO AXLE FROM SOUTHWICK TO WESTFIELD, SIX MILES—GOES HOME IN BAG

WESTFIELD, Sept. 24.—When a Southwick man stopped his automobile on Elm street late last night after a trip from his home his attention was called to something on the front axle. An investigation showed that one of his big Buick Cochran hens had clung on all the way into Westfield, a distance of six miles. The owner did not notice the hen when he cranked the machine, as it was very dark.

Biddy was removed from her perch and went back home in a bag.

VICTIM OF RAILROAD ACCIDENT NEAR ANDOVER PARTLY IDENTIFIED BY SUITCASE

ANDOVER, Sept. 24.—With a check that was found in the clothing of the unidentified man who was killed on the railroad tracks between Andover and Ballardvale Tuesday, Chief of Police Frank M. Smith has recovered the suitcase which is believed to belong to the victim at the North station in Boston. In it was found an apron with the name John Murphy upon it and some board tickets with the same name on them, and also the name of the Fore River Ship Building Co. Chief Smith has requested the police of Quincy to attempt identification of the man.

LEADING LAWYER DEAD

WILLIAM H. NILES OF LYNN
YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

LYNN, Sept. 24.—William H. Niles, the president of the Essex County Bar association, and one of the leading lawyers of the state, died at his home, 218 Ocean street yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for several weeks.

William H. Niles, for years one of the most prominent attorneys in this vicinity, three times refused to accept an appointment as superior court judge.

He was born at Oxford, N. H., Dec. 22, 1839. When a child he resided in Wakefield and later in East Bridgewater, where he grew to manhood, graduating from the public schools.

He attended Conference seminary at East Greenwich, R. I. On graduation he went to Athens, Ga., in 1861, where he was principal of the local academy.

In 1865 he returned north, having been in Georgia during the Civil war.

He entered the office of Caleb Diod-

Florence N. Moulton of Lynn and Mrs. Charles Henderson of Reading. Mr. Niles was especially strong with juries and for years held a reputation as one of the leading pleaders. He was forceful in his arguments and strong in his opinions.

While he never held public office, Mr. Niles for years took a deep interest in political affairs, being a prominent republican, and leading in many municipal movements. He was a director of the Lynn chamber of commerce.

VIRGINIA VOTES PROHIBITION

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 24.—While complete returns from the state wide prohibition election still are lacking, figures received up to today showed that the voters had placed Virginia in the "dry" column by a majority of more than 32,000. Delayed returns will increase the majority.

Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria and Williamsburg were the only cities returning majorities for the local optionists.

The result of the election means that on and after November 1, 1916, Virginia will be dry.

MEDICAL CLINIC OPEN

Schiller, Dr. C. J. Meahan and Dr. A. H. Kivdjan.

THIS FALL FASHIONS FOR LADIES SHOW AN ABUNDANCE OF BEAUTIFUL LACE—SHORT SLEEVES AND V SHAPED NECKS—BEAD AND METAL THREAD EMBROIDERIES ALSO PREVAIL

The seated figure of the group shows one of these silks with a deep chemise of soft net in contrast and, incidentally, the big rose that is tucked into the belt is worthy of note, for just such garnitures are the smartest of all things and velvet roses are the preferred ones for the purpose while the colors are everything from black to the natural pinks and yellows. We are not hampered by nature. We simply choose the rose for the beautiful form and make it in any color that suits the costume.

All these bodices are adapted to lace and to satin and, in this connection, it will be well to add that the lace bodices will be combined with skirts of velvet to make handsome costumes, for it is to be a season of rich materials of satin and of velvet, of brocade and of lace, used in as rich profusion as the purse allows.

Bead embroideries are to be employed as well as those of silk and metal threads and, in some instances, crystal beads are used to give an exceedingly beautiful and scintillating effect while pearls are pronounced favorites.

The new velvets are wonderfully soft and pliable while the nap retains all the depth and richness of the heavier sort. White chiffon velvet will be used to a certain extent, plain velvet is the preferred one. All sorts of rich colors will be in vogue, for rich colors are particularly effective in velvet. Dark colored velvet with white or cream lace makes a wonderful combination and we shall see numbers of skirts flounced with lace while the bodices are of velvet with perhaps lace sleeves or lace trimming. Chantilly lace is extremely fashionable and, since it always is beautiful the return to favor will surely be met with a hearty welcome. It is to be worn both in white and in black and, when we have a season of lace, velvet, brocade and satin evening costumes are sure to be beautiful.

So much beautiful lace is to be worn this autumn that the evening costumes are unusually lovely and charming in effect. Soft satin is to be combined therewith to a great extent and the new satins include charmeuse and also some brighter in surface but equally soft and pliable and the latter are to have great vogue. Since lace and satin seem made one for the other, the combination means an assured success.

Every known kind of lace will be worn both the flouncings and the all-over lace that can be cut to any shape.

Bodices show many variations of short sleeves and are made both with V-shaped and with round necks. Incidentally, there will be a great deal of embroidery used and metal threads will be extensively introduced. Often lace will be further enriched by gold and silver threads outlining the pattern and among new silks are shown satin brocaded in silver and in gold. They are so marvelously soft in effect that they can be draped as successfully as liberty itself, notwithstanding the generous use of metal threads.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

NOTE.—All parents are deeply interested in the well being of their boys and girls. In the articles under the above caption to appear in this paper every Thursday, parents may learn much that will be helpful in the difficult task of keeping the boys and girls well and always moving along the right path.—Editor.

Whatever reproach or privation we impose upon a child must be clearly connected with the offence. The child should always know just exactly why it is being punished.

Moreover, the punishment should not be so long deferred that the child can lose the connection between its offence and the punishment.

Nothing that affects a child's health, such as interference with meals or with sleep, should be used as a punishment. Nor should useful work or study be discredited by being used as a means of punishment.

We must remember that punishment is like medicine. There is no one punishment that fits all cases or all children. Each case must be studied by itself, and the punishment must be made to fit the offence and also the offender.

Loose and light clothing a rigid vegetable, fruit and cereal diet without overeating, and absolute cleanliness of body and clothes will keep a child's skin in its best condition.

To prevent prickly heat, dress the children in thin cotton or silk underwear, but when the rash is really out a cooling sponge bath should be given three times a day. As the rash subsides a bath at night will be sufficient.

A pint of water is enough for one sponging, and in it should be put either a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda, a tablespoonful of vinegar or a lump of starch the size of a cherry. Let the water dry on the body without the use of a towel. Dust talcum powder between the folds and creases of the baby's body.

Whether a child's hair should be curled or left straight is not a question that needs much consideration because there will always be curly hair and straight hair, and both will continue to be stylish.

If the straight haired child is much improved in looks by a little artificial curling, the simplest way to accomplish this is to dampen her hair slightly with cologne and then roll it on soft kids until it has become perfectly dry, when it will be fluffy and curly enough to do up prettily.

Never use irons on a child's hair, as the soft little tresses are easily burned and made harsh and brittle.

Children enjoy cookies which are cut in distinctive shapes more than the round ones.

Cookies in the form of the letters of the alphabet, different animals and also in the shape of different kinds of leaves, are especially pleasing to the youngsters, and cutters of all these shapes are to be had.

Have each child come representing his birthday months by some symbol or costume. January should represent the New Year or snow man. February a valentine, March the winds, April an April fool or showers, May a May queen, June a bride, July a soldier or patriot, August a harvest, September, golden rod or the beginning of school, October, autumn, November, a turkey, December, Christmas.

This is good for both children and grown ups. Provide clay pipes tied with colored ribbons. Also plenty of soap suds made with castile soap and a little glycerine. Give prizes for the largest bubble, the smallest one, the one which lasts the longest, flies the highest, the one with the most brilliant colors, etc.

When travelling with baby one of the greatest conveniences is a folding high chair. This chair is light, compact and safe, and there is no possibility of the baby upsetting it or falling out. It can be attached to the back of any ordinary chair or car seat and is easily adjusted to any height.

FALL MILLINERY OPENINGS

FINE DISPLAY TO BE FOUND AT THE LEADING MILLINERY STORES

Edith M. Murphy, a well known designer and importer of up-to-date millinery, will hold her fall display of the latest exclusive styles in ladies' hats at her parlors, 226 Merrimack street, Old City hall building on Friday and Saturday of this week. The newest fall styles will be shown, and as Mrs. Murphy's ability as a millinery designer is well known, a large number of people will doubtless be present at the opening tomorrow and Saturday. In addition to Mrs. Murphy herself, there will be in attendance her capable assistants, Malvina Brunelle, Mrs. Julia Maxey and Mrs. Larent. These ladies have had a wide experience in the business of making and trimming ladies' hats. All are now busy preparing for the fall showing and anticipating a rush of business during the last two days of this week.

Ladies' Specialty Shop

One could hardly find a more attractive little establishment than is the Ladies' Specialty Shop of J. and L. Taylor, located at 133 Merrimack street. With a complete new fall stock of the various articles that delight the ladies, the attractive appearance of the shop is more than ever worthy of complimentary comment. The fall line of gloves, corsets, hosiery, infants' wear and neckwear is of the most up-to-date variety and the business at the shop has been very brisk.

Miss Anna Ouellette

It is now that the minds of the ladies are occupied with plans for new dresses and gowns for fall and winter. Judging from the large number of ladies who have visited the gown making establishment of Miss Anna Ouellette, rooms 701 and 702 Sun building, it is quite evident that the high quality of the goods and workmanship of Miss Ouellette is widely appreciated. Miss Ouellette finds that her trade increases with each succeeding season, because of highly-pleased customers who are not backward about telling their friends of the quality of her establishment. Miss Ouellette is showing imported and domestic and original modes and has a fine line of fabrics on display.

Display of Hosiery and Plumstead

At the millinery parlors of Hosiery and Plumstead, one of Lowell's best known and widely patronized establishments, there are being shown the newest fall models in ladies' hats, displayed in a most effective manner. The parlors are located at rooms 91-94 Central building, and the days set for the fall opening are Friday and Saturday. On these days, there will doubtless be a very large number of visitors at the establishment, for the many former customers of Hosiery and Plumstead will not fail to return to view this season's offerings. The prices are reasonable, and the quality of the workmanship widely known.

Display at Ella M. Burke's

date and widely patronized establishment of Ella M. Burke at 20 Palmer street, is attracting a large number of people. The display opened on Monday to continue throughout the week, and there has been an accompanying rush of business. The latest styles and exclusive imported and domestic designs are being shown in a most effective manner, keeping everyone constantly busy. Friday and Saturday are expected to be big days at those parlors.

E. H. Severy Bleachery

The excellent quality of the work which is done at the hat bleachery of E. H. Severy located at 133 Middle street, has attracted a great number of ladies who wish to have their velour, felt or beaver hats re-blocked, cleaned or dyed. This bleachery is well equipped to do this kind of work, using the most up-to-date methods, and if one wishes to economize on millinery this establishment will indeed help solve the problem. The satisfaction expressed by those who have sent their hats there to be made over as good as new is a sufficient assurance of first-class work. Another feature of this bleachery is the promptness with which all orders are attended to.

WOUNDED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Houston Injured at Randolph and Car Wrecked—Men in Other Machine Arrested

RANDOLPH, Sept. 24.—When a touring car owned by the Roslindale garage came in collision last evening with a roadster automobile containing Arthur M. Towns and Miss Annie Houston on North Main street, near Pond street, the young woman was thrown out, sustaining severe scalp wounds, a broken arm and other lesser injuries. She is at her home on North Main street, attended by two doctors. The touring car almost demolished the roadster and knocked it into the bushes at the side of the road. The car's five occupants, all of Roslindale—Robert A. McPherson, the operator, of 56 Florence street; Fred C. Nishield of 15 Brooks street; Ward D. Prescott of 42 Colchester street; Frank A. Anderson of 13 Huntington avenue and Thomas J. Lewis of 23 Taft place, were arrested. Later bail was given for their appearance in the East Norfolk District court, Quincy, today.

Prescott's hip was cut by being thrown against the windshield of the car. The charge against the car's occupants is reckless driving. Chief of Police McFerguson alleges that a bag filled with bottles of beer, found by the roadside, was tossed there by the car's occupants after the collision.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, October 2nd, in the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank, will draw interest from that day.

Forced to Resign — Kitchener Ousted Cabinet — Governor Failed to Reinforce British

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The failure of the military governor of Lille to give reinforcements to the British forces at a time when they were in danger of annihilation during the battle of Mons, and the resultant protest of Lord Kitchener. Great Britain's secretary for war, made to President Poincare, brought about the recent resignation of the French cabinet, according to Dr. Fred S. Mason of New York, who arrived here yesterday on the Olympic.

Dr. Mason while in France was allowed to visit the hospital at Camp Marlborough, Boulogne-sur-Mer, by Surgeon General Linden Bell of the British expeditionary force. He also visited other hospitals prepared for the wounded at Boulogne, Trouville and Havre. At Boulogne Gen. Bell introduced him to a well informed official of rank.

Kept Joffre's Order in Pocket

The following is a report of the facts as the official is said to have stated them to Dr. Mason: "When a force of about 100,000 British under Gen. French were opposed by more than twice that number of Germans of Gen. von Kluck's army at Mons, Gen. French saw that he was in a desperate situation. After the first day of fighting when it was seen that the overwhelming force of Germans threatened to surround the entire British force, Gen. French made an earnest appeal to Gen. Joffre, commander of the French troops, requesting support on the left wing where the British were entirely alone.

"Gen. Joffre wired instructions to the governor of Lille to send his garrison of 40,000 men to support the British forces.

"It appears, however, that the governor put the telegram in his pocket for women and children to evacuate Lille, and this nearly brought about a defeat of the allies, and was certainly one of the main reasons why they were obliged to retreat toward Paris.

Lord Kitchener's Trip to Paris

"The British managed to cut their way out of the German trap by almost superhuman effort and at tremendous loss. They were in full retreat away from Mons when the reinforcements arrived.

"Although Gen. French made casual mention of the alleged failure of the French forces to assist him in his official report designed for publication, he sent a complete report and a bitter complaint direct to Lord Kitchener, saying that the failure of the French to answer his plea put his whole army in jeopardy.

Lord Kitchener was furious. He made a secret trip to Paris and laid his complaint against the military governor of Lille before President Poincare and the French minister of war. The latter, who was a friend of the general, complained against, refused to punish him.

"President Poincare, however, to make every concession to Lord Kitchener, forced the resignation of his whole cabinet. This was on Aug. 23, about a week after the battle of Mons. A very serious crisis in the affairs of the allies was thus averted and Lord Kitchener triumphed in his demand. The governor of Lille has been sent to an obscure post of duty."

SOMERVILLE MAN

Allows That He Has Something to Worry About

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—A mysterious case, in which figure a trap door constructed in the flooring of the piazza of a Somerville residence without the owner's knowledge, the excavation of a trench beneath the porch, an attempt to cut a hole in the lattice work of the piazza and the receipt by the owner of a black band letter, is engaging the attention of Chief Kendall and the detectives of the Somerville police department.

The case was first reported to Chief Kendall last Sunday, who kept the facts a secret until yesterday when the letter was received, in which the writer warned the recipient to call on the police.

J. Herbert Buzzell, aged 31, owner of a two-family dwelling house at 2 Whittman street, West Somerville, brought the case to the attention of the police. He occupies the upper half of the house with his mother, Mrs. James Buzzell, and Eleanor Davis, 18 years old, a pupil at the Somerville high school. The lower apartment are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Rich and their son.

According to Mr. Buzzell's report the discovery that three boards of the piazza had been sawed through and made into a trap door about 14 inches square by being cleated together was made last Sunday morning. The door was lifted and upon dropping through it to the ground beneath Mr. Buzzell was astonished to find a trench about three feet long.

A woman's coat, identified as his mother's, a fruit jar and a paper bag, each containing a quantity of lime; a pasteboard box and an envelope containing two hinges, screws to fit and a small bolt were found lying on the ground.

He also found a saw with which, it is supposed, the trap door and lattice front of the piazza were cut. It is believed the bolt and hinges were designed to be fitted to a door in the lattice.

The coat of Mr. Buzzell's mother had been placed in storage in an attic room. How it was taken from the house and by whom is a puzzle to the family, as there was no evidence of a robber's having broken in.

It is presumed the trap door was made Saturday night, as members of the family occupying the first floor heard the noise of a saw, but supposed it came from a house in the neighborhood.

The threatening letter was postmarked in Boston and was written on ordinary wrapping paper. It reads: "A word to the wise: Pull off the bulls or look out for your dump."

A black hand was drawn below. Mr. Buzzell, who is employed at the Boston Y. M. C. A., is unable to explain a single phase of the case.

See Mr. Sheehy and lady, Asso, Fri.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE There isn't a spot in town which is so cool as the B. F. Keith theatre. During the torrid spell through which we are passing it has literally been "as cool as ice."

And, in addition to receiving cool air in the theatre, for the minimum of price one gets a splendid combination vaudeville and motion picture bill. Today another big change in program takes place, with the Five Melody Boys topping the list of attractions. The quartet are the premier sopranists of the variety stage, and, only last week, scored a big hit at the Hammerstein theatre in New York. The second feature is that of the Van Der Koors, who will feature Felix, the mind-reading duck. This is guaranteed to erase the blues from anybody's mind, and it's as original as it is funny. Benton & Howard, singers and dancers, and Jeanette Chids, a dainty singing sobriety, conclude the vaudeville part of the program. Then there will be four specially selected motion pictures. Beginning next Monday a return will be made to the former policy of "all-vau deville."

And, to head the bill, will be the beautiful diver, Miss "Ideal," who is often called the diving Venus.

Not very much like theatrical weather is it? More like vacation time coming back again, these hot, uncomfortable afternoons and evenings. For many of us vacations so soon again are impossible—yet we long for a moment's rest long to get away if only for two or three hours—and there's no better place where we can enjoy those few hours than at the cool Merrimack Square theatre.

"Atlas, Jimmy Valentine" is the attraction this week—one of those breezy, care-free plays that make us forget even that it's hot. The acting is capital, the singing is all that one could demand and so far all who have seen it have pronounced this week's bills as the best so far offered this season. Tickets for all performances are now on sale at the box office, phone 2953. Subscription list open at the box office.

THE OWL THEATRE Mystery, intrigue and drama are cleverly mixed in "Doc," the four-part feature that is shown at the Owl this afternoon and evening. This story is taken from the Saturday Evening Post, and in its filming, it has not lost a whit of its interest. Besides this feature another two-part play entitled

Robert Winters of the Mass. mills has returned from a three days' visit to North Scituate.

Thomas Connolly of the Bigelow Carpet rug department is of the opinion that Nashua is the best little town in the world.

William Farrell of the Mass. mills returned today from a four days' fishing trip to a lake in New Hampshire. He made a very good catch.

The members of Painters' union will hold a meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runnels building tonight. All members are requested to attend.

Patrick Farrell, foreman of the cloth room at the Tremont & Suffolk mills has postponed his advent in howling for the season owing to the extreme weather.

Charles Borden of the Stirling mills, has formed a fishing party and will start Saturday afternoon for Long Pond where he expects to make quite a catch.

Jim Denahy, foreman of the Meers Adams sole leather department is of the opinion that a mid-winter sojourn by the employees of the shop would not be half bad. Go to it, Jim!

The Machinists' union will meet tonight in its rooms in Middle street. Business of much importance will

The Lowell Textile Co., North Chelmsford, is running overtime three nights a week and Saturday afternoons. The night operations started Monday night and ended last night. The operatives, all men, work until 10 o'clock at night, and Saturday afternoons until 6 o'clock. The same schedule will be maintained until further notice.

Saco-Lowell Shops

The Saco-Lowell shops are not running as well as they might, but if predictions coming from men closely identified with the machine business, can be taken as a criterion these shops will be operating a whole lot better in the fall. When the shops are running full over 4000 men are employed. At the present time it is stated that there are but a little over 2000 men employed. But no one is working harder to build up business than Arent Blake who besides being a very able man is well liked by the employees.

New York's New Classical Song

PECULIAR LOVE BALLAD AIMED TO DEVELOP THE VOICE

Of all the strange songs yet written the one just out called "The Rose of My Heart" is the most unique which New York has had in some time. It is a high-class ballad on the order of "A Dream," by Bartlett, and begins with a simple melody that leads the voice up to a very strong climax. A part of the chorus runs thus:

THE ROSE OF MY HEART

By JAMES KENDIS

Chorus

You are the rose of my heart, dear,

You are my sun-shine, too. You are the star of my life, dear. You made my dreams all come true. You are my sweetest love for ever. Never more, never more to part. You are my love. Copyright 1914

The song is quite a novelty in a way. It does not appeal to the popular idea, but is aimed to develop the voice of those who care for the better class of music, such as "Sing Me to Sleep," "The Rosary," and "Kindred Voices."

The ballad is said to be the most pronounced hit in classical music which has been issued in many years. It is unusually dull in the carpet business has had no depressing effect at this plant, which, to the contrary is very busy. Rugs, and carpets of any size and quality are made and a fine line of Persian rugs are also manufactured.

Muskegon Mills

The Muskegon mills, situated in Howe street are sharing in the prosperity that has struck the woolen mills all over the country. These mills are running on a very even keel and indications seem to point to even more prosperous times in the near future. Superintendent Laycock is a man fully conversant with the woolen business and has been very successful since his coming to Lowell only a few years ago.

Carpenters' Union Hold Meeting

The members of Carpenters' union,

local 1610, held a very largely attended meeting in their hall in the Runnels building last night. Much business of a routine nature was transacted and one new member was admitted. Three propositions were received and turned over to the investigation committee. Committee reports of much import were read and properly referred. The agreement which runs out in a few months was the topic of much discussion and at the next meeting plans will be formulated towards its agreement. A report from the business agent showed the local well up among the leaders in the state and nearly all members working. The secretary reported the local to be in a good financial condition.

Attachment Calculates Wages

A calculating machine is in use in numerous continental mills for automatically calculating the wages of weavers. It is manufactured by the Archels and Lohmeyer-Gesellschaft, Vienna, Austria. The machine is attached to the chain shaft on cotton looms.

It is the custom to pay the weavers in continental mills a price based on the number of thousand picks actually woven, and it is for this system that the calculating machine is specially adapted. The figures in the upper row at the left show the amount due the weaver. Figures to the right in the upper row, on the front of this box-like arrangement, indicate the number of thousand of picks that have been woven. When the machine is attached to a loom the pointers on a lower row of figures are adjusted to the list price per thousand picks. The machine is so constructed that when the pointers are set in this position the figures in the upper left-hand row automatically indicate the amount due the weaver at this rate for any cloth that has been woven. At the end of the week all that is necessary is for the overseer or payroll clerk to make a record of the amount due each weaver as indicated by the machine on each loom. The indicators in the upper row are then set at 0 ready for the next week's work.

The indicator is securely locked so as to prevent any interference with it except by authorized persons. The weaver's wage is not affected by the number of picks per inch, but depends solely on the total number of picks of filling actually woven in the goods. The indicator also tests the amount of cloth obtained from any given quantity of filling. This enables the mill manager to determine accurately the cost of the material and also detect of making of any excessive amount of waste.

Mill News

The Union mills, knit goods, has shut down its factories at Hudson and Mechanicville, N. Y. The company does a large export business and it is reported that about $20,000 in knit goods, now on the ocean, will be returned on account of the war. It is stated, however, that both plants may resume work.

The B. & L. Textile company, Cohoes, N. Y., manufacturers of knit underwear, are planning to increase their output by installing about 75 new machines, and doubling their present force. They say that business is picking up and that the rush of orders has necessitated the hiring of more employees.

Departments B and C of the Sanford mills, Sanford, Me., including the plush and blanket industries of the town, are on a full time schedule after running four days per week for six months. The company officials state that they have received sufficient orders to warrant running on full time for several months. A large order which had been placed by Detroit parties with a Belgian concern before the war broke out in Europe has been placed with the mills here.

The drawing and spinning departments at the Atlantic mills, the largest factory in Oneville, R. I., has begun a night schedule to keep pace with the demands of the weaving department. At the office of the mill it was stated that the overtime schedule will continue indefinitely in order to get sufficient material ahead to feed the looms. For the present the culture yarn department will not run nights, although this may be necessary later on. The mill situation in the section is declared to be very promising and the clouds that have hovered over the industry for the past few weeks have passed. Other mills in this section report a brighter outlook, and while business cannot be said to be at top speed, a general increase is looked for this fall.

The A. S. Anable plant, Sussex, N. J., has gone on a four-day-a-week schedule and will be operated on short time for several months. The European war is said to be the cause. About 35 employees are affected. The factory makes towels, terry cloth, cotton and wool filled novelty flannels and serges.

A three-day schedule is now in force at the carpet weaving plant of the Beattie Mfg. Co., Little Falls, N. Y., which affects 500 hands.

The Gardner Print Works and Bleachery, Wappinger Falls, N. Y., which does a large export business, has closed down its printing department for three weeks. Uncertainty in foreign shipping is the cause.

The American Mills Co., New Haven, Conn., is erecting an addition to its weave shed, 200x120 feet.

It is stated that the Universal Windup company at Cranston, R. I., has laid off 20 employees, including six clerks and 12 draughtsmen. The lay-off, it is said, is due to the war, which has curtailed the company's foreign trade.

The carpet mill of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Amsterdam, N. Y., employing several thousand, which had been idle for many weeks, has resumed operations.

CUFF'S VOTE CLOSE

WARD SIX OF LYNN CARRIED DAY FOR SENATORIAL CANDIDATE DUNN

With still a few towns to be heard from, but not enough to change the result it appears that Commissioner Gould carried the county with a grand total of 5337 votes, with 7404 for Major Barnes and 2090 for Julius Meyers. Major Barnes' vote surprised many. Gould supporters who clung to the belief that Uncle Levi would sweep the county as in former years. On the democratic end, Senator Charles F. McCarthy, of Marlboro, whose great popularity in his home districts has kept him in the legislature and senate for many years, despite the fact that he was a democrat in a republican district was the winner with a vote of 3173 with Deputy Sheriff Walsh, second man with 2512. John J. Butler, who carried Lowell by a good plurality, came out fourth in the final accounting with 2355. The fact that there were three Cambridge candidates in the field split the great democratic vote of that city in such a manner as to place the final result in doubt until the last minute. Last year Candidate McCloskey swept Cambridge but this year Candidate O'Connor, an ex-alderman of the University City got a big lead on him and finished third with 2662. McCloskey received 1862 in the county and McLaughlin, 731.

In the seventh senatorial district Thomas S. Cuff lost by only 128 votes receiving 1015 against 1144 for Henry Dunn of Lynn. In wards five and nine Cuff led Dunn by 703 while in ward 6 of Lynn, Dunn led Cuff by 329, and that Lynn lead was what did the business. Otto Reither didn't have a look-in against Candidate Kinnah, for the latter received 1246 while Reither got only 238.

In the 8th district Marchand's total vote was 2071 while the best Best could collect was 1438. Senator Draper had a total vote of 1048 while McManmon ran second with 895 and Dunigan, third with 753.

The town of Ashby had the distinction of having no democratic voters show up at the polls. Ashby is the most northern town in Middlesex county and possibly the demmons never got that far north. Ashby gets into the papers about four times a year, when it sends a juryman down to the big cities.

WHAT LOWELL NEEDS

Already one hears sundry rumors on the street regarding the possible candidates for municipal office a few months from now, and as usual these candidates may be roughly divided into two groups: the professional politicians and the politically unknown. All have their following, whether it be a personal one because of some engaging qualities, a selfish one because of liberal promises made to office seekers, or a really disinterested one founded on the belief that a certain candidate would be able to give an efficient, economic and yet progressive term of service to the city. What the masses of the people think—if the masses really do think about such things as municipal politics—cannot be easily determined, but if the masses wish for really good and adequate government there are many things to be learned from past experience.

It is not a particle too soon for the people of Lowell to impress on candidates for office the desirability of showing in their campaigns some practical reason why their election would improve Lowell, industrially, politically or otherwise. Let us demand more business and less buncombe. Campaigns of mere abuse with personal vilification of rivals we have experienced and learned to regret; political campaigns that gave a bad reputation to our city and its institutions and tended to some disadvantageous advertising have been politically effective in some notorious cases but the gain of the individual has been the loss of the municipality. Lowell citizens need no argument to support this statement now; it is commonly known and commonly regretted.

Lowell citizens should realize before it is too late that municipal government is not the personal business of the official selected to fill some public position; it is the business of the citizen, run as the citizen dictates and paid for with money subscribed by the citizens collectively. Any man of common sense who wishes to hire an individual to transact some business does not judge of the ability of the applicant because of his magnetic personality, or his personal claims or promises. The employer investigates and makes sure that the would-be employee is capable, honest, and industrious; when he has found that his business may be trusted to such hands he doesn't hesitate long in making a choice.

To realize what municipal government really is in its connection with public officials and with the people of a community, one need but attend a New England town meeting—an ideal representation of efficient and democratic government. Everything is transacted in the open, and there is no chance for buncombe. There one will not hear any fine speeches about public morality, law and order and other high sounding political issues that are as insincere as they are eloquently expressed. The people of the town are fully aware of the fact that the money to be spent is supplied by them and they vote it away with a full sense of their responsibility and with full regard for economy. Petty graft and pernicious personalities are kept out of sight and the motives of the speakers for or against any suggestion are generally analyzed by the next shrewd commentator. For the sake of good government it seems a pity that communities have grown so large and so complex that town meetings have been discarded in favor of municipal meetings and their prearranged surprises, their selfish misuse and abuse of public funds, their vote-baiting policies—and their notorious insincerity.

Lowell voters have in the past been fooled by cries of "economy," "respect for law," "special privilege to none" and other fine things, warranted to catch the crowd and play up the emotions of the electorate. Have the promises really been kept? Has Lowell progressed under such a regime? Are we, with our enormous tax rate, our poor water supply, our wretched school accommodation, our honeycombed streets, our insufficient lighting, our involved finance and many other drawbacks any better off than we were before we looked for saints to run the affairs of the municipality? Wake up, Lowell voters, and ask yourselves if you must go on indefinitely voting insincere, inefficient and incapable politicians into office, that they may make the city a public laughing stock and an object lesson in political inefficiency. When we nominate and elect our next commissioners, let us forget petty issues and vote with the intention of getting for our city the best in efficient, economic and yet progressive government.

SOME WORLD LOSSES

When the passions of men and of nations have cooled down no people will regret some aspects of the present war more than the Germans, who, excusably or otherwise, have wrought vast damage that time cannot repair. As yet the world generally is not disposed to accept their side of the burning of Louvain and other Belgian cities and towns, the damage to Rheims cathedral, the destruction of libraries and pictures and the other losses that are a blow to the world as well as to the countries that have directly suffered. Many papers have commented on the paradoxical destruction of such things in the name of "entirety" after they had been spared through the centuries of Goth and Visigoth, by Vandal and Hun.

One such loss, the enormity of which is as yet little understood, is that of the library of the University of Louvain with its 70,000 precious manuscripts and priceless relics of the first products of the printers art. Among those who will most poignantly regret this blow to literature are the many interested in the Celtic renaissance, for among the manuscripts destroyed were thousands of precious books illuminated by Irish monks in Ireland's golden age with sagas, tales of saint and scholar, of gods and fighting men and with fervent poems that reflected the life struggle of a suffering nation. During the dark days of persecution these books were taken to the continent by Irish prelates, priests and political exiles for safe keeping and the greater number found their way to friendly Louvain. German and Irish scholars of the type of Cuno Meyer and Dr. Douglas Hyde were giving a fragmentary part of their contents to the world, but they are now gone and with them a prolific source of Celtic culture and artistic feeling.

Latest reports from Rheims indicate that the walls are still standing and that the great cathedral may yet be externally restored, but they tell of the destruction of the beautiful windows especially the "rose window," of the facade with its rare amber glass. The wood carving of the interior, including the choir, the paneling of the altars, the roof ornaments have also fallen prey to the flames. Art lovers who knew that medieval stained glass cannot be duplicated by any modern process—being a lost art—and that museums spend thousands for a small fragment of the wood carving that was destroyed so ruth-

THE SUBMARINE

With a well defined thrill of anxiety Admiral Sir Percy Scott who declared long before the present war that naval strategy had been revolutionized by the invention of the torpedo and the submarine and that in consequence the greatest dreadnaughts were rendered of second rate importance. Germany has long professed its belief in this theory and has gone on perfecting the engines of war in the air and under water, professing no fear of England's mighty naval armament. The sending of five submarines against the British fleet was only a slight move on the part of Germany, but it is acknowledged that three of the greatest battleships could have been sunk as easily as the three powerful cruisers. That there is genuine danger in the situation for England is not denied, and it would appear that English government officials favor offensive naval tactics, advising their admirals to "go in and dig out the German fleet" before any more crawling submarines send English war ships to the bottom. With the possibility of destructive bombs from the air and deadly torpedoes from under water, the modern ship of war is not the powerful thing it once was. It is surely a long way back to Nelson's "Trafalgar."

GOOD VOTE CAST

Considering that there was no contest on for the head of the ticket and that a great deal of the voting was therefore perfunctory and considering also the usual apathy at primaries coupled with the all-absorbing war of this season, the vote cast in Lowell was most satisfactory. It indicates a good degree of general interest in the coming campaign and is to be commended as the exercise of a good public spirit. One of the surprises was the return of so many local men to the legislature, a gratifying fact if an indication that the public does not think length of service of itself a disqualifying factor for re-election. The public that has begun so well should not now lose interest but should follow the campaigns of their respective representatives until after election. The democrats of Massachusetts have an unusually strong ticket and there is victory ahead if each individual does his part in legitimately furthering the work that his party has not out to do in national and state circles.

STREET DEPT. PROGRESS

In the construction of the Pawtucket sewer and the completion or continuation of the various jobs in Westford, Gorham, Andover and First streets, Commissioner Morse has tackled a great many problems and it is evident that he has lost none of his enthusiasm. It is well, for a great deal remains to be done and the street department will have no time to congratulate itself on one task before another presents itself for settlement. Rogers street, Elm street, Lawrence street and many others are in a sorry condition and those who are striving for better things must realize the weaknesses of the Lowell policy of the past quite as strongly as do the many critics. With regard to constant repair it is a matter for congratulation.

SEEN AND HEARD

Why is it that your note always falls due on the day you are broke?

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who used to have the belly-ache?

It is a great comfort to a fat woman to imagine that she is broad-minded just because her shape is that way.

The men needn't talk. Most of the white vests are just as fat as the white stockings.

ed chewing gum was on the right track.

This would be a whole lot better world if we didn't leave our religion behind us when we walk out of church on Sunday.

An automobile is like a baby. You get one and bring it up before you realize that you've got one you wouldn't give it up for anything.

The old-fashioned man who used to blow down the muzzle of a gun to soothe it if it was loaded now has a son who cranks an automobile with the clutch in.

There was quite a contrast between Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. But it wasn't as great as the contrast between the woman the lean man sees in the kitchen in the morning and the woman he sees leaving the same house for a trip down town in the afternoon.

ELECTION DAY, 1920

For that's the way they work it in the morning!"

—Harvey Pease, in Truth.

Of course daughter won't believe this, but you can get a beautiful complexion by washing your face over a washtub, and wringing out the clothes makes the arms plump, and hanging the clothes on the line increases the bust measurement, and stooping to pick up the clothes makes the waist line smaller, and carrying the clothes out into the yard makes the lower limbs firm and shapely.

THE AISNE CARNAGE

If the battle raging on the banks of the Aisne is really as represented, the final toll of death will be enormous, for the great feature of the fighting is the dreadful cannibalism that has poured shot, shell and bullet on the respective lines of both the Germans and the allies. English despatches say that the battle has developed into a siege with the Germans firmly entrenched in almost impregnable positions and with the English and French, burrowing towards them, digging up fresh trenches as they advance. Occasionally the fight has come to tests of "cold steel" between detached groups but for the most part the damage has been done by the most deadly guns of the respective powers, carefully planted behind the respective positions of either side and trained on the strategic points of the enemy's fortifications. The Germans, apparently, had anticipated the possibility of defeat to their preliminary plans of invasion for they had made arrangements to take up their present position on the Aisne some weeks ago. After ten or eleven days' continuous fighting, the result of the battle cannot be far distant.

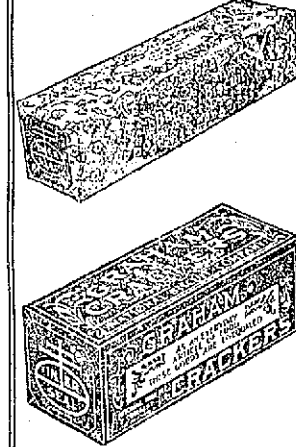

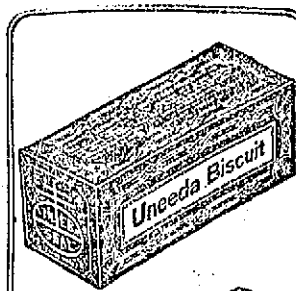

It is not very alarming, after all, to consider that there is a possibility of a federal war tax on beer, tobacco, pullman tickets, cheques, etc. Most of us anticipate but little hardship on that score, but if we must give up beer, pullman tickets, etc.—Oh well!

A news item from New Orleans states that the bubonic plague there is not entirely stamped out yet as two new cases have been discovered. Would it not be a most effective war move for one contesting force to enclose some bubonic plague germs in capsules and send them into the ranks of the enemy? Not a whit more horrible than some of the things being done daily, and when all is said and done, war is at best only a process of extermination—furthered by any means at hand.

Let us hope that the cleaning out of the boulevard main by the New York concern will result in visible cleanliness to the water system. We have long tried to believe that our police department is pure, but the stomach is apt to be ruled by the evidence of the eyes. Let us have but clear water for a while and the warnings of twenty experts will not be able to keep us from drinking copious draughts.

Although there is little sincerity in the economy cry of the republicans, the democrats must not ignore the fact that it may be made effective campaign material. Economy just now is good politics as well as good business. If only the republicans could point out some precedent while they were in power, their contention would carry more force.

The day of prayers for peace is approaching. Will the day of peace follow?

not wait for the waiter, but addressed the "bus."

When the "bus" returned he brought a glass of iced tea. The order was given again, and the boy repeated it—at least that is what the two assistant managers thought. When he came back the next time he bore a plate of ice cream.

"Maybe he is French," said one to the other. He addressed the boy in that language. A blank look and a shake of the head was the reply. Next he tried him in German, with the same result. Spanish and Italian fell upon deaf ears.

"It'll not be a Polo," said one of the assistant managers, and he called over a captain and told him to address the boy in Polish.

Again the boy shook his head, but this time he spoke.

"I'm very sorry, Sir," he said, "but I'm Irish and I don't speak anything but English. I didn't suppose I was required to speak five languages."

SHUCKING CORN
Ho boys, we go, boys out to the fields of corn.
To the yellow ears and tawny spears that hang in the frost of morn.
Where the partridge whirrs from the ripened burrs and floats in the haze of air.
And the wild geese cry in the autumn sky, and the day is dawning fair.

Pluck 'em and shuck 'em and chuck 'em away.
The corn that is shorn in the morn of the day;
The gold that is rolled in the fold of the bush.
We'll rip and we'll strip and we'll crib before dusk.

Geese whos, keep the row—we're gathering in the grain.
The swilling crib with bulging rib will shelter the store from rain.
The golden ears in a golden sod, like laurels of the Doge,
In beauty fills the somber hills, suffused in rich gamboge.

The ripened grapes in perfect shapes, and crimson apples cling;
The elder press with firm cress their liquid juice will bring.
The sparkling cup abrimming up, we'll drink in hearty praise.
To hurrying hours and fading flowers and Indian summer days.

The fadder shocks of silent stalks like combed wigwag stand,
And scowl their dry but collected lips describe a warrior band.
And here and there through balmy air an arrowed shaft gleams,
On downy fur and gossamer streams threaded o'er the daisies.

Ho hi, the pumpkin pie, and hominy and pork.
Speed along with happy song; the day is ripe for work.
Yank the fork and slice it clear and toss it on the board—Tonight I see my dear Marie in the cottage down the road.

—George T. Edson.

ANOTHER GRANT NAILED

The executive council is to be commended for its action in putting a check on the grifting game of members of legislative recess committees who exact their duty but collect compensation for services not rendered. Hereafter the rule will be, no work, no pay for such delinquents. Those committees, at best, are a needless expense to the state inasmuch as they rarely add much that is of value to the store of general information of the legislature. At the same time they are a device whereby their members are furnished with an excuse for sponging a little easier money in addition to their regular salaries out of the commonwealth.—Fall River Globe.

AMERICAN TOURISTS

It is supposed that the number of Americans driven home from Europe by the war will reach 100,000. Already 87,000 have passed through London on their way and many of them needed help from the relief committee. The total number is surprising in its magnitude. Few persons could believe that so many of their countrymen were abroad at one time. Next year and for some years to come there will be a large number of patriotic volunteers some time to serving their own country, and they will bring with them their own English and the continent will be another item in the cost of the present war.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

libel suit, sent a swift arrow when he said:

"If President Roosevelt kept Mr. Barnes in office for several years and knew all the things about him then that this country knows, then President Roosevelt's actions were nothing less than criminal."

But the like inconsistency has characterized the whole Roosevelt political life.—Worcester Post.

NO DEFINITE RESULT
Wonder if "no definite result" in a battle means that nothing definite has happened to any of the participants in it? The bulletins from abroad dealt largely with the situation; deaths and wounding and additions to the throngs of missing are not considered to be of any importance if the battle itself doesn't result in a defeat of one army or the other in general.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

GOVERNMENT OWNED
A merchant marine owned and operated by the government would shorten the step to the government-owned railroads and other enterprises. Even in an emergency such as that which now confronts commerce the ultimate consequences of the remedy proposed cannot be overlooked.—Fall River Herald.

NEVER TOUCHED US
The closing hours of the primary campaign developed two regrettable things. One was the introduction of the sectarian issue, and the other the effort of the chairman of the republican city committee of Boston to advise republicans of the state as to what he considered the official republican state committee had no knowledge of either of these moves.—Berkshire Eagle.

LODGE SAYS NO PEACE NOW

Senator Says Peace Talk Originated With German Agents

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—"All the Allies are determined," said Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, yesterday, "that they will put an end to the conditions which made the hideous calamity of this war possible. And they will fight on until this purpose is accomplished. These are the plain facts, and we had better
look them in the face."

Senator Lodge and Mrs. Lodge came into port on the White Star liner Olympic, which reached quarantine before daylight and docked shortly before 9. They have been in England since the middle of June, and were unable to get steamship accommodations which pleased them any earlier.

An interesting neutrality incident occurred as the ship was docking. A strong flood tide swung the Olympic's unwieldy bulk upstream, and four tug boats hauled and hauled her stern around. One of the tugs belonged to the Hamburg-American line, a German company helping to dock a British ship.

Senator Lodge said: "I am going home to Nahant for awhile, and then probably to Washington. When congress is in continuous session, you see, one can drop in at any time."

"What about the war situation?" he was asked.

"I have here," said the senior senator from Massachusetts, taking some penciled sheets of note paper from his pocket, "a statement for the newspapers. You won't be able to read it, but Mr. Clark, my secretary, can."

"Have you anything to say about England's attitude?"

"I have," said Mr. Lodge, smiling his famous smile. "It is in the statement." Nor would he speak again.

Mr. Clark read the statement. It said:

"I am chiefly interested in having the United States maintain a strict neutrality. I mean a neutrality which is not relaxed at one point to help one belligerent, and tightened at another belligerent, but a neutrality which is absolutely honest and equally right towards all belligerents."

"No Time for Peace"

"The time may come, I hope it will come, when our good offices may be effectively used for the restoration of peace. But that time has not yet come. This talk about peace, just now, is originated by German agents for the purpose of affecting public opinion here and elsewhere. There is no reality to it, and if our government permits itself to be used at this time by the originators of this peace talk, it will not only make itself ridiculous, but, what is far worse, our future influence, which ought to be of great value, at the right moment, will be crippled and weakened."

"I make no side, I advocate no cause, in saying this. But we ought to look facts in the face. We must dismiss from our minds, once for all, any idea of a speedy peace, which will leave everything in the same condition as existed in July. This will never be."

"Either Germany will win, or the allies. Either Germany will dictate the terms of peace or the allies will.
There will be no half way about it.
If Germany conquers France, England and Russia, she will dominate

Europe, and will subsequently extend that domination, if she can, to the rest of the world."

"Great Britain and Ireland, France and Belgium, believe they are fighting the battle of freedom and democracy; the battle for public law against the law of the sword, and for the right of small nations to exist. Russia believes that she is fighting against German domination, and for the freedom and rights of Slavic populations everywhere."

Allies Are Determined

"All the allies are determined that they will put an end to the conditions which make the hideous calamity of this war possible. They will fight on until this purpose is accomplished. These are the plain facts, and we had better
look them in the face."

"It is for us to maintain our neutrality, and at the right moment to use all our influence for a peace that will be lasting and which will bring with it a general reduction of armaments. No other peace is worth having."

HEARING BY COMMISSION AT STATE HOUSE—SPEAKERS FAVOR MORE PROTECTION FOR WORKINGMEN

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The special commission on liens, mortgages, tax collectors' deeds and the taking of land for taxes began yesterday afternoon at the state house a series of hearings.
The commission was appointed to recommend such changes in the laws relating to liens upon real estate for labor performed and materials furnished; to mortgages to secure loans for the construction of buildings and to other mortgages, in order to establish the relative priority of such loans and mortgages, if it shall deem such revision and codification expedient.

Judge Charles Thornton Davis of the land court, with Francis M. Phelan and Samuel M. Child, constitute the commission, which is to report to the next legislature, not later than Jan. 7, 1915, its findings. Representative Leo
M. Harlow is the secretary of the commission.

At the hearing yesterday Representative Peter J. Donaghy, of Boston,
Frank J. Donahue, Arthur E. Delano and James J. Donohue, of the district court of Southern Essex spoke upon changes in the law regarding re-mechanics' liens.

The first three speakers asked that the workingman's lien be protected from the constructive mortgage by which, it is alleged, the man who builds the house sometimes gives a mortgage on it and then after all his contracts are made, the mortgagee and mortgagee get together, the mortgage is foreclosed, the workingman's lien is wiped out, and the mortgage and mortgagee divide.

Judge Lamont pointed out the danger of the owner having to pay twice if any radical change is to be made in the law, and suggested that something might be done to aid the workingman by changing the law as to contracts and their form. At present the mechanic's lien is not made a written contract.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL OPENS

WORCESTER, Sept. 24.—The 57th annual music festival opened here last night at Mechanics' hall.

Notwithstanding the oppressive heat, an audience received with signs of favor a performance of Mendelssohn's
"Elijah," marked particularly by the beauty of Miss Florence Hinkley's singing, meriting praise also for that of Miss Mildred Potter and of the chorus.

The other soloists were Evan Williams, Herbert Witherspoon and Master Norris, who sang the music of the youth. Arthur Mees conducted.

The Boston Symphony orchestra supplied the usual quota of musicians, and in this season of a war from which most of them happily have been spared, will find more than the usually large appreciation given them by these audiences.

"The Elijah" is a long, familiar work at these festivals, but periodic repetitions of it are to be encouraged and welcomed.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR
BOSTON, Sept. 24.—A contest for the three places on the legislative committee in which two of the members of last year's body were defeated for re-election and an unsuccessful fight to change the method of filling vacancies at that board were events of chief interest at the session of the state branch, American Federation of Labor today.

Count of the votes in yesterday's election showed that President S. Alden of Holyoke, and Secretary-treasurer Martin T. Joyce, of Boston, had been re-elected to the legislative committee as was John Weaver Sherman of this city.
The successful candidates were Henry
Sterling, of Boston, who was re-elected,
John S. McDougall, of Haverhill, and Frederick J. Neeland, of this city. The latter was declared elected only after a recount, which reversed an advantage of one vote originally announced as favoring John P. Mead of Brockton.

GREEKS LEAVE LOWELL

Will Join Colors of Native Land in Compliance With Call of Their King

The first contingent of Greeks to leave Lowell for Macedonia, where they are called to the colors, departed aboard the 8:35 o'clock train for New York Tuesday afternoon and the scene at the railroad station was a most affecting one. The party consisted of 35 men, 10 of whom were accompanied by their wives, who will make their homes in Macedonia.

About two hundred men and women went to the railroad station in Middlesex street to bid farewell to friends and relatives who were leaving the city and it was indeed very interesting to see the men embrace each other, while some of the women wept.

The men are natives of Macedonia, who are going to enroll in the Greek army after declaring themselves Greek subjects. They will remain under the colors two years and a few days and it is probable many of them will return to this city as soon as their military service is completed.

It is expected a large number of Macedonians will leave Lowell next week, for 500 of them have fled out of the Greek government in this city. Thomas Jean Nounas, and as soon as the papers are verified by the Greek government, the men will receive their route papers and they will sail for Greece.

DAUGHTER OF TOILER OUR MANUFACTURERS

IS CARNIVAL'S QUEEN—EXCLUSIVE SOCIETY RECEIVES A TERRIBLE SHOCK IN BAYSIDE

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Complete rout befell "exclusive" society in Bayside, L. I., yesterday, when Miss Catherine Reade, daughter of William Reade, a humble toiler on the public highways, was elected Queen of the Autumn Carnival, beating by more than 3000 votes Miss May Van Sichen, who belongs to one of the oldest Long Island families.

The contest was held under the auspices of the Bayside Village corporation. The ballots were printed in the two evening papers of that section and were deposited and counted at the Bayside National bank. Miss Reade got 2824 votes, and Miss Van Sichen 1641. There was a big field.

Former Representative Frederick Storm, president of the Bayside National bank, was chosen king of the carnival by a large majority. He is prominent in Bayside society, but when the carnival procession starts the queen beside him in the beflowered electrically lighted, while "royal" car will be the daughter of a public highway toiler.

When the campaign started Miss Reade was not named. All appeared to be plain sailing for Miss Van Sichen or some other of the girls of the Country club set whose names appeared on the lists. But suddenly Miss Reade's name loomed with a big registry of votes. Then she surged ahead.

Several matrons figured that her election might spoil the "society" phase of the affair and suggested that she withdraw. Miss Reade's answer began with a smile and ended with a confident statement that she thought she really had a good chance to be elected and her withdrawal would not be fair to the friends who had voted for her.

GERMAN SOLDIERS AT RUINS OF BURNED HOUSES IN PLACE DE L'UNIVERSITE LIEGE

This picture shows ruins of houses in the Place de l'Universite at Liege, Belgium. The town was bombarded by the Germans. German soldiers are seen examining the wreckage for bodies. Many other buildings in Liege were thus blown to pieces and burned.

MISSIONS HARD HIT

WAR REPORTED A BURDEN ALL OVER THE WORLD—COMMERCE IS STOPPED EVERYWHERE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Secretary A. W. Halsey of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions reports conditions at the missions all over the world as unparalleled in the history of the church. Commerce is stopped everywhere and he declares no inhabitant on the globe has escaped the effects of the war.

"I thought I had seen the country restless before, but never have I imagined anything like the present distress and hopelessness," writes Rev. Dr. William S. Nelson, long a missionary in Syria, from Tripoli under date of Aug. 21.

"Riding across the country on Monday and Tuesday, across three districts, I did not see a single camel or mule or horse and only a few weak donkeys and very few men. All were hiding from the army draft."

"The draft calls for practically all the able-bodied men, camels, cattle and sheep, as well as grain still on the threshing floors."

"The cruelty of the officials trying to enforce the orders means beating and abuse for the men and destruction of household effects in the villages. Some men say if they ever reach the front they will throw down their arms and go over to whatever

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Boxing at the Unity Cycle club of Lawrence is expected to start up in a few weeks always provided, of course, that the present warm weather does not continue. The Lawrence club has always proved a big attraction to local fans especially from the fact that many of the local boxers are used by Matchmaker Crilly. If the Lawrence club continues to use Lowell boxers for their weekly bouts it is certain to draw the crowd from this city.

Phinney Boyle is preparing for a busy time during the coming boxing season. The local featherweight is a trifle heavier than last year although not big enough yet for the lightweight division. If Boyle shows the same improvement this winter that he displayed during last year's bouts he will be out in the limelight before long.

Jimmy Clabby and Mike Gibbons have finally come to terms and signed agreements for a bout to be held in San Francisco on Thanksgiving day. These two middleweights have been stalling like school children for several months. The bout, however, bids fair to attract a large gathering of coast fans for a rugged battle is expected. The distance is twenty rounds.

Joe Jasper has created a more favorable impression upon the boxing fans of Boston with every appearance. The thub welterweight does not know very much about the ring game although he has been pitted against many men. His aggressiveness and his willingness to stand up and slug with an opponent is what has won him popularity. Jasper's battle with Al Thiel, new Al McCoy, this week was a stirring affair from beginning to end.

Young Lustig, the New Yorker who received second money to Eddie Murphy on Tuesday night of this week at the Boston Arena, is a persistent little fellow and can take an awful punch. In his scrap with Perry Brooks two weeks ago the Boston lad hit him nearly out on two occasions but Lustig recuperated quickly and followed Brooks all around the ring. Lustig hasn't a punch but he uses what he has all the time. He is very clever, especially in the ducking part of the game.

There is some talk about Jim Johnson and Sam Langford being romanced at the Atlas A. A. The last bout pleased the crowd beyond a doubt. It is safe to say that neither Joe Woodman nor Langford himself will agree to having George Twohey officiate at the next encounter between the huge blacks. The last affair was Langford's yet the decision was a draw.

Gardner Brooks will have great difficulty in finding anyone in New England who will box him this winter. His decisive defeat of Barney Snyder will make other New Englanders think long and seriously before taking a chance with the Lowell bantam weight. The boy who makes up his mind to enter the ring with young Brooks knows well what a face massage Gardner's long reach is going to effect.

Steve Kennedy, the Lawrence light weight, will probably resume boxing before long. The down river scrapper, when in condition is a tough proposition for any of them in these parts. He has been in shape when he boxed with his brother the past two years there would have been very few decisions against him.

POPE AWAITING REPORT

Why Consider Protest on Getting Facts About the Destruction of the Beautiful Gothic Cathedral

ROME, Via. Paris, Sept. 24.—The Vatican, according to the Roma newspapers, is awaiting authentic information concerning the bombardment of Rheims before considering a protest.

It has been asserted that Pope Benedict telegraphed the German and Austrian emperors, deploring the damage done to the cathedral at Rheims. The Vatican, however, declines to confirm or deny this assertion, saying that it will publish through its own proper channels what steps have been taken when the opportune moment arrives.

THE BRITISH AMERICANS

ORGANIZE TO AID WIDOWS AND ORPHANS LEFT PENNILESS BY THE WAR

A meeting of British-Americans of this city was held at Grafton hall last night and the affair was largely attended. The purpose of the meeting was to form an organization to raise money in this city for the widows and orphans who lose their husbands and fathers in the great European conflict.

The meeting was called to order by Henry Wisby and what is known as the British-American Social club was organized with the following officers: President, Nell McNeil Watters; vice president, George Camp; secretary, N. W. Matthews, Jr.; treasurer, John S. Breckenridge. The above officers, together with Alexander Rue, Henry Wisby, John S. Jackson, William A. An, Andrew Mowatt and George Embley, Jr., comprise the executive committee.

The club is non-political and was organized with the same spirit that brought the organization of similar societies in Lawrence, Providence and other places. Although the prime object of the club is the raising of money for the relief of British subjects, the executive committee wishes to state that no one has been authorized as yet to collect money. The next meeting of the organization will be announced through the press.

PAUL STRAND IS DECLARED TO BE MOST PROMISING YOUNG SOUTHPAW

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Paul Strand, who will not be twenty years old until Dec. 10, is declared by many observers to be the most promising young southpaw in the National league. "He has more 'stuff' on the ball than any left handed I have seen," said George Whitted recently in discussing Stallings' pitching staff, "and I do not except Rube Marquard in his best form. Of course Strand is not a finished pitcher. He has not had the experience that is required to put a pitcher in the top class. But he has a curve that breaks sharply, and his speed is amazing. Just watch him next year." Other players on the Braves' roster agree with Whitted regarding the ability shown by Strand, who comes from the state of Washington.

HIGH SCHOOL SESSION

WORK IN AFTERNOON SUSPENDED ON ACCOUNT OF THE GREAT HEAT

The afternoon session of the high school, which the first year scholars are obliged to attend, was abbreviated yesterday on account of the excessive heat. On the sunny side of the building the thermometers registered as high as 91 degrees and at 2:55 o'clock it was decided to close for the rest of the day. The usual afternoon session adjourns at 4 o'clock.

HEBREW STORES REOPEN

AFTER BUSINESS SUSPENSION OF TWO DAYS DURING OBSERVANCE OF ROSH HASSONAH

The observance of Rosh Hassonah, the Jewish New Year, which opened at sunset on Sunday evening closed Tuesday evening for the Orthodox Jews and as a result the Jewish business establishments in this city reopened until the feast of the Yom Kippur which will be celebrated the last day of the month.

Besides the services at the synagogues yesterday services were held in all the penal institutions in the state, where the required quorum, according to the Jewish law, was present. The services were conducted by volunteer Jewish rabbis and laymen.

ELECTED OFFICERS

The members of L'Union Samuel de Champlain, F. F. A., held the election of officers Tuesday at C. M. C. Hall and the following were chosen for the ensuing year:

Camille Ayotte, president; Joseph Lafortune, vice president; Paul Vigeant, treasurer; Arthur Lavole, financial secretary; Edmond Lambert recording secretary; Narelle Feather, Francois Deschene, guards; Adolphe Beaulieu and Arthur Chabanne, sentinels; Isidore Teillac, Telephone Rainville and Diondanne Desmarais, trustees; Joseph Parent, dean. The installation of the new officers will be held on Oct. 6th.

FOREIGNERS SAFE IN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Paul Fuller, who recently returned from a mission to Mexico as President Wilson's representative reported to the president today, he did not believe there was any serious danger to foreigners in Mexico, and that progress was being made as rapidly as possible in pacifying the country. He did not believe there was a break between General Villa and General Obregon.

SUBVISED A DISTURBER

Mayor Murphy yesterday called an officer to remove a man who persisted in asking questions at the municipal council meeting after he was told to keep quiet and preserve order. He subsided only when the officer reached his side ready to lead him from the chamber.

WILL GET BUSINESS—LOWELL MAN RECEIVES LETTER FROM ENGLISH FIRM

That the European war will bring prosperity to American manufacturers is evidenced in a letter received by a Lowell man this month relative to certain cast steel products.

An English firm, and in fact one of the most important firms in England, manufacturing machine cut gears, wrote a Lowell man who prefers that his name be omitted, asking for information as to reliable manufacturers of steel castings in this country. The Lowell man is a civil engineer of standing and his name is known abroad. The English company wrote that it required quotations for cast steel disc fly-wheels and gave a list of specifications. It stated that fly-wheels have been imported to England from Germany as was other big machinery used in the numerous industries in England. The letter states that there is difficulty in getting them in England, hence information regarding American manufacturers is sought. The Lowell man immediately answered giving the names of a number of reliable American manufacturers. This shows that there really is a demand for American made goods as a result of the war.

BRIDE WON IN TWO HOURS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—A two-hour courtship with a background of navy uniforms and tropical islands was revealed here yesterday in the marriage of Miss Florence Herbert and Paul Owen Trolong, wealthy oil man of Oakesfield.

A cablegram sent to the bride's father, Capt. Herbert, Quartermaster's Corps, U. S. N., at Manila, was the first that many friends of the young couple had of their matrimonial intentions.

In San Jose where they are honeymooning, the newly wedded pair said their courtship had taken just two hours. The bridegroom is the son of the late Chief Justice of the supreme court in Manila.

DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan conferred today on diplomatic appointments agreeing, it is understood, to name Frederick Jessup Simpson, lawyer, novelist and professor at Harvard university, to fill the vacant ambassador in Argentina and to promote Homer Fletcher, now minister to Chile to be ambassador to that country. Both posts recently were raised from legations to embassies.

TWO STILL ALARMS

A telephone alarm sounded before 2 o'clock yesterday called the members of Hose 11 to Thompson's box factory where the lurid rays of the sun had started a fire in a pile of kindling wood. The damage was slight.

About the same time a man rushed into the Central fire station and notified the firemen of a blaze in the building in Middle street, near the corner of Palmer street. The fire fighters were at the scene of action in quick time and checked the flames before any serious damage was done.

DROP IN COTTON

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 23.—The cotton exchange directors have decided that after ten a. m. tomorrow the price of cotton of January and February delivery will be 5.25 pence, a reduction of 25 points.

GAS ON THE STOMACH

Flatulence, or gas in the digestive tract is an annoying accompaniment of intestinal indigestion and constipation. As a rule it indicates that food is being retained in the stomach and intestines longer than nature intended.

When colicky pains accompany the presence of gas the need of a gentle laxative to clear away the offending food residue is imperative. If the condition of constipation is not quickly corrected a coated tongue, eruptions on the skin, headaches and backaches soon show that the poisons have found their way into the circulation. The use of the gentle laxative pills Pinklets, will not only banish these unpleasant symptoms quickly but, if used regularly for a reasonable time, will really correct chronic constipation.

Pinklets are not like harsh purgatives that leave the bowels dry and in the end worse than before. Pinklets gently assist nature, never gripe and are so small and easy to take that they are known as the daily laxative. Your own druggist can supply you with Pinklets or they will be sent by mail postpaid, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 25c per bottle. Send for the book "The Daily Laxative," telling how to treat constipation.

THAT HEATING JOB AGAIN IS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS A PRIEST

It Will Be Finished by Nov. 1—Com. Morse Threatens to Shut Down—New Bandstand

According to Francis A. Connor, superintendent of the public building department, the new high school annex will be ready for occupancy on Nov. 1.

Commissioner Donnelly this morning received word from the department of buildings of the state police that the commissioners in charge of this department had agreed on a heating system plan and the same was forwarded to Lowell.

This system provides for the drawing of clean air from the outside, which is put through a fresh air chamber and then it is heated through tempering coils. Then the air is sent through the ducts to the rooms. Another set of ducts in the entrance of which are fans, remove the air out of the room. This is by far a cheaper system than the indirect and will prove as efficient. Commissioner Donnelly has called for bids for the installation of the heating system and they will be opened Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The commissioner has received assurances from outside steam fitting firms that the work can be done between now and Nov. 1, and accordingly a limit will be placed in the contract.

Band Stand

Commissioner Donnelly hopes a concert will be given from the new band stand on the South common this year. The stand is practically finished with the exception of the tile roof, which was shipped from Lexington, O., Aug. 26, and which should have reached this city ten days later. Mr. Donnelly stated this morning he hopes the mayor has enough money left for a concert before the snow flies.

Commissioner Morse Talks

Commenting upon the money expendent for street work this year, Mr. Morse said the sewer department last year was given $75,000 and later $5000 more for the Riverside street sewer. The $75,000 was spent and about half the other appropriation was done away with. "When I took charge of the department," said Mr. Morse, "I had about $2100 left from the $5500 for the Riverside street sewer and the government later allowed me $50,000 for all sewer jobs. I was allowed about $52,000 for the sewer work, while in 1913 the commissioner of my department had about $78,000 to carry his sewer work through. I will need more money and if I don't get it I will shut down the jobs."

Men Laid Off

Forty-eight men who were employed on the erection of the filtration plant for the water department on the boulevard were laid off a few days ago. Supt. Thomas stated this morning the men were laid off because the excavation was progressing too rapidly for the other work. However, the men were laid off at the request of Frank H. Barber, the expert engineer. Mr. Barber has given estimates as to the cost of the construction of the said plant and in order to be able to put the work through at a cost not exceeding that mentioned in the estimate, Mr. Barber has deemed it advisable to discontinue with the services of about 48 men and at his request the men were laid off.

Notoring

City Treasurer Andrew G. Siles is enjoying a well earned vacation in touring the state of Vermont in his automobile. Mr. Siles who recently has acted as auctioneer at city hall is undoubtedly tired and he will rest in the Granite State for a few days.

TERMS THE WAR ABSURD

NATIONS INCONSISTENT IN CALLING ON SAME GOD TO WIN BATTLES

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 24.—The absurdity of a nation's sending out a force of armed men to injure and kill fellowmen and at the same time call on God to win the battle, was pointed out by President Faunce of Brown university at the opening exercises of the year yesterday.

Mr. Faunce, in discussing the war, declared that the church should point its unreason. He said: "It is absurd for armed men aiming at each other's hearts to call on the same God to make their aim true and send their bullets home. The old polytheism was more consistent. When the Goths and Vandals sacked Rome they did not ask the Roman gods to help them do it."

"It is irrational for Europe to dread for decades the 'yellow peril' and to ravage European soil."

"It is irrational for Europe to dread for centuries the 'Mohammedan peril' and then attempt to justify a holy war, in order to protect European culture."

Dr. Faunce, in closing, President Wilson's plea for neutrality before the eyes and putting conscience to sleep."

WENT DOWN ON LEGGETT

HARRY OTTO, WIRELESS OPERATOR, FORMERLY OF LAWRENCE, DROWNED

LAWRENCE, Sept. 24.—Herman Otto, Jr., of 411 High street, has received word that his brother, Harry, formerly of this city, wireless operator aboard the steamer Francis H. Leggett, was drowned when the vessel went down off the coast of Oregon.

Young Otto was making his first trip on the steamer. He was born in Lawrence 21 years ago and after attending the public schools took up the study of wireless telegraphy. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Otto, live in Stockton, Cal. Three sisters and two brothers survive him.

FREEMAN BADLY HURT

LEXINGTON FARMER KNOCKED DOWN AND DRAGGED SEVERAL FEET BY AUTO

LEXINGTON, Sept. 24.—George Freeman, an Adams street farmer, was knocked down and dragged several feet beneath an automobile driven by Chas. G. Stebbins of 12 Hancock avenue at dusk last night. He suffered two broken ribs and probably internal injuries.

Mr. Freeman had loaded his team with farm produce preparatory to driving to market in Boston. At his command and without guidance the horse walked out of the driveway to Adams street. Mr. Freeman walking at the rear of the wagon in order to hold some boxes secure until he might bind the load with rope when the street was reached.

Stebbins saw Freeman's position only when the automobile was within a few feet of the farmer. He tried in vain to avoid hitting him by swinging the car toward the sidewalk. Before it could be brought to a stop the car bumped into a lamppost. The hood was slightly damaged.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

MEMBERS OF THE ZIONIST AND OTHER SOCIETIES PAY TRIBUTE TO THE LATE DAVID WOLFSOHN

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Brunswick hall was crowded last evening by members of the local Zionist societies and other Jewish organizations, the occasion being a memorial service for David Wolfssohn, who died at Cologne, Germany, after a brief illness.

Mr. Wolfssohn was one of the originators of the present Zionist movement. He was the president of the Zionist Colonial Trust, the Zionist bank, and was the successor of Dr. Herzl as president of the World's Zionist congress held in Vienna last year. At the meeting, and the speakers, Jacob de Haas, Julius Meyer and Dr. J. Epstein, all knew Mr. Wolfssohn personally. Dr. Epstein was sent to America from the plague by Mr. Wolfssohn just before the latter's death.

FIVE WOMEN ARRAIGNED

IN LAWRENCE FOR PRACTICE OF MIDWIFERY IN THAT CITY, TUESDAY

LAWRENCE, Sept. 24.—In connection with the state-wide crusade against the practice of midwifery, five women were brought into district court before Judge Mahoney Tuesday morning on charges of practicing medicine without being registered and representing themselves to be physicians. The cases were brought into court by State Officer Fred F. Flynn. Counsel for the defense asked for bill of particulars, and the cases were continued for a week. The defendants are: Mrs. Hedwig Himmer, Virginia Pedronzini, Minnie Richman, Laura Carpenito, and Antonia Dyke.

Attorneys Louis S. Cox, A. X. Dooley, Raphael A. A. Comparone, and John A. O'Mahoney appear as counsel for the defense.

The complaints are brought under the provisions of chapter 75, section 8 of the revised laws. The crusade against the practice has been instituted because of a marked increase in blindness of infants caused by ophthalmia. The statute provides that persons found guilty shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, imprisonment for three months, or both.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT

Beginning October 1, the dining apartments at the Yale Chambers, 115 Nesmith street, will be conducted under new management. There will be maintained a substantial bill of entirely home cooking, served with special care and attention to the wants of our patrons.

MANY TREES DESTROYED

BEVERLY, Sept. 24.—The woods fire in the vicinity of Brimball avenue continues. It is feared that the firemen will be unable to extinguish it until there is a rainfall. Three steam power spraying machines are aiding the firemen. Nearly three miles of woods have been burned and several hundred large trees destroyed.

ST. LOUIS PARISH HONORS ITS PASTOR, REV. J. B. LABOSSIERE

On the Silver Jubilee of His Ordination; Large Attendance at Service

Many Clergymen and Other Friends Join in Congratulating Pastor

REV. J. B. LABOSSIERE, Pastor.

REV. J. B. LABOSSIERE, Pastor.

REV. J. B. LABOSSIERE, Pastor.

Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor of St. Louis church, is today the object of a great demonstration on the occasion of his silver jubilee. A number of his former parishioners from Amesbury and Newburyport, as well as a large number of clergymen from other cities and from Canada called on him this morning to offer congratulations and best wishes. The program of the celebration this morning consisted of a solemn high mass, followed by a dinner at the rectory for the visiting clergymen. This evening a parish reunion will take place in the parish school hall in Boliver street, where an entertainment will be given by the pupils under the direction of the Sisters of the Assumption. At this reunion the beloved pastor will be presented a purse, a gift from the parish, the presentation to be made by John H. Beaulieu.

The little cozy church in Boliver street was filled to its utmost shortly before 10 o'clock, the time set for the church service, among the congregation being Miss Oville Labossiere, Miss Osthe Labossiere, Miss Alexina Labossiere and Mr. Euclide Labossiere, sisters and brother of the pastor, all from Marlboro, as well as Fr. Labossiere's niece and nephew, Miss Anna Guertin and Mr. Euclide Guertin, also of Marlboro. There were large delegations from Amesbury and Newburyport, where for a number of years Fr. Labossiere has been in charge of the French Catholic churches.

The divine service was started shortly after 10 o'clock, the celebrant being Rev. Fr. Labossiere, assisted by Rev. George Rivinville of Salem as deacon and Rev. J. M. Levesque of Newburyport as sub-deacon. The master of ceremonies was Rev. L. C. Bedard, assistant pastor of St. Louis church. Dr. Rev. Bishop Henri de Silva, D. D., who was present in the sanctuary was attended by Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church, this city, and Rev. J. J. Richard of Nashua, N. H.

In accordance with the wishes of the pastor the interior of the church was not decorated, but the altar was a mass of beautiful flowers and plants as well as hundreds of electric bulbs and lighted tapers. A part of the pews of the centre aisle had been reserved for the visiting clergymen. The ushers at the church were Henri P. Boudreau, Marcel Roussel and George Dion.

The choir under the direction of Oiler J. David and augmented for the occasion rendered beautiful music, accompanied by Biron's orchestra, Edwin Biron, conductor. The solos of the mass were sustained by Misses Clemence Simard, Alice Pratte and Bernadette Fontaine, and Messrs. Isidore Michaud, Telesphore Malo, Ursula Favreau and O. J. David. Miss Ida Mongrain, president of the St. Louis choir, rendered Misses Clemence Simard and Bernadette Fontaine rendered in splendid voice Lambillotti's "Justus Ut Palma Floribit."

The sermon, an eloquent discourse on the topic of the day, "The Silver Jubilee of a Beloved Pastor," was delivered by Rev. J. C. Caisse, pastor at Marlboro, a close friend of Fr. Labossiere. The reverend gentleman who was a classmate of St. Wilfrid Laurier, former premier of Canada, is a brilliant pulpit orator and his sermon which was a real treat was listened to with deep interest. Fr. Caisse reviewed the labors of Fr. Labossiere.

The committees in charge of the celebration, headed by Rev. L. C. Bedard, were as follows:

Ladies—Mrs. Alfred Gosselin, chairman; Mrs. Wilfrid Gendreau, treasurer; Miss Rose Caron, secretary; Mrs. James A. Charron, O. Caron, A. Caron, J. Masse, Jr., J. Masse, Sr., Servile Ronald, A. # LATE WAR BULLETINS

ENGLISH PAPER PRINTS LINCOLN'S PLEA

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Spectator, in an article on "President Lincoln and Compulsory Service," gives verbatim Lincoln's plea for the draft as taken from John Hay's biography of Lincoln.

The paper says that while England is likely to get only a million men without conscription, it is obviously better to leave things as they are during the war "even though the voluntary system acts with a good deal of untidiness and places a heavy burden on willing shoulders."

"We put Lincoln's words forward," says the Spectator, "not for immediate needs, but because they are so wise and stimulating and because, at the moment, people will really listen on a question of universal service."

GERMANS SUFFER GREAT DEFEAT AT SUBIR

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Paris Matin prints a de-patch from Petrograd stating that the Germans who drove General Rennenkampf back into Russia are reported to have suffered a great defeat at Subir. The Russians have reoccupied Subir in East Prussia on the Polish frontier. It is stated that the Germans are evacuating East Prussia to reinforce the line from Thorn, in West Prussia on the border of Poland, to Kalisz.

CASUALTIES OF OFFICERS ABOARD BRITISH CRUISERS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The admiralty in publishing a list of the casualties of officers serving aboard the cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, which were blown up and sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, says:

"Not being among those saved, it must, therefore, be presumed that they lost their lives."

The list contains 24 names from the Aboukir, 25 from the Cressy and 11 from the Hogue.

In the list of officers saved appear the names of Captain John E. Drummond of the Aboukir and Captain Wilmet Nicholson of the Hogue.

They are strongly fortifying the Czestochow-Kalisz line and also portions of the country further north at the same time acting on the defensive. At Votavlav and Minsk they have hitherto been more active but now are concentrating at these points. A German advance on

BLAIS INSANE

He Will be Committed to the State Hospital for Insane

Joseph W. Blais, who murdered his wife in this city, has been declared insane by a committee of alienists appointed by the court.

William A. Hogan has received official notification from Judge Keating of the superior court of his appointment as counsel for Blais. Mr. Hogan, up to the time of the notification, appeared for Blais at the alleged murderer's solicitation.

After the man's arrest there were some doubts entertained by the officials who had him in charge as to his insanity. He was transferred from the local jail to the Worcester insane asylum for observation.

Last week Dr. Denner of this city and Dr. Eiley of Boston were appointed by the superior court as a lunacy commission to report definitely on Blais' mental condition. The two alienists, after a thorough examination which took several days, declared the man insane.

It is expected that a jury will be impaneled next week which will order Blais' commitment to state hospital for the criminal insane at Bridgewater.

NUMBER OF WOUNDED

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS STRUCK BY IN BATTLES, REPORTS DIRECTOR RICKNELL

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The number of wounded in battle in Europe is already in the hundreds of thousands, the hospitals of Paris and Berlin and outposts on the battlefields and churches are filled, and many other wounded lie exposed in trenches, according to Ernest P. Ricknell, national director of the American Red Cross, who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Olympic from Liverpool.

Mr. Ricknell, who left New York on the armored cruiser Tennessee, which carried gold to Americans in need in Europe, spent several weeks observing conditions in the countries at war.

"Official reports give little definite information of the losses, but the number of wounded is already in the hundreds of thousands," Mr. Ricknell said. "The truth is that over the thousands of square miles already battle-swept there have been left almost countless thousands of men helpless from shattered wounds. Some have been gathered into trains by the Red Cross surgeons and nurses and taken to hospitals in the larger cities."

"Into Paris and Berlin thousands have already been brought, and one by one the hospitals have been filled and public and private buildings have been utilized for the wounded, but still the numbers increase."

Some of the wounded were taken into cottages on the battlefields and the churches, but still there are thousands who lie in the trenches and in the fields suffering from thirst and exposure.

"Let no man imagine the American Red Cross can do too much or enough. Nurses and surgeons are needed more and more and also medical and hospital supplies."

CHARETTE PAID TRIBUTE RUSSIA COMPLETES COLOSSAL OPERATION

GEORGE CHARETTE,
Chief Gunner U. S. N.

By Lieut. Com. Hobson—Lowell Man Now in Asiatic Waters Will Return for Christmas Holidays

George Charette of this city, chief gunner aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, is now located in the Asiatic stations, according to information received from Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who is deeply interested in the welfare of the hero of the U. S. S. Merrimack, and who will be home in Lowell for his Christmas dinner.

On Sept. 18, an item was published in The Sun in reference to the whereabouts of George Charette, it being stated that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Charette of Gersham avenue were very anxious about their son, not having received news from him for several months, while they expected he would return to Lowell in July, when his term of 30 years' service expired.

The congressman, who was in Washington when the item was published, and who by the way, receives The Sun daily, became interested after reading the item and immediately interviewed Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation in the navy department, and the information received was to the effect that Mr. Charette is still aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, located in the Asiatic stations. The ship has no regular course to follow, but steams around China and Japan.

The rear admiral also informed the congressman that recent plans were to order Mr. Charette to his home in November or December, and unless plans are changed the hero of the Merrimack will attend the Christmas dinner at the home of his parents.

Referring to George Charette it may be of local interest to read a short address delivered recently in the house of congress by Congressman Hobson, who was in charge of the expedition that sank the Merrimack in the port of Santiago during the Spanish-American war. Congressman Hobson had occasion to speak about the young heroes who gave up their lives in the recent Mexican trouble and he also dwelt at length on the sinking of the Merrimack, making special reference to the Lowell man.

His address was in part as follows: "A matter came up—a little incident; a little expedition—in my day. Being a naval constructor, knowing how to build ships, I naturally knew how to sink ships. The question of sinking a ship came up, and naturally I wanted to be associated with it. Seven men were wanted, and Admiral Sampson issued a call for seven men. The call was issued by signal from the flagship, and more than a thousand responded.

"The main trouble I had from that time to the time we started in was in refusing the appeals of men—who had been my old shipmates, pleading with me on personal grounds, others on other grounds, all begging me to let them go in. Yes, young Polinett and his comrades, who so gladly gave up their young lives in the Mexican trouble, make me think of those seven men as they lay with me on the deck as the ship was slowly sinking. Only two torpedoes went off. We had 10, but the wiring and the batteries connected with the others had been broken and cut away and crushed before the time came to fire them. Only two went off. So we went down slowly right under the muzzles of their cannon. The original plan was that after firing the torpedoes we would quickly get away from the ship in the lifeboat and thus try to escape; but the lifeboat was shot away, and I changed my plan entirely, but did not explain it to them.

"Well do I remember those seven men—there, Shell, followed, shell, tearing everything to pieces above us, on both sides of us. My men would say, 'Now, can we be off?' I would say, 'No, no man move until further orders.' When the boiler went up they asked, 'Can we go?' I said, 'No man will move until further orders.' At last the ship gave a lurch, just before she was going down, and heaved as though she would turn, over on us, and we heard the gurgling and the rushing sound of the whirlpool approaching, and they asked, 'Can we get off now?' and I said, 'No, stay with me.' And they stayed with me, gentlemen, every last one of them, and went down with me, no man knowing whether he would ever come up again.

"Now, I have another little memory—an aftermath thought that comes up. By 11 o'clock that day we were in the Morro. All the men were in one cell—seven men in one dark cell. I knew it was a question of their health, and I called upon the commandant to let one of them come to me for instructions about taking care of their health. They sent George Charette of Lowell. After he got his instructions he put his heels together and saluted and said, 'Sir, the men asked me to bring you a message.' It looked as though they were getting ready to execute me. Everything looked that way. There was that one chance to send me a message. What do you suppose that message was?

"I will not describe how we had stayed in the water after we came up, clinging to the edges of an old raft, with our bodies submerged, hiding as the Spanishs in launches closed in around us. My men knew they would kill us if they discovered us. For hours we remained. Again and again the men wanted to dive and swim away, each one for himself, but I would not consent, but just told them to stand by me, and they stayed. Now you would think that a man once going through an experience like that would never want to go into it again. The message they sent to me was this—I can see Charette, with his heels together, as he said: 'Sir, the men asked me to tell you that they would go in with you again tonight.'

SEVEN HOURS DEBATE

WAR REVENUE BILL WILL PROBABLY PASS HOUSE TOMORROW—SHIP BILL NEXT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A special rule limiting debate on the war revenue bill to seven hours and barring amendments was agreed upon late yesterday by the house rules committee. A vote on the bill probably will be reached Friday.

The committee also agreed upon a rule to make next in order for consideration the Alexander bill for the purchase, building and operation of ships by a company to be organized by the government. It would allow eight hours of general debate and opportunity for amendment. Chairman Henry was authorized to call up the bill at his discretion. The recent omnibus rule for expediting all of the conservative bills, several of which have been passed, was vacated and it was agreed that the radium bill should be called up as a privileged measure whenever it might be deemed advisable.

ATHOL BOY IS INJURED
ATHOL, Sept. 23.—During the firemen's parade this evening, Kenneth Ledrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urbane Ledrew of Tremont street, was run over by the auto of E. H. Solidge of Orange. The boy ran directly across the street into the path of the machine, which was proceeding slowly. General Sec. Barry of the Y. M. C. A. picked up the lad, who was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Bolton. It was found no bones were broken, but both knees, his head and shoulder were more or less injured.

Greatest Ever Undertaken by a Military Power—By Her Conquests in Galicia She Controls the Greatest Supply of Gasoline in Europe—The Russian Movement Now Described as a Huge Wedge—Her Sources of Supply Well Protected

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Virtually no new information has reached London this morning concerning the progress of events in the western war era, but from the east comes news which here is taken to show that Russia has almost completed the first stage of what may be considered in its entirety the most colossal operation ever undertaken by a military power.

The fall of the Austrian fortress of Jaroslau virtually completes the investment of Przemyśl so far as lines of communication are concerned. Even the continued occupation of Cracow by Austrian and German forces has not aided in that junction of Austrian and German armies which is necessary to keep Russia from overrunning Galicia and from pushing the armies of Austria back to the ridge of the Carpathians. By her conquests in Galicia Russia now controls the greatest supply of gasoline in Europe. This product is of the utmost importance to Russia because of her necessity for motor transport.

The Russian movement is now described as a huge wedge, the right line of which extends roughly from Lubau on the Baltic, along the railroad line to Warsaw. The Russian general, Rennenkampf, is guarding this line. It protects the Russian sources of supply and prevents any outflanking movement against the Russian army attack, which already, according to news in London, is beginning to operate in the direction of Posen and Breslau in Germany. The occupation of Galicia links up the Warsaw railroad system and is regarded in London as insuring both supplies and reinforcements for the attacking army.

That the stage is virtually set for this attack is indicated by the news that the Germans are hastily reinforcing their line between Thorn and Kalisz, this latter point being south-southeast of Posen, even to the extent of abandoning their positions against Gen. Rennenkampf. Not only have the Russians cut off Austria's domestic supply of gasoline, but the

GOLDEN QUITS LABOR BOARD

Says He Found Himself
Always in the Minority

Appointment of Mulready in His Absence Specific Reason

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers' Union, started the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., yesterday afternoon by announcing that he had resigned as the representative of organized labor on the state board of labor and industries.

The announcement came in the midst of an address on conditions in the textile industry. For a minute the hundreds of men and women in the hall sat news from Roumania that the exportation of coal to Austria has been forbidden may be followed, it is held here, by a similar measure regarding gasoline. This would virtually deprive Austria and her ally of this very necessary product for their auto transport and aerial service.

With all the necessary motor transport, together with absolute command of her few railroads which are no longer threatened by invaders, British observers expect Russia to continue to move with that rapidity which in the past has amazed English military experts. It has been predicted that on account of her lack of railroad facilities Russia would take six months to get as many men into the field as she has already stationed along the line of this great wedge in two months' time.

Combined Montenegrin and Serbian forces are said today to be in occupation of the entire southeast section of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

No official confirmation has been received by Russian sources of the report that a Russian cruiser has destroyed a German cruiser and two torpedo boats in the Baltic.

The British public this morning is expressing elation at the feat of British airmen of having dropped bombs on supply sheds near Cologne and confidence is growing that Great Britain is better protected than hitherto has been believed from an aerial assault by Germany.

In Belgium, the defenders and invaders hold their relative positions without change, but many reports are being transmitted to England that the Germans are feverishly entrenching along their line of communications.

RUSSIAN OPERATIONS BEING DIRECTED WITH A VIEW TO CAPTURE OF KHYRUV

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—"All possibility of the Austro-German forces near Przemyśl effecting a junction with the other armies further west has now been excluded, as the Russians have reached the river Wislok," says a despatch from Petrograd to the Morning Post. The message continues:

"To the south of Przemyśl the Russian operations are being directed with a view to the capture of Khyruv, a junction station 20 miles south of Przemyśl which will completely cut off the Austrians' last Galician fortress from communication in any direction and give the Russians command of all routes towards Cracow and the lines passing into Hungary.

"The position now held indicates the rolling up of the Austrian forces right up to Cracow. It is believed here now that the investment of Przemyśl has been practically completed and that another week at least will bring news of the final crushing of the Austro-German forces."

GERMANS PRACTICALLY IN TOUCH WITH THE FRENCH 13TH ARMY CORPS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The correspondent of the Times in France reports that Uhlan yesterday blew up the railroad bridge at Miramont between Amiens and Arras. He adds: "We are certainly on the eve of great events in this region where the enemy is being gradually pushed out by the Germans who are still strong beyond a line drawn roughly from St. Amand through Donain, Bouchain and Cambrai.

"The Germans are practically in touch with the French 13th army corps at Conchelette and Arras, where fighting may be expected."

without a sound, but when he tried to explain his reasons for his resignation he was unopposed to stop because of the cheers and applause.

After telling of the conditions in the southern textile mills and the fight that he had waged to change them, Mr. Golden said: "When Pres. Alden introduced me to this convention I was introduced as a member of the Massachusetts board of labor and industries. 'This introduction was an innocent mistake because at 11 o'clock this morning I had consented to be a member of this board, because at that time I sent my resignation to Gov. Walsh.'

"Effort after effort has been made by organized labor to secure legislation for the betterment of the working men and women. We secured the board of labor and industries. We demanded a commissioner to shoulder the responsibilities of the position, a man with a union card, who would have a heart in his work and an interest in bettering the conditions of his fellowmen.

"In place of our requests and demands, a commission was appointed. This commission did not live out its natural life, and this year a new commission was appointed, with the reappointment of only one member of the former commission, a woman.

"I was appointed to the new board, and from my experience there I have nothing but words of praise for the woman member, who had the courage at all times to stand up and fight for her rights and the rights of the men and women whom the board was appointed to care for.

"But, after I pass her, I will say no more, as I believe that the others try, but they don't know what they are trying to do, as their hearts are not in sympathy with the work; but if they are, they are not in the right place.

"I learned this for certain when I recently returned from the west and found that the board had during my absence from the state, saddled onto us for five years, as commissioner of labor, the man who is now in the position. I took the only course that was open for me to take, and that was to turn in my resignation, which I did today, and which took effect immediately on being presented.

Single Commissioner Needed

"I am satisfied after practical experience that the commission form of handling labor laws is wrong, because no matter what kind of men or women are on this commission, the labor representative is always in the minority and is treated as such.

"I am convinced that the fight of organized labor against the commission is right, and the only way to administer the labor laws is by a single commissioner, a man who carries a union card and knows from experience, what to do, and who has a heart and a head clear enough to do right."

Immigration After War

"Commissioner John B. Lennon told me that he had been informed that other than San Francisco, Boston was the worst offender in the country for Chinese smuggling. I want to say that the Chinese immigration laws are now being enforced better in Boston, than they have been for a number of years.

"Nothing is so corrupt as Chinese smuggling, and when we complete our investigations and get the evidence which we are now after, we will make revelations which will startle the country, owing to the positions in society which some of the persons we will get occupy.

"Following this present European war we will get multitudes of aliens, many more than flowed into this country after the war of 1870. In an effort to prevent this it is up to you members of organized labor to get busy on the laws and take advantage of the present conditions."

Withheld From Governor

John Golden of Fall River, president of the United Textile Workers' union, yesterday sent his resignation to Gov. Walsh as a member of the state board of labor and industries. Because of the fact that the governor is still a patient at the hospital his office force did not feel like disturbing him about it or making the contents of the letter public without the governor's permission.

Following is the official statement issued by the board:

"Mr. Golden's statement that he had sent his resignation to the governor came as a great surprise to his fellow members of the state board of labor and industries, and when he was asked his reasons he stated that he had the greatest respect for the individual members of the board and felt that they acted according to the dictates of their consciences in all their decisions, including the appointment of a commissioner of labor, Mr. Edwin Mulready, who was a neutral position as far as capital and labor are concerned; but that he (Mr. Golden) represented organized labor, and in the board refusing to appoint a man for commissioner of labor for the state of Massachusetts who was actively connected with organized labor such action placed him out of tune with the work of the board, and that he (Mr. Golden) felt that he could no longer continue to serve on the board.

"The state board of labor and industries expressed great regrets that Mr. Golden felt he could no longer continue to give to the state, as a member of the board, his valuable assistance in the good work they were doing."

RELIEF FUND ON SCORPION

GOLD FROM CRUISER NORTH CAROLINA TO BE MINTED AT CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, via London, Sept. 24.—The United States despatch boat Scorpion returned here yesterday from Tenedos, near the entrance to the Dardanelles. She brought Capt. Williams of the American army, who has with him $400,000 advanced by the American government to American educational and benevolent institutions in Turkey.

This money was sent forward by the American cruiser north Carolina, which made the transfer at Tenedos. The North Carolina is now on her way to Jaffa.

This gold is to be minted into Turkish pounds. Its equivalent was placed yesterday by the Ottoman bank at the disposal of Henry Morgenthau, the American ambassador.

POST-SEASON AVERAGES

O'Connell Leads Players of Both Teams With the Willow and Has Perfect Fielding Record

The averages for the victorious Lawrence team during the post-season series with New London have just been computed by Billy Ferris, official scorer of the New England league and also the official in this series. Danny O'Connell, the best Lawrence center fielder, leads the hitters with an average of .381 while his fielding average is perfect. O'Connell did not make an error in any of his 11 games, driving the ball over the fence in one game for a homer.

Rock and Warner are the two real leaders of the New London club with .316 each, although Barberich and Martin hit for .333 in a single game. Rock batted for 394 while Warner's work in the field gave him an average of .970. Thompson and Fuller each won two games for Lawrence. Alex Pearson, the only other twirler used by Manager Pieper, lost both games in which he pitched. Powers pitched both of New London's victories and also lost the last contest.

The averages of both teams follow in full:

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

The players' share for the winners of this year's post-season series amounted to $100.00 for each man. The New London club decided the loser's forty per cent among seven players, each of them receiving $5.71.

It's pretty much of a cinch now for the Braves. Although Stallings' men only split even yesterday, the Giants slumped twice before the outslaugths of the St. Louis club. It was the first time this season that New York has twice been defeated in one day.

Joe Tinker is finding it difficult to keep up with the Indianapolis team. Baltimore proved a stumbling block for the Chicago yesterday and Chicago for the Chicago yesterday. Tinker's team is now a full game in the rear of the Indians. Tinker's team has been afflicted with poor eyesight during the past week, base hits being at a premium.

From now on it is quite probable that Manager Stallings will give his three great pitchers, Tyler, Johnson and Radolph, as much rest as possible. Davis was sent in for the second game yesterday and worked well up until the last inning when Cincinnati scored three runs.

The Red Sox did fail to finish close to the Athletics although they have a few supporters for the pennant. Still, such a thing is possible and a half-rigged team is now five and a half games behind but it behooves Connie Mack to win every ball game.

Home runs were responsible for Philadelphia's win over the Cubs yesterday. The final score was 3-3 and seven of the Phillies' rallies were the result of home run drives. Cravath twice lifted the ball out of the park and Becker got in a four base knock.

The coaching staff and several members of the Harvard football squad were guests of President Giffney at the Fenway park yesterday in the first game of the double header. The stadium will be poorly patronized Saturday when the Braves and Athletics play their world series contest.

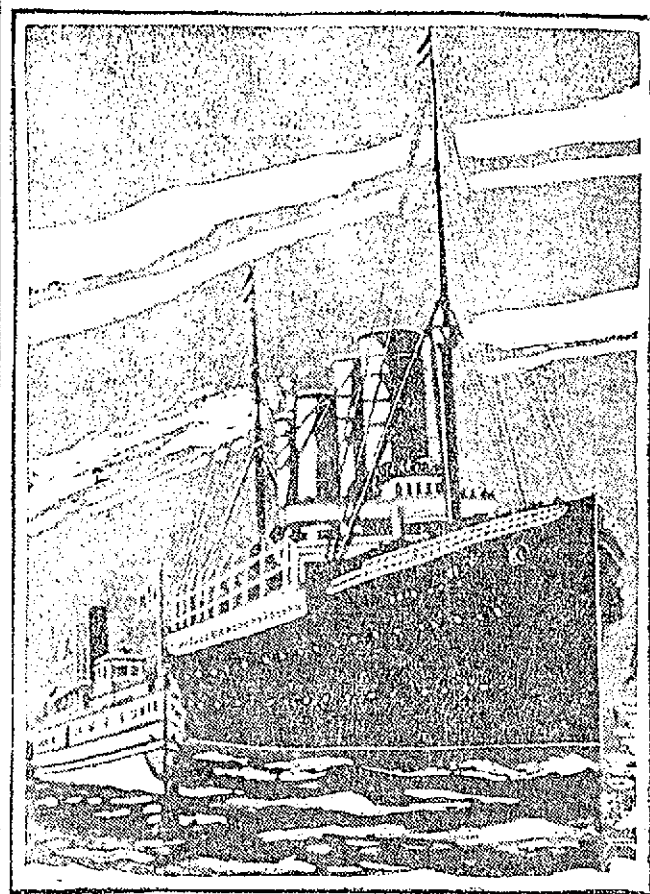

The Clippers of Lawrence will be entertained at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon by the Comet A. C. a local foot ball aggregation which starts off its schedule on that date. Needless to say the members of both eleven are asking for cooler weather.

There is a persistent rumor about Lawrence that Louis Pieper will not be with the down river club another season. His success in landing the New England League pennant with a club which was generally considered to be inferior to at least one aggregation in this circuit, and his subsequent winning of the series with New London has certainly brought Pieper into the limelight. The league would lose a big

KRONPRINZ WILHELM

MYRICK WON OUT FREIGHTER SEEN SINKING

Took First Money Last Night in Roll-off at Kittredge's Alleys

The roll-off on Kittredge's alleys last night was prolific of several very good three-string totals. Myrick led the unusually long list of bowlers with a score of 32 for his 30 boxes. O'Brien was second with 31 while Sharp and Mason were tied for third money with 304. The individual scores are as follows:

NEW RUSSIAN TREATY THE STEAMER GAYHEAD WORRY DUE TO WAR

ATTITUDE TOWARD THE JEWS CHANGED—ARBITRATION PACT WITH U.S. MEANS NEGOTIATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Russia's manifestation of friendship for the United States, expressed in her announced intention of signing a peace commission treaty, may lead to negotiations for a new treaty of commerce and navigation between the two countries to replace the one abrogated during the Taft administration.

This was the view of many diplomats and officials when it became known that Sec. Bryan had received word of the intention of the Russian government to negotiate a treaty along the same lines as those with Great Britain, France, Spain and China, reported favorably by the senate today. These treaties would submit all disputes that cannot be settled by diplomacy to a permanent commission for investigation during a period of one year.

Officials expressed the view that Russia's reported modification of stringent regulations against the Jews, because of their loyalty to the government in its struggle in the present European war, might pave the way for an understanding for a new treaty.

The treaty was denounced by congress and became inoperative Jan. 1, 1912, because it was interpreted by Russia as permitting the exclusion of American Jews from her dominions. Afterward Russia remained inflexible, and it came to be understood here that any negotiations for a pact must be initiated by the United States.

The Russian government gave no indication that it would recede in its policy of excluding American Jews from Russia and it was intimated that should a new treaty be entered into it would omit any reference to free travel of Americans in Russia.

Sec. Bryan announced last night that Sweden had agreed to sign a peace commission treaty along the lines of those previously signed with other nations.

TROOPS TO LEAVE MEXICO

Troubles Between Carranza and Villa Will Not Alter Plans—U. S. Will Insist on Peace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—It was officially stated at the White House today that the latest troubles between General Carranza and General Villa would not alter the plans of the United States as to withdrawing troops from Vera Cruz or the status of the embargo on arms. No date had been fixed for moving the troops.

General Villa's open repudiation of Carranza's authority as first chief of the constitutional army in charge of the executive power in Mexico spread a sinister feeling in official circles today.

While officials admitted that the situation was a threatening one they were not without hope that the rupture would not lead to a physical clash. Once before Villa renounced Carranza's authority, they said, and delegates of the two chiefs met at Torreon, where Villa again recognized Carranza as first chief. That effort would be made to adjust the differences of the two leaders peacefully was generally expected but just how far the United States would lend its influence to the movement is not known.

In the strongest possible language, Paul Fuller, personal representative of President Wilson, who has just returned from Mexico told both Carranza and Villa that the United States would insist upon the maintenance of peace at its doors.

President Wilson yielded to the appeals of both Villa and Carranza to withdraw the American troops from Vera Cruz only because they desired him that they were working harmoniously to establish a strong central government. Pres. Wilson, it is thought, may now feel himself justified in maintaining the American forces at Vera Cruz in view of the sudden reversal of the situation.

What is perplexing officials here is the variety of reports from their agents as to Carranza's attitude. One reliable report was to the effect that Carranza recently expressed his willingness to retire soon and go to the United States for a rest, believing that with the evacuation of Vera Cruz and the selection of a new provisional president he could retire happily to private life.

President Wilson was expected to confer with state department officials today about the situation.

President Wilson is understood to take the position that Carranza and Villa must settle their differences without interference from the United States and that the presence of the American troops at Vera Cruz would not solve the difficulty.

According to official information here, Villa is willing to have Carranza become provisional president or resign now and run for the presidency later. Villa, it is said, objects to Carranza doing both.

As outlined in official circles today, President Wilson will continue to pursue a watchful waiting policy and allow the Mexicans to work out their own destiny, provided that rights of foreigners are respected.

ALLIES WIELD GREAT BATTERING RAM

Formidable Force Thrown Against Allies Left is Still Flinching—Germans Losing Heavily on Their Right—Belief Unanimous That Battle of the Aisne Cannot Last Much Longer

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The formidable force the Germans threw against the allies left is still flinching, according to the official communication, under the unrelenting blows of the Franco-English battering ram. Even the famous guards, as in the battle of the Marne, are unable to stand the pressure and are giving a little more ground every day.

The diversion attempted in Lorraine having proven ineffectual, the Germans are now making a fierce drive in the Woëvre district northeast of Verdun. The object, no doubt, is to cut off the army operating around Nancy, but the Germans already had tried to make an opening between Verdun and Toul, besieging Troyon at the same time. It is doubtful if they will succeed any better this time than they did in the former attempt. Nevertheless, the maneuver constitutes a menace to the allies, who are resisting with all their might and are repulsing attacks with heavy losses.

That the Germans are losing heavily on their right is also attested by the constant arrival here of prisoners and wounded. Early this morning many automobiles were seen with wounded, both Germans and allies, passing through the streets. But some of these were convalescents returning from the seashore and rejoining their corps.

This morning's press is unanimous that the battle of the Aisne cannot last much longer for the steady retirement of the German right must entail a weakening of the center elbow that the Germans throw out along the river Oise to prevent being turned.

communication issued by the general staff today says:

On Sept. 21 the Russian troops took by storm the fortifications of Jaroslau, on the right bank of the River San. They took 200 cannon, even though the enemy offered heavy resistance and blew up the bridge over the San.

Two days previous the Russians had occupied Staromlasto, Przeworski and Lancut (to the north and west of Jaroslau). The Russian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Austrian rear guard and inflicting heavy losses, although the Austrians destroyed many bridges.

Every day the number of prisoners and seized cannon increases.

The demoralization of the enemy is shown by pillaging and paucity of food. The villagers assert that a majority of their officers are killed or missing and that the soldiers feel the loss keenly.

The newly forced Russian regiments covered themselves with glory.

QUICK TRIP FROM ROME

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell Reached Boston on Steamer Canopic Today

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell reached Boston today aboard the steamer Canopic after a quick trip from Rome, where they had attended the coronation of Pope Benedict XV.

The voyage across was made at night with all lights out and portholes shrouded; the only reminder of war-torn times.

"I would congratulate the American people on the fact that they are enjoying peace while other nations are in the throes of war," said Cardinal Gibbons. "And I would also congratulate and praise the American government on its maintenance of peace, notwithstanding great temptations," he added.

The venerable prelate said that what little he had seen and the much that he had heard of the horrors of the war impressed him deeply.

"It is a great pity," he exclaimed when he learned of the damage to the cathedral at Rheims, "and a loss that can never be replaced. I knew it well and admired it in common with a world of lovers of art."

Cardinal Gibbons said he had no doubt that the war had shortened the days of the Holy Land, where they had been sent by a Washington newspaper, said that Italy had mobilized 400,000 troops on the northern frontier, and was calling out a class of reserves every few days.

"Everybody in Italy seemed to wait war," said Cardinal Gibbons. "Turkish mobilization delayed the clericalmen in Palestine, where all available horses were seized by the Turks for military purposes."

T. H. Stinson Wells of New York said that he had been detained as a Russian spy at Riga, in the Baltic, by a letter from Secretary Bryan eventually established his identity.

Wm. S. Spencer of New York was a bearer of three medals, decorations of the order of St. Sava, recently created by Prince William of Wied as king of Albania. They are for Colonel Roosevelt, Lyman Abbott and Charles R. Crane, Chicago.

Cardinal Gibbons said he was very tired and would be unable to address the American Federation of Catholic Societies at Washington next Sunday. He said he would appear before the convention as will Cardinal O'Connell, but both will make only brief remarks.

Troops are Mobilized

Rev. B. G. Gaw of Washington, one of the five clergymen returning from the Holy Land, where they had been sent by a Washington newspaper, said that Italy had mobilized 400,000 troops on the northern frontier, and was calling out a class of reserves every few days.

"Everybody in Italy seemed to wait war," said Cardinal Gibbons. "Turkish mobilization delayed the clericalmen in Palestine, where all available horses were seized by the Turks for military purposes."

T. H. Stinson Wells of New York said that he had been detained as a Russian spy at Riga, in the Baltic, by a letter from Secretary Bryan eventually established his identity.

STREET RAILWAY MEN

CONDUCTED AN ENJOYABLE OUTING AT CANOBIE LAKE YESTERDAY

Division 280 of the Bay State Street Railway union held its annual outing at Canobie Lake yesterday afternoon and the usual good time was enjoyed by all those who attended. It was one of the most successful events of its kind that the street railway men have held.

On the arrival of the party at the park the sports and field events held the centre of attraction. The street railway men boast of some fine athletes and some of them showed unusual celerity in the different events.

The half mile event was first run off and Dan Prineau showed that besides driving a car at a high rate of speed he was there with the speed himself and he left a large field of contestants far behind. Dan carried home a suitable prize.

Conductor Kenyon proved to be an athlete of great endurance and won the mile run in close to record time. He also left the bunch of starters far in the background.

The fat man's walk proved to be the most enjoyable event of the day and a goodly number of heavyweights entered. Tom McAndrews must have been reading some of Dan O'Leary's books, for besides winning the event easily he showed remarkable speed and a lot of style. Most of the heavyweights dropped out early in the race thinking that they could recuperate and get back and overtake the leaders but it proved to be a hopeless task. One of the number was overheard to say that he never walked such a distance in his life and never would while the electric cars were handy. Tom McAndrews was awarded a handsome umbrella.

Joseph Powers and A. Clancy, who have been practicing the three-legged stunt for weeks past were rewarded by winning the blue ribbon in this event. Joe and Aloysius will wear Polish neckties, undoubtedly donated by Gen. Clark.

The hundred yard dash was won by Jack Lynch, one of Lowell's foremost athletes and D. O'Hara captured second prize. Jack will excite the jealousy of his fellow employees with his red vest which he will wear for the first time Sunday. All the boys signified their intentions of greeting him on that day. Mr. O'Hara was presented a pipe, no doubt a scheme to keep him out of training. The hop, step and jump was won by Frank Brennan of the Oaklands and he was awarded a briar.

A baseball game between the married men and the single men provided everyone with a vast amount of fun. The bachelors proved too much for the marrieds and hammered out a 10-5 victory. The feature of the game was a home run drive of John Carriere of the married men when three runners occupied the sacks.

Before the baseball game a sumptuous dinner was served by Caterer Harvey and was much enjoyed. The start home was made about six o'clock. Everything considered, it was a most successful affair.

RUINS OF FAMOUS LIBRARY AT LOUVAIN WHERE MANY BOOKS OF RARE VALUE WERE DESTROYED

This picture shows the ruins of the great library at Louvain, Belgium, one of the most famous in the world for old manuscripts and ancient tomes. It ranked with that of the Vatican. The building was destroyed in the German destruction of the city, and all the works of incalculable value have been destroyed. The alleged sacking of Louvain was described from an English viewpoint in the official notice issued by the English press bureau on Friday, Aug. 28, which read as follows: "On Tuesday evening a German corps, after receiving a check, withdrew in disorder into the town of Louvain. A German, guard at the entrance to the town mistook the nature of this incursion and fired on their routed fellow countrymen, mistaking them for Belgians. In spite of all denials from the authorities the Germans, in order to cover their mistake, pretended that it was the inhabitants who had fired on them, whereas the inhabitants, including the police, had been disarmed more than a week before. Without inquiry and without listening to any protests the German commander in chief announced that the town would be immediately destroyed. The inhabitants were ordered to leave their dwellings. A party of the men were made prisoners and the women and children put into trains, the destination of which is unknown. Soldiers furnished with bombs set fire to all parts of the town. The splendid church of St. Pierre, the university buildings, the library and the scientific establishment were delivered to the flames. Several notable citizens were shot. A town of 45,000 inhabitants, the intellectual metropolis of the low countries since the fifteenth century, is now no more than a heap of ashes."

KNOCKED OUT BY NITRIC ACID FUMES

Thousands Verged on Panic and Hundreds Were Made Ill When 10 Gallons of Acid Spilled From Carboy to the Floor of Railroad Station

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 24.—Ten gallons of nitric acid spilled from a carboy to the floor of the Erie railroad station during the commuters' rush hour today, gave off fumes which choked scores of persons to unconsciousness, made hundreds ill, stopped traffic on the Hudson tunnels for an hour, and packed the streets with thousands who verged on panic until a strong force of police quieted them.

None of the throng sweeping through the station was touched by the acid as it bubbled and boiled over the stone floor, giving off clouds of fumes. Two or three persons collapsed immediately, but in most cases of unconsciousness the poison acted as a slow agent. In some cases women were stricken in ferry boats half an hour after they had inhaled the fumes. In perhaps forty instances, persons into whose lungs the fumes had been inhaled for several minutes, suddenly fell unconscious.

Four men and women aboard ferry-boats on which were packed hundreds of hysterical passengers, to all appearances became as dead. Their heart beats were no longer audible. Physicians revived them by artificial respiration.

Six persons were taken to hospitals. It was believed they would recover. Three of this number were taken to New York hospitals from ferry boats upon their arrival here. One ferry boat had aboard more than 200 persons made ill by the fumes. Most of these recovered within an hour or so.

AN ALLEGED OUTRAGE

BERLIN, Sept. 24, via wireless to Sayville, L. I.—The official announcement issued yesterday by the headquarters of the German army says that German heavy artillery is successfully bombarding Troyon-les-Pareches, Camp Des Romains and Liourville.

The Wolff bureau, the semi-official agency, has published a statement, giving details of an alleged outrage by French military bicyclists in charge of an officer, on wounded German soldiers in two Red Cross motorcars near Bethencourt. Only two men succeeded in making their escape and this in spite of their wounds, while the remainder were killed by the bicyclists who then robbed the corpses. The German press says that this is another proof of the barbarous treatment of wounded Germans at the hands of the French.

War Loan Over-subscribed
The war loan has been over-subscribed and is a huge success. Official figures just published give the final results of the subscriptions as follows:
The total is 1,359,576,000 marks ($1,037,894,000) consisting of 1,313,189,800 marks, ($259,549,000) in imperial bonds and 1,177,206,000 marks, ($234,300,000) in other forms of security.
An official statement says that the British cruiser Pathfinder was sunk, not by a mine but by a German submarine, U-21. This submarine also escaped unhurt.

The Rheims Cathedral
Eye-witnesses to the bombardment of the Rheims cathedral say that the building was only slightly damaged. The German press calls attention to the fact that the English, when they attacked Dehl in 1857, did not spare the glorious monuments of India and it recites also that Nino Bixio, leader of the Garibaldians, threatened to bombard the Vatican when he was besieging Rome.

ARMIES OF THE ALLIES

Further successes of the armies of the allies, which are attempting to turn the German right wing, are claimed in an official announcement issued at Paris this afternoon.

It is stated that the allies' western wing has advanced considerably and Perrone has been occupied after desperate resistance. Perrone is 75 miles north of Paris and 25 miles north of Lassigny in the region of which an advance by the allies was announced in yesterday afternoon's official statement. The position of Perrone indicates the movement of the allies' left wing which is much farther north than their main battle line.

The turning movement of the Franco-British forces first directed against General Von Kluck in an effort to envelop his army, appears from unofficial despatches to have made added resistance from strong German reinforcements.

The Paris announcement says that there has been heavy fighting on the river Meuse at the eastern end of the battle line where the allies have alternately advanced and retired.

Up to early afternoon no official announcement had been received from Berlin. The latest German official advices stated that the Germans were breaking through the allies' center.

Petrograd, says that following the capture of Jaroslau in Galicia the Russian cavalry is pursuing the Austrian rear guard, inflicting heavy losses.

There is considerable doubt as to the exact situation in the eastern theatre of the war, as the reports from Petrograd, Vienna and Berlin persistently conflict.

A despatch from Petrograd to a Paris paper says that the Germans who drove the Russian invaders from East Prussia have in turn been defeated and are evacuating East Prussia to reinforce the line from Thorn, in West Prussia, to Kallisz in Russian Poland.

A news despatch from Paris says that among the prisoners recently arriving at Paris is a general of the staff in General Von Kluck, whose army has borne the brunt of the allies' turning movement on the western end of the battle line.

It is announced officially at Calcutta that the German cruiser Emden, which recently captured several British ships in the Bay of Bengal, dropped a few shells, while passing into Andras, an important city of British India.

Press despatches, unofficially report that Zeppelin airships evidently reconnoitering, have been sighted from various points in Jutland, Denmark.

The German submarine U-9, credited by Berlin with having, unaided, destroyed the three British cruisers of the Hook of Holland, has returned undamaged to a German port.

Chief Gunner Dougherty, of the Cressy, one of the three ships sunk during the attack and that one of the five was sunk by the Cressy's guns.

The German war loan subscriptions total $1,037,250,000.

The press of Norway is making a deliberate effort to maintain strict neutrality.

The indirect cause of the war is recalled by a report from Amsterdam that the trial of the alleged assassins of the Austrian heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his consort, will open at Agram on November 5th.

RIVER HEARING

Lowell Men Will Go to Washington in Month of December

In keeping with its usual progressiveness, the waterway committee of the Lowell board of trade will hold a meeting in the board rooms next Monday evening and discuss subjects relative to the hearing concerning the development of the Merrimack river which will be held in Washington during the month of December. The members of the committee were notified of the meeting by letter today.

Chairman Arthur W. Saunders of the waterway committee and Secretary Murphy of the Lowell board of trade are already beginning to make plans for the trip to Washington as it is believed that the residents of the Merrimack valley will recognize the importance of this opportunity to boom the Merrimack river project. Several Boston tourist agents have been interviewed and the best accommodations are promised those who make the trip. It will be necessary to stop at hotels in New York and Washington and the railroad agents state that the best accommodations will be offered for the lowest possible rates.

It is Secretary Murphy's idea to organize a party containing residents of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport and if this is successful citizens of the four cities will make the journey together. The trip will not be confined to members of the boards of trade.

Third Edition TURKISH AMBASSADOR TO LEAVE WASHINGTON

Inform Pres. Wilson That He Does Not Alter His Views Recently Expressed and Will Leave for Constantinople in Ten Days — Interview Was Objectionable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A. Rustem Bey, the Turkish ambassador, has informed President Wilson that he does not alter the views he recently expressed in a published interview and will leave the United States within a fortnight.

The ambassador refused to discuss his action further than to say he had asked his government for leave of absence which he was certain would be granted and would leave for Constantinople within 10 days.

Although Count von Bernstorff and Baron Schoen have repudiated the baron's interview, the state department at the direction of the president, was today still looking into it.

The Turkish ambassador's interview, however, was considered particularly objectionable by the administration and Secretary Bryan at the president's direction asked the ambassador to refrain from such expressions.

The Turkish ambassador in his interview had said that the sending of American warships to Turkey in connection with the report of uprisings against Christians would lead to a serious situation. At the same time he said that while massacres had previously occurred in Turkey, they were the same acts as any people might commit under provocation. He cited the lynching of negroes and the "water cure" in the Philippines as illustrations, reminding the American people of those incidents.

The ambassador later explained personally and then wrote at length. The president directed Mr. Bryan to say in answer that the statements made by the ambassador were objectionable to the American government and but for the fact that a tense situation existed in Turkey, which he did not desire to aggravate, the diplomatic impropriety committed by the ambassador might be a subject for discussion with the Ottoman government. The president asked whether in view of the situation, the ambassador cared to make another expression. The Turkish envoy replied that he did not wish to alter his view in any way, and that he would leave soon.

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

DEBATE ON WAR REVENUE BILL BEGUN TODAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Debate on the war revenue bill began in the house today, under a rule providing for seven hours' discussion. It was called up by Chairman Henry of the rules committee and for an hour discussion of the rule preceded debate on the bill itself.

32,000 CANADIAN VOLUNTEERS TO THE FRONT

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 24.—T. W. Crothers, minister of labor of the Dominion of Canada, announced today that 32,000 Canadian volunteers went to the front "a day or two ago." Mr. Crothers made the announcement in a speech before the Canadian trade of labor congress in convention here.

ANOTHER TRAWLER BLOWN UP BY A MINE

LONDON, Sept. 24, (1.45 p. m.)—Another Grimsby trawler was blown up by a mine yesterday in the North Sea. The vessel remained afloat ten minutes, which enabled all the members of the crew to escape, except one deckhand, who was killed by falling debris.

TRIAL OF MURDERERS OF ARCHDUKE AND HIS WIFE

LONDON, Sept. 24 (4.36 a. m.)—An Amsterdam despatch to Reuters Telegram company says that it is understood that the trial of the alleged murderers of the Austrian heir-apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort will be held in Agram, capital of Croatia, Slavonia, beginning November 5. A hundred folio pages of evidence for the prosecution has already been taken.

The murder of the archduke and his wife in Sarajevo in Bosnia, was the immediate cause of the present European war.

TORPEDO BOATS SUNK OFF DALMATIAN COAST

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Dow, Jones & Co., a newspaper agency, published the following today on its news ticker:
Milan, Italy.—The Trieste correspondent of the Corriere Della Sera reports that three Italian torpedo boats and one torpedo boat destroyer struck mines off the Dalmatian coast and sank.

THE SPELLBINDER

The caucuses are over and there were no great surprises unless the large vote that came out in this city was in the nature of a surprise.

On the republican state ticket which included two interesting counts, Alonzo J. Blake, of Lowell, defeated Joseph Monette, of Lawrence, for state auditor, and Henry T. Atwell, of Lynn, defeated the field for attorney-general. It was thought that Mr. Monette, having resided in Lowell would carry the city but outside of the French-American vote of wards six and seven his former neighbors didn't rally to his support. In the attorney-general contest John J. Higgins, who some thought would be "run down hard" in this city received a handsome vote, and his vote like that of John J. Butler, the democratic candidate for county commissioner, indicates plainly that in a large field of candidates the one who is known personally is the strongest, while in the event of all being strangers to a particular community the candidate who appeals the voters an opportunity to see and hear him is going to get the vote of that community. In the case of the contest for attorney-general none of the candidates did any personal work in this city and Mr. Higgins being the only one who is known personally here, received the big vote despite the fact that a little strange justice has may have existed in certain quarters. In the democratic county commissioner contest, all of the candidates were comparative strangers. Mr. Butler came here in an auto on which was a huge sign telling who he was and he made several speeches. None of the others did likewise, and Butler got the vote.

Lowell, Woburn and Waltham republicans gave a platform for Mayor Barnes, against Commissioner Gould, indicating that there are no small number of republicans who want to see the county ring smashed and the indications are that it will be. The local ring republicans thought it was a walk-over for Gould in this city, and though Barnes carried the nine wards by only six votes, the fact that he carried the city is significant and must make the ring men sit up and take notice.

In the seventh senatorial district Candidate Dunn had the advantage of the strongly democratic ward in Lynn, and he showed great strength in the lower part of the county where he is known, an indication that he will make a strong fight for the election. Senator Draper, as a campaigner has few superiors, and his campaigning was the day in the eighth district. As a friend of his said of him before the campaign: "He is campaigning 250 days in the year and the candidate who would beat him must go some." James P. Dunne came along so strongly during the last few days of the campaign that many thought he would surprise the district, but he ran third. Hon. John J. McManis ran

COURAGE IN WAR

What war teaches—as well as business life.

Courage in war or business is born of good pure blood. Pure blood is the greatest blessing mankind can have.

Millions of people need this powerful vegetable remedy that puts the stomach, liver and bowels in fine condition; that clears the skin of pimples, rash, blotches and eczema; that dissolves bile and carbonates; that makes nerves stronger and steadier and gives to pale, weak, run-down people the fullest measure of health and happiness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, free from alcohol or narcotics, does just what is stated above, simply because it banishes from the blood all poisons and impure matter. It is the world's great Blood Purifier; so enters joints, dissolves the impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities, through the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, backache over the kidneys, nasal or other Catarrh, unsteady nerves or unsightly skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigorous action.

triumvirate, who as county commissioners have run things to suit themselves and with an extravagant hand for many years. The term "county ring" has never included the sheriff who is elected independently by the people nor the county treasurer elected similarly even though they might have been in sympathy with the "big three," recently reduced in numbers to the "big two," and about to become the "little one." But the C-C's political genius says that the "county ring" gave us such fine men as the late Sheriff Cushing, Keepers Eveleth and Baker, and Deputy Sheriffs Silas Clark and Courtney, forgetting for the moment another fine man though temporarily in hard luck, the present sheriff, Mr. Fairbairn, who is the equal in every day way of his predecessors and who appointed Messrs. Eveleth and Courtney. If the "ring" gave us these fine men it also gave us the deputy sheriff who defaulted, and put Sheriff Fairbairn in an embarrassing position, through no fault of his own. And if these men are to be included in the "ring," so also must be the county treasurer, Joe Hayden, who is the leading spirit in the Somerville Journal stock company, whose plant has done about all that county printing for years, without competition. It is alleged, and without "the label," while the Courier-Citizen maintains a fine union job plant employing Lowell men, and in every way fitted to compete for all kinds of printing in a fair field. The "county ring" that the voters of Middlesex are after at the present time, consists of Messrs. Gould and Williams. Fate has ordained that Williams cannot be reached for another year, but Levi is at the bat and it is the firm determination of the democratic voters of the county together with a goodly number of disgusted republicans to take him out and send him back to the bush league.

Harvard Paying Job
It is understood that Contractor Stanley has accepted the paying job at the Harvard Laboratory on which Mayor Murphy refused to permit Sunday work. The man now doing the work has brought union payers from out-of-town and is paying them on a piece work basis with the result that while the payers want a good day's pay, the work is being done for about half what the city pays to have its paving done.

The Municipal Field
While there is talk of putting the entire government from the mayor down on the ballot this fall in any event there will be no dearth of candidates. At present the bona fide candidates are Commissioners Donnelly and Brown, John J. Dalton, James P. McKella, William W. Duncan, John Daly, and Jeremiah Connors, while the "perhaps" candidates include Former Commissioners Andrew E. Barrett, Maxwell F. Putnam, and Abel R. Campbell, and there will be others.

Save for the Goose, Etc.
When the Greek residents purchased the Plunkett property for a canal purposes the state authorities held them up until they installed the indirect system of heating in the building, and nobody had any criticism to offer but when the state police applied the same to the Vander on the Varnum property, there was a great outcry. The city and the municipal council with its brace of legal lights tried to have the chief of the state police suspended or evade the law. Chief Whitney has a whole lot of authority, but he can't suspend a law, as most high school pupils are aware. The mayor apparently has suddenly lost interest in the hearing and vesting of the Varnum property and is letting Commissioner Donnelly have it out with the state authorities.

Charlie Waxes Sanguine
It is reported from the mayor's office, that Commissioner Morse recently pulled off a little game, stating that what the city needs is to have the editor of the Sun for superintendent of streets and its proprietor for commissioner. As both of those gentlemen are pretty well fixed for jobs it is not likely that either will seek the office selected for him by the facetious commissioner, but should such a thing ever happen it would be a good bet that Rogers would be put in good condition at least, while they might buy paving blocks at the short price; carry out all work as estimated at the beginning of the year; put in sewers where they are needed; and at the same time keep the "boys" at work. Possibly also they might learn to run an automobile and save the city $15 per week for a chauffeur.

An All-Round Man
Having conducted the affairs of the fire department temporarily during the absence of Col. Carmichael, it is said that Mayor Murphy took charge of the street department for a few minutes one morning this week during a crisis that arose in that office in the absence of Commissioner Morse. The employees at city hall have a right to look to the mayor for protection against annoyance.

Board of Trade Announcement
At a meeting of the board of trade recently, it was announced that the board would not ask the municipal council for any more improvements owing to the financial situation. What was meant by the "financial situation?" The board should explain itself. Did it mean that the municipal council has made so many blunders in its handling of financial matters since January 1 that it is afraid to take a chance?

The Criminal Session
Despite the repeated statements of Sept. 24th to the effect that the city has been miraculously free from crime for some time, it is noticeable that the present session of the superior criminal court is the longest held in Lowell for a number of years, owing to the large number of Lowell cases. Ordinarily the Lowell cases are cleared up within a few days except a few appealed cases, which are dragged along until the end of the session.

Sewer May Disappear
The Sun has been informed that owing to the character of the soil, where the sewer is being constructed in Pawtucketville, there is danger of the sewer sinking out of commission within a few years.

Where Are They Getting It?
Some time ago the municipal council was so hard pressed for money to meet its running expenses that it went to Boston to borrow and was turned down. Then it proposed to use the perpetual care and John Davis' funds but was stopped. Now it appears to have plenty of money, and the question arises, where is it getting this money?

If so it will soon be up against it again, for the legislature has stated that this tax money shall be used to pay off the temporary loan and for no other purpose.

Hoarding the Ring
He's in again! The political writer of the Courier-Citizen started out to show the county ring and as usual he handed out some original dope which is interesting inasmuch as it shows how far away the writer is from his subject. The county ring, as it is popularly called, means the

Hence These Tears
The heartfelt sympathy of the community went out to the editor of the Courier-Citizen after reading the following editorial which appeared in Tuesday's issue:

"You can say what you like, and you can think as you jolly well please, but our own judgment is that the eighth senatorial district is going to be unable to avoid covering itself with about the usual brand of glory, no matter who gets nominated, or who is elected. It is a considerable time since this district was represented in the senate by a man of genuine strength and we can see no impending prospect of improvement."

Andrew Smith, in greeting his friend, Lawyer Dan Donahue, invariably would say: "Good morning, Counselor. Are you physically well, this morning? I assume that you are mentally well." And so we assume that the editor of the Courier-Citizen will admit that the candidates are at least physically fit for office, especially Dr. Livingston.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Edward A. Robinson of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Mrs. Anna R. Tinker, formerly of Lowell, were married at St. Matthew's church, New York city, by Rev. Otto Seltzer, D. D. They were attended by Marlon P. Tinker, daughter of the bride and Mr. Anselm Robinson, son of the bridegroom.

ROACH-HURLEY

A very pretty wedding took place from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley, when their daughter Mahel, became the bride of Mr. James A. Roach of Haverhill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Murphy at St. Michael's church. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Hurley and the best man was Mr. John Roach of Lynn, a brother of the groom. After an extended wedding tour they will reside in Haverhill.

LEADING LAWYER DEAD

WILLIAM H. NILES OF LYNN
YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

LYNN, Sept. 24.—William H. Niles, the president of the Essex County Bar association, and one of the leading lawyers of the state, died at his home, 215 Ocean street yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for several weeks.

William H. Niles, for years one of the most prominent attorneys in this vicinity, three times refused to accept an appointment as superior court judge.

He was born at Oxford, N. H., Dec. 25, 1833. When a child he resided in Watfield and later in East Bridgewater, where he grew to manhood, graduating from the public schools. He attended Conference seminary at East Greenwich, R. I. On graduation he went to Athens, Ga., in 1861, where he was principal of the local academy. In 1865 he returned north, having been in Georgia during the Civil war. He entered the office of Caleb Blodgett of Boston and was admitted to the bar in 1870 and came to Lynn the same year. He was the senior member of the firm of Niles, Stevens, Underwood & Mayo.

He leaves a wife and three daughters, Mrs. John M. Farquhar and Mrs. Florence N. Moulton of Lynn and Mrs. Charles Henderson of Reading. Mr. Niles was especially strong with jury and for years held a reputation as one of the leading pleaders. He was forceful in his arguments and strong in his opinions.

While he never held public office, Mr. Niles for years took a deep interest in political affairs, being a prominent republican, and leading in many municipal movements. He was a director of the Lynn chamber of commerce.

VIRGINIA VOTES PROHIBITION

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 24.—While complete returns from the state wide prohibition election still are lacking, figures received up to today showed that the voters had placed Virginia in the "dry" column by a majority of more than 32,000. Delayed returns will increase the majority.

Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria and Williamsburg were the only cities returning majorities for the local optionists.

The result of the election means that on and after November 1, 1916, Virginia will be dry.

MEDICAL CLINIC OPEN

The Dunmer street charitable clinic closed during the summer months is now in full swing. The quarters consist of two rooms, an operating room and a reading room, where magazines of all descriptions can be found. The medical department is in charge of Dr. C. Livingston, Dr. L. E. Schiller, Dr. P. J. Meehan and Dr. A. H. Kludjian.

THIS FALL FASHIONS FOR LADIES SHOW AN ABUNDANCE OF BEAUTIFUL LACE—SHORT SLEEVES AND V SHAPED NECKS—BEAD AND METAL THREAD EMBROIDERIES ALSO PREVAIL

So much beautiful lace is to be worn this autumn that the evening costumes are unusually lovely and charming in effect. Soft satin is to be combined therewith to a great extent and the new satins include charmeuse and also some brighter in surface but equally soft and pliable and the latter are to have great vogue. Since lace and satin seem made one for the other, the combination means an assured success.

Every known kind of lace will be worn both the floundings and the all-over lace that can be cut to any shape.

Bodices show many variations of short sleeves and are made both with V-shaped and with round necks. Incidentally, there will be a great deal of embroidery used and metal threads will be extensively introduced. Often lace will be further enriched by gold and silver threads out-lining the pattern and among new silks are shown satin brocaded in silver and in gold. They are so marvelously soft in effect that they can be draped as successfully as liberty itself, notwithstanding the generous use of metal threads.

The seated figure of the group shows one of these silks with a deep chemise of soft net in contrast and, incidentally, the big rose that is tucked into the belt is worthy of note, for just such garnitures are the smartest of all things and velvet roses are the preferred ones for the purpose while the colors are everything from black to the natural pinks and yellows. We are not hampered by nature. We simply choose the rose for the beautiful form and make it in any color that suits the costume.

All these bodices are adapted to lace and to satin and, in this connection, it will be well to add that the lace bodices will be combined with skirts of velvet to make handsome costumes, for it is to be a season of rich materials of satin and of velvet, of brocade and of lace, used in as rich profusion as the pures allows.

Bead embroideries are to be employed as well as those of silk and metal threads and, in some instances, crystal beads are used to give an exceedingly beautiful and scintillating effect while pearls are pronounced favorites.

The new velvets are wonderfully soft and pliable while the nap retains all the depth and richness of the heavier sort. While chiffon velvet will be used to a certain extent, plain velvet is the preferred one. All sorts of rich colors will be in vogue, for rich colors are particularly effective in velvet. Dark colored velvet with white or cream lace makes a wonderful combination and we shall see numbers of skirts flounced with lace while the bodices are of velvet with perhaps lace sleeves or lace trimming. Chantilly lace is extremely fashionable and, since it always is beautiful the return to favor will surely be met with a hearty welcome. It is to be worn both in white and in black and, when we have a season of lace, velvet, brocade and satin, evening costumes are sure to be beautiful.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

NOTE.—All parents are deeply interested in the well being of their boys and girls. In the articles under the above caption to appear in this paper every Thursday, parents may learn much that will be helpful in the difficult task of keeping the boys and girls well and always moving along the right path.—Editor.

Whatever reproach or privation we impose upon a child must be clearly connected with the offence. The child should always know just exactly why it is being punished. Moreover, the punishment should not be so long deferred that the child can lose the connection between its offence and the punishment.

Nothing that affects a child's health, such as interference with meals or with sleep, should be used as a punishment. Nor should useful work or study be discredited by being used as a means of punishment.

We must remember that punishment is like medicine. There is no one punishment that fits all cases or all children. Each case must be studied by itself, and the punishment must be made to fit the offence and also the offender.

Loose and light clothing a rigid vegetable, fruit and cereal diet without overeating, and absolute cleanliness of body and clothes will keep a child's skin in its best condition.

To prevent prickly heat, dress the children in thin cotton or silk underwear, but when the rash is really out a cooling sponge bath should be given three times a day. As the rash subsides a bath at night will be sufficient.

A pint of water is enough for one sponge, and in it should be put either a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda, a tablespoonful of vinegar or a lump of starch the size of a cherry. Let the water dry on the body without the use of a towel. Dust talcum powder between the folds and creases of the baby's body.

Whether a child's hair should be curled or left straight is not a question that needs much consideration because there will always be curly hair and straight hair, and both will continue to be stylish.

If the straight haired child is much improved in looks by a little artificial curling, the simplest way to accomplish this is to dampen her hair slightly with cologne and then roll it on soft kids until it has become perfectly dry, when it will be fluffy and curly enough to do up prettily.

Never use irons on a child's hair, as the soft little tresses are easily burned and made harsh and brittle.

Children enjoy cookies which are cut in distinctive shapes more than the round ones.

Cookies in the form of the letters of the alphabet, different animals and also in the shape of different kinds of leaves, are especially pleasing to the youngsters, and cutters of all these shapes are to be had.

Have each child come representing his birthday month by some symbol or costume. January should represent the New Year or snow man. February a Valentine. March the winds. April an April fool or showers. May a May queen. June a bride. July a soldier or patriot. August a harvester. September, golden rod or the beginning of school. October, autumn. November, a turkey. December, Christmas.

This is good for both children and grown ups. Provide clay pipes tied with colored ribbons. Also plenty of soap suds made with castile soap and a little glycerine. Give prizes for the largest bubble, the smallest one, the one which lasts the longest, flies the highest, the one with the most brilliant colors, etc.

When travelling with baby one of the greatest conveniences is a folding high chair. This chair is light, compact and safe, and there is no possibility of the baby upsetting it or falling out. It can be attached to the back of any ordinary chair or, cut seat and is easily adjusted to any height.

FALL MILLINERY OPENINGS

FINE DISPLAY TO BE FOUND AT THE LEADING MILLINERY STORES

Edith M. Murphy, a well known designer and importer of up-to-date millinery, will hold her fall display of the latest exclusive styles in ladies' hats at her parlors, 226 Merrimack street, Old City hall building on Friday and Saturday of this week. The new fall styles will be shown, and Mrs. Murphy's ability as a millinery designer is well known, a large number of people will doubtless be present at the opening tomorrow and Saturday. In addition to Mrs. Murphy herself, there will be in attendance her capable assistants, Myrtle Brunette, Mrs. Julia Maye and Mrs. Parent. These ladies have had a wide experience in the business of making and trimming ladies' hats. All are now busy preparing for the fall showing and anticipate a rush of business during the last two days of this week.

Ladies' Specialty Shop

One could hardly find a more attractive little establishment than is the Ladies' Specialty Shop of J. and L. Barter, located at 135 Merrimack st. With a complete new fall stock of the various articles that delight the ladies, the attractive appearance of the shop is more than ever worthy of commendatory comment. The fall line of gloves, corsets, hosiery, infants' wear and neckwear is of the most up-to-date variety and the business at the shop has been very brisk.

Miss Anna Ouellette

It is now that the minds of the ladies are occupied with plans for new dresses and gowns for fall and winter wear. Judging from the large number of ladies who have visited the gown making establishment of Miss Anna Ouellette, rooms 101 and 102 Sun building, it is quite evident that the high quality of the goods and workmanship of Miss Ouellette is widely appreciated. Miss Ouellette finds that her trade increases with each succeeding season, because of highly-pleased customers who are not backward about telling their friends of the quality of her establishment. Miss Ouellette is showing imported and domestic and original modes and has a fine line of fabrics on display.

Display of Horne and Plumstead

At the millinery parlors of Horne and Plumstead, one of Lowell's best known and widely patronized establishments, there are being shown the newest fall models in ladies' hats displayed in a most effective manner. The parlors are located at rooms 21-24 Central building, and the days set for the fall opening are Friday and Saturday. On these days, they will doubtless be a very large number of visitors at the establishment, for the many former customers of Horne and Plumstead will not fail to return to view this season's offerings. The prices are reasonable, and the quality of the workmanship widely known.

Display at Ella M. Burke's

date and widely patronized establishment of Ella M. Burke at 20 Palmer street, is attracting a large number of people. The display opened on Monday to continue throughout the week, and there has been an accompanying rush of business. The latest styles and exclusive imported and domestic designs are being shown in a most effective manner, keeping everyone constantly busy. Friday and Saturdays are expected to be big days at these parlors.

E. H. Severy Bleachery

The excellent quality of the work which is done at the hat bleachery of E. H. Severy located at 133 Middle street, has attracted a great number of ladies who wish to have their velour, felt or beaver hats re-blocked, cleaned or dyed. This bleachery is well equipped to do this kind of work, using the most up-to-date methods, and if one wishes to economize on millinery this establishment will indeed help solve the problem. The satisfaction expressed by those who have sent their hats there to be made over as good as new is a sufficient assurance of first-class work. Another feature of this bleachery is the promptness with which all orders are attended to.

WOUNDED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Houston Injured at Randolph and Car Wrecked—Men in Other Machine Arrested

RANDOLPH, Sept. 24.—When a touring car, owned by the Hoshildale family, came in collision last evening with a roadster automobile containing Arthur M. Towne and Miss Annie Houston on North Main street, near Pond street, the young woman was thrown out, sustaining severe scalp wounds, a broken arm and other lesser injuries. She is at her home on North Main street, attended by two doctors. The touring car almost demolished the roadster and knocked it into the bushes at the side of the road. The car's five occupants, all of Hoshildale, Robert A. McPherson, the operator, of 54 Florence street; Fred C. Nield of 15 Brooks street; Ward D. Prescott of 13 Cohasset street; Frank A. Anderson of 73 Huntington avenue and Thomas J. Lewis of 23 Tart place, were arrested. Later half was given for their appearance in the East Norfolk District court, Quincy, today.

Prescott's hip was cut by being thrown against the windshield of the car. The charge against the car's occupants is reckless driving. Chief of Police McGeehan alleges that a bag filled with bottles of beer, found by the roadside, was tossed there by the car's occupants after the collision.

Money deposited on or before Saturday, October 3rd, in the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank, will draw interest from that day.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR PROTESTS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, lodged with the state department yesterday a complaint from the British consul in New York that certain German societies in the United States were violating the nation's neutrality laws.

Bo with Warrens. They always win.

MINISTERS OF FRANCE

Forced to Resign — Kitchener Ousted Cabinet — Governor Failed to Reinforce British

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The failure of the military governor of Lille to give reinforcements to the British forces at a time when they were in danger of annihilation during the battle of Mons, and the resultant protest of Lord Kitchener. Great Britain's secretary for war, made to President Poincare, brought about the recent resignation of the French cabinet, according to Dr. Fred S. Mason of New York, who arrived here yesterday on the Olympic.

Dr. Mason while in France was allowed to visit the hospital at Camp Marborough, Boulogne-sur-Mer, by Surgeon General Linden Bell of the British expeditionary force. He also visited other hospitals prepared for the wounded at Boulogne, Trouville and Havre. At Boulogne Gen. Bell introduced him to a well informed official of rank.

Kept Joffre's Order in Pocket

The following is a report of the facts as the official is said to have stated them to Dr. Mason: "When a force of about 100,000 British under Gen. French were opposed by more than twice that number of Germans of Gen. von Kluck's army at Mons, Gen. French saw that he was in a desperate situation. After the first day of fighting, when it was seen that the overwhelming force of Germans threatened to surround the entire British force, Gen. French made an earnest appeal to Gen. Joffre, commander of the French troops, requesting support on the left wing where the British were entirely alone.

"Gen. Joffre wired instructions to the governor of Lille to send his garrison of 40,000 men to support the British forces.

"It appears, however, that the governor put the telegram in his pocket for women and children to evacuate Lille, and this nearly brought about a defeat of the allies, and was certainly one of the main reasons why they were obliged to retreat toward Paris.

Lord Kitchener's Trip to Paris

"The British managed to cut their way out of the German trap by almost superhuman effort and at tremendous loss. They were in full retreat away from Mons when the reinforcements arrived.

"Although Gen. French made casual mention of the alleged failure of the French forces to assist him in his official report designed for publication, he sent a complete report and a bitter complaint direct to Lord Kitchener, saying that the failure of the French to answer his plea put his whole army in jeopardy.

"Lord Kitchener was furious. He made a secret trip to Paris and laid his complaint against the dilatory governor of Lille before President Poincare and the French minister of war. The latter, who was a friend of the general, complained against, refused to punish him.

"President Poincare, however, to make every concession to Lord Kitchener, forced the resignation of his whole Cabinet. This was on Aug. 28, about a week after the battle of Mons. A very serious crisis in the affairs of the allies was thus avoided and Lord Kitchener triumphed in his demand. The governor of Lille has been sent to an obscure post of duty."

SOMERVILLE MAN

Allows That He Has Something to Worry About

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—A mysterious case, in which figure a trap door constructed in the flooring of the piazza of a Somerville residence without the owner's knowledge, the excavation of a trench beneath the porch, an attempt to cut a hole in the lattice work of the piazza and the receipt by the owner of a Black Hand letter, is engaging the attention of Chief Kendall and the detectives of the Somerville police department.

The case was first reported to Chief Kendall last Sunday, who kept the facts a secret until yesterday when the letter was received, in which the writer warned the recipient to call off the police.

J. Herbert Buzzell, aged 31, owner of a two-family dwelling house at 3 Whitman street, West Somerville, brought the case to the attention of the police. He occupies the upper half of the house with his mother, Mrs. James Buzzell, and Eleanor Davis, 16 years old, a pupil at the Somerville high school. The lower apartments are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Rich and their son.

According to Mr. Buzzell's report the discovery that three boards of the piazza had been sawed through and made into a trap door about 15 inches square by being cleaved together was made last Sunday morning. The door was lifted and upon dropping through it to the ground beneath Mr. Buzzell was astonished to find a trench about three feet long.

A woman's coat, identified as his mother's, a fruit jar and a paper bag, each containing a quantity of lime; a pasteboard box and an envelope containing two hinges, screws to fit and a small bolt were found lying on the ground.

He also found a saw with which, it is supposed, the trap door and lattice front of the piazza were cut. It is believed the bolt and hinges were designed to be fitted to a door in the lattice.

The coat of Mr. Buzzell's mother had been placed in storage in an attic

It is presumed the trap door was made Saturday night, as members of the family occupying the first floor heard the noise of a saw, but being it came from a house in the neighborhood.

The threatening letter was postmarked in Boston and was written on ordinary wrapping paper. It reads: "A word to the wise. Pull off the bulls or look out for yer dumpy. A black hand was drawn below.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
There isn't a spot in town which is so cool as the B. F. Keith theatre. During the torrid spell through which we are passing, it has literally been "as cool as ice." And in addition to receiving cool air in the theatre, for the minimum of price one gets a splendid combination vaudeville and motion picture bill today another big change in program takes place, with the Five Melody Boys tipping the list of attractions. The quartet are the premier saxophonists of the variety stage, and only last week, scored a big hit at the Hammerstein theatre in New York. The second feature is that of the Van Der Koors, who will

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

Every woman has in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercurial was will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, peeling and acreable. Minute particles of sear skin are rubbed off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercurial wax is procurable at any drug store, sufficient for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples.

Wrinkles can be treated with benedict by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce of powdered sassafras in 1 pint witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.

feature Felix, the mind-reading duck. This is guaranteed to erase the blues from anybody's mind, and it's as original as it is funny. Benton & Howard, singers and dancers, and Jeanette Childs, a dainty singing soubrette, conclude the vaudeville part of the program. Then there will be four specially selected motion pictures. Beginning next Monday a nature will be made to the former policy of "all-vaudeville." And, to head the bill, will be the beautiful diver, Miss "Ideal," who is often called the diving Venus.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Not very much like theatrical weather is it? More like vacation time coming back again, these hot, uncomfortable afternoons and evenings. For many of us vacations so soon again are impossible—yet we long for a moment's rest, long to get away if only for two or three hours—and there's no better place, where we can enjoy those few hours than at the cool Merrimack Square theatre. "Alias, Jimmy Valentine" is the attraction this week—one of those breezy, care-free plays that make us forget even that it's hot. The acting is capital, the staging is all that one could demand and so far all who have seen it have pronounced this week's bill as the best so far offered this season. Tickets for all performances are now on sale at the box office, phone 2054. Subscription list open at the box office.

THE OWL THEATRE
Mystery, intrigue and drama are cleverly mixed in "Doc," the four-part feature that is shown at the Owl this afternoon and evening. This story is taken from the Saturday Evening Post and in its filming, it has not lost a unit of its interest. Besides this feature another two-part play entitled

"The Stigma," a Keystone comedy called "The Sky-Pilot" and many others complete another fine program.

A New, Harmless Way to Banish Hairy Growths

(Beauty Topics)
By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face. With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the not wanted hairs; apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is unfailing, harmless and quick in results but care should be employed to get genuine delatone.

Robert Winters of the Mass. mills has returned from a three days' visit to North Scituate.

Thomas Connolly of the Bigelow Carpet rug department is of the opinion that Nashua is the best little town in the world.

William Farrell of the Mass. mills returned today from a four days' fishing trip to a lake in New Hampshire. He made a very good catch.

The members of Painters' union will hold a meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runnels building tonight. All members are requested to attend.

Patrick Farrell, foreman of the cloth room at the Tremont & Suffolk mills has postponed his advent in bowling for the season owing to the extreme weather.

Charles Borden of the Stirling mills has formed a fishing party and will start Saturday afternoon for Long Pond where he expects to make quite a catch.

Jim Denahy, foreman of the Mears Adams sole leather department is of the opinion that a mid-winter sociable by the employees of the shop would not be half bad. Go to it, Jim!

The Machinists' union will meet tonight in its rooms in Middle street. Business of much importance will come up for transaction and a good time will be had after the meeting.

Miss Ethel Ashton, a prominent book-keeper at the Lowell Bleachery will be seen in the near future as the heroine in an amateur drama to be given by a local society.

Andrew Lovell of the Mass. mills had the misfortune yesterday afternoon of striking a lease on a beaming machine on which he was working. But he took his ill luck goodnaturedly and soon had things straightened out in shape.

Joe Sears, ex-president of the Carpenters' union and George Plfield business agent of the Painters' union have some very excitable games of cribbage in the union rooms in the Runnels building. George avers that Joe's neighbors complain about Joe talking in his sleep. "Fifteen, two, fifteen four, I'm not going to play. You're a cheat," etc. are some of his expressions.

Daniel P. Whalen, organizer of the Boot & Shoe Workers' union in this city returned from Brockton yesterday where he spent a few delightful days with his family. He also had the pleasure of voting at the primaries, something that he thought he would have to pass up this year owing to his work in this city, which keeps him very busy.

Fiskdale Mills
The Fiskdale cotton mills, Sturbridge, which have been idle since 1910 will reopen within a short time. It is thought that something besides cotton cloth will be manufactured.

Lowell Textile Co.
The Lowell Textile Co., North Chelmsford, is running overtime three nights a week and Saturday afternoons. The night operations started Monday night and ended last night. The operatives all work until 10 o'clock at night, and Saturday afternoons until 5 o'clock. The same schedule will be maintained until further notice.

Saco-Lowell Shops
The Saco-Lowell shops are not running as well as they might, but if predictions coming from men closely identified with the machine business, can be taken as a criterion these shops will be operating a whole lot better in the fall. When the shops are running full over 4000 men are employed. At the present time it is stated that there are but a little over 2000 men employed. But no one is working harder to build up business than Agent Blanke who besides being a very able man is well liked by the employees.

Lynn Carpet Co.
The Lynn Carpet Co., is running as full as usual and shows no signs of slackening. This season which is

New York's New Classical Song

PECULIAR LOVE BALLAD AIMED TO DEVELOP THE VOICE

Of all the strange songs yet written the one just out called "The Rose of My Heart" is the most unique which New York has had in some time. It is a high-class ballad on the order of "A Dream," by Bartlett, and begins with a simple melody that leads the voice up to a very strong climax. A part of the chorus runs thus:

THE ROSE OF MY HEART

The song is quite a novelty in a way. It does not appeal to the popular idea, but is aimed to develop the voice of those who care for the better class of music, such as "Sing Me to Sleep," "The Rosary," and kindred pieces. The arrangement contains about a dozen different harmonies for high baritone, contralto and soprano voices.

The ballad is said to be the most pronounced hit in classical music which has been issued in many years. It is unusually full in the carpet business has had no depressing effect at this plant, which, to the contrary is very busy. Rugs and carpets of any size and quality are made and a fine line of Persian rugs are also manufactured.

Musketquid Mills
The Musketquid mills, situated in Howe street are sharing in the prosperity that has struck the woolen mills all over the country. These mills are running on a very even keel and indications seem to point to even more prosperous times in the near future. Superintendent Laycock is a man fully conversant with the woolen business and has been very successful since his coming to Lowell only a few years ago.

Carpenters' Union Held Meeting
The members of Carpenters' union.

local 1610, held a very largely attended meeting in their hall in the Runnels building last night. Much business of a routine nature was transacted and one new member was admitted. Three propositions were received and turned over to the investigation committee. Committee reports of much import were read and properly referred. The evening session, which runs out in a few months was the topic of much discussion and at the next meeting plans will be formulated towards a new agreement. A report from the business agent showed the local well up among the leaders in the state and nearly all members working. The secretary reported the local to be in a good financial condition.

Attachment Calculates Wages
A calculating machine is in use in numerous cotton and woolen mills for automatically calculating the wages of weavers. It is manufactured by the Arbelts- und Lohnverrechner-Gesellschaft, Vienna, Austria. The machine is attached to the chain shaft on cotton looms.

It is the custom to pay the weavers in conventional mills a piece based on the number of thousand picks actually woven, and it is for this system that the calculating machine is specially adapted. The figures in the upper row at the left show the amount due the weaver. Figures to the right in the upper row, on the front of this box-like arrangement, indicate the number of thousand of picks that have been woven. When the machine is attached to a loom the pointers on a lower row of figures are adjusted to the last price per thousand picks. The machine is so constructed that when the pointers are set in this position the figures in the upper left-hand row automatically indicate the amount due the weaver at this rate for any cloth that has been woven. At the end of the week all that is necessary is for the overseer or payroll clerk to make a record of the amount due each weaver as indicated by the machine on each loom. The indicators in the upper row are then set at 0 ready for the next week's work.

The indicator is securely locked so as to prevent any interference with it except by authorized persons. The weaver's wage is not affected by the number of picks per inch, but depends solely on the total number of picks of filling actually woven in the goods. The indicator also tests the amount of cloth obtained from any given quantity of filling. This enables the mill manager to determine accurately the cost of the material and also detect any making of any excessive amount of waste.

Mill News
The Union mills, knit goods, has shut down its factories at Hudson and Mechanicville, N. Y. The company does a large export business and it is reported that about $20,000 in knit goods, now on the ocean, will be returned on account of the war. It is stated, however, that both plants may resume work.

The B. & L. Textile company, Cohoes, N. Y., manufacturers of knit underwear, are planning to increase their output by installing about 75 new machines, and doubling their present force. They say that business is picking up and that the rush of orders has necessitated the hiring of more employees.

Departments B and C of the Saco-Lowell mills, including the plush and blanket factories of the town, are on a full time schedule after running four days per week for six months. The company officials state that they have received sufficient orders to warrant running on full time for several months. A large order which had been placed by the United States army for blankets before the war broke out in Europe has been placed with the mills here.

The drawing and spinning departments at the Atlantic mills, the largest factory in Olneyville, R. I., has begun a night schedule to keep pace with the demands of the weaving department. At the office of the mill it was stated that the overtime schedule will continue indefinitely in order to get sufficient material ahead to feed the looms. For the present the entire yarn department will not run nights, although this may be necessary later on. The mill situation in the section is declared to be very promising and the clouds that have hovered over the industry for the past few weeks have passed. Other mills in this section report a brighter outlook, and while business cannot be said to be at top speed, a general increase is looked for this fall.

The A. S. Anable plant, Sussex, N. J., has gone on a four-day-a-week schedule and will be operated on short time for several months. The European war is said to be the cause. About 35 employees are affected. The factory makes towels, Terry cloth, cotton and wool filled novelty flannels and serges.

A three-day schedule is now in force at the carpet weaving plant of the Beattie Mfg. Co., Little Falls, N. Y., which affects 500 hands.

The Gardner Print Works and Bleachery, Wappinger Falls, N. Y., which does a large export business, has closed down its printing department for three weeks. Uncertainty in foreign shipping is the cause.

The American Mills Co., New Haven, Conn., is erecting an addition to its weave shed, 200x120 feet.

It is stated that the Universal Winding company at Cranston, R. I., has laid off 20 employees, including six clerks and 12 draughtsmen. The lay-off, it is said, is due to the war, which has curtailed the company's foreign trade.

The carpet mill of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Amsterdam, N. Y., employing several thousand, which had been idle for many weeks, has resumed operations.

Don't miss the exhibition Fri. eve.

CUFF'S VOTE CLOSE

WARD SIX OF LYNN CARRIED DAY FOR SENATORIAL CANDIDATE DUNN

With still a few towns to be heard from, but not enough to change the result it appears that Commissioner Gould carried the county with a grand total of 837 votes, with 7404 for Major Barnes and 2050 for Julius Meyers. Major Barnes' vote surprised many Gould supporters who clung to the belief that Uncle Levi would sweep the county as in former years. On the democratic end, Senator Charles F. McCarthy, of Marlboro, whose great popularity in his home districts has kept him in the legislature and senate for many years, despite the fact that he was a democrat in a republican stronghold, was the winner with a vote of 3175 with Deputy Sheriff Walsh, second man with 2512. John J. Butler, who carried Lowell by a good plurality with 2355. The fact that there were three Cambridge candidates in the field split the great democratic vote of that city in such a manner as to place the final result in doubt until the last minute. Last year Candidate McCloskey swept Cambridge but this year Candidate O'Connor, an ex-alderman of the University City got a big lead on him and finished third with 2862. McCloskey received 1663 in the county and McLaughlin, 751.

In the seventh senatorial district Thomas S. Cuff lost by only 125 votes receiving 1016 against 1144 for Henry Dunn of Lynn. In wards five and nine Cuff led Dunn by 763 while in ward 6 of Lynn, Dunn led Cuff by 326, and that Lynn lead was what did the business. Otto Reuther didn't have a look-in against Candidate Kimball, for the latter received 1246 while Reuther got only 258.

In the 8th district Marchand's total vote was 2071 while the best East could collect was 1492. Senator Draper had a total vote of 1948 while McManmon ran second with 895 and Dunigan, third with 753.

The town of Ashby had the distinction of having no democratic voters show up at the polls. Ashby is the only town in the county that has no democratic voters.

WHAT LOWELL NEEDS

Already one hears sundry rumors on the street regarding the possible candidates for municipal office a few months from now, and as usual these candidates may be roughly divided into two groups: the professional politicians and the politically unknown. All have their following, whether it be a personal one because of some engaging qualities, a selfish one because of liberal promises made to office seekers, or a really disinterested one founded on the belief that a certain candidate would be able to give an efficient, economic and yet progressive term of service to the city. What the masses of the people think—if the masses really do think about such things as municipal politics—cannot be easily determined, but if the masses wish for really good and adequate government there are many things to be learned from past experience.

It is not a particle too soon for the people of Lowell to impress on candidates for office the desirability of showing in their campaigns some practical reason why their election would improve Lowell, industrially, politically or otherwise. Let us demand more business and less buncombe. Campaigns of mere abuse with personal vilification of rivals we have experienced and learned to regret; political campaigns that gave a bad reputation to our city and its institutions and tended to some disadvantageous advertising have been politically effective in some notorious cases but the gain of the individual has been the loss of the municipality. Lowell citizens need no argument to support this statement now; it is commonly known and commonly regretted.

Lowell citizens should realize before it is too late that municipal government is not the personal business of the official selected to fill some public position; it is the business of the citizen, run as the citizen dictates and paid for with money subscribed by the citizens collectively. Any man of common sense who wishes to hire an individual to transact some business does not judge of the ability of the applicant because of his magnetic personality, or his personal claims or promises. The employer investigates and makes sure that the would-be employee is capable, honest and industrious; when he has found that his business may be trusted to such hands he doesn't hesitate long in making a choice.

To realize what municipal government really is in its connection with public officials and with the people of a community, one need but attend a New England town meeting—an ideal representation of efficient and democratic government. Everything is transacted in the open, and there is no chance for buncombe. There one will not hear any fine speeches about public morality, law and order and other high sounding political issues that are as insincere as they are eloquently expressed. The people of the town are fully aware of the fact that the money to be spent is supplied by them and they vote it away with a full sense of their responsibility and with full regard for economy. Petty graft and pernicious personalities are kept out of sight and the motives of the speakers for or against any suggestion are generally analyzed by the next shrewd commentator. For the sake of good government it seems a pity that communities have grown so large and so complex that town meetings have been discarded in favor of municipal meetings with their prearranged surprises, their selfish misuse and abuse of public funds, their vote-baiting policies—and their notorious insincerity.

Lowell voters have in the past been fooled by cries of "economy," "respect for law," "special privilege to none" and other fine things, warranted to catch the crowd and play up the emotions of the electorate. Have the promises really been kept? Has Lowell progressed under such a regime? Are we, with our enormous tax rate, our poor water supply, our wretched school accommodation, our honeycombed streets, our insufficient lighting, our involved finance and many other drawbacks any better off than we were before we looked for saints to run the affairs of the municipality? Wake up, Lowell voters, and ask yourselves if you must go on indefinitely voting insincere, inefficient and incapable politicians into office, that they may make the city a public laughing stock and an object lesson in political inefficiency. When we nominate and elect our next commissioners, let us forget petty issues and vote with the intention of getting for our city the best in efficient, economic and yet progressive government.

SOME WORLD LOSSES

When the passions of men and of nations have cooled down no people will regret some aspects of the present war more than the Germans, who, exuberant or otherwise, have wrought vast damage that thus cannot repair. As yet the world generally is not disposed to accept their side of the burning of Louvain and other Belgian cities and towns, the damage to Rheims cathedral, the destruction of libraries and pictures and the other losses that are a blow to the world as well as to the countries that have directly suffered. Many papers have commented on the paradoxical destruction of such things in the name of "culture" after they had been spared through the centuries of Goth and Visigoth, by Vandal and Hun.

One such loss, the enormity of which is as yet little understood, is that of the library of the University of Louvain with its 70,000 precious manuscripts and priceless relics of the first products of the printer's art. Among those who will most poignantly regret this blow to literature are the many interested in the Celtic renaissance, for among the manuscripts destroyed were thousands of precious books illuminated by Irish monks in Ireland's golden age with sagas, tales of saint and scholar, of gods and fighting men and with fervent poems that reflected the life struggle of a suffering nation. During the dark days of persecution these books were taken to the continent by Irish prelates, priests and political exiles for safe keeping and the greater number found their way to friendly Louvain. German and Irish scholars of the type of Cuno Meyer and Dr. Douglas Hyde were giving a fragmentary part of their contents to the world, but they are now gone and with them a profile source of Celtic culture and artistic feeling.

Latest reports from Rheims indicate that the walls are still standing and that the great cathedral may yet be externally restored, but they tell of the destruction of the beautiful windows, especially the "rose window," of the facade with its rare amber glass. The wood carving of the interior, including the roof, the paneling of the altars, the choir ornaments have also fallen prey to the flames. Art lovers who know that medieval stained glass cannot be duplicated by any modern process—being a lost art—and that museums spend thousands for a small fragment of the wood carving that was destroyed so ruthlessly as well as to the countries that have directly suffered. Many papers have commented on the paradoxical destruction of such things in the name of "culture" after they had been spared through the centuries of Goth and Visigoth, by Vandal and Hun.

THE SUBMARINE

With a well defined thrill of anxiety England is now recalling the warning of Admiral Sir Percy Scott who declared long before the present war that naval strategy had been revolutionized by the invention of the airship and the submarine and that in consequence the greatest dreadnaughts were rendered of second rate importance. Germany has long professed its belief in this theory and has gone on perfecting the engines of war in the air and under water, professing no fear of England's mighty naval armament. The sending of five submarines against the British fleet was only a slight move on the part of Germany, but it is acknowledged that three of the greatest battleships could have been sunk as easily as the three powerful cruisers. That there is genuine danger in the situation for England is not denied, and it would appear that English government officials favor offensive naval tactics, advising their admirals to "go in and dig out the German fleet" before any more crawling submarines send English war ships to the bottom. With the possibility of destructive bombs from the air and deadly torpedoes from under water, the modern ship of war is not the powerful thing it once was. It is surely a long way back to Nelson's "Trafalgar."

GOOD VOTE CAST

Considering that there was no contest on for the head of the ticket and that a great deal of the voting was therefore perfunctory and considering also the usual apathy at primaries coupled with the all-absorbing war of this season, the vote cast in Lowell was most satisfactory. It indicates a good degree of general interest in the coming campaign and is to be commended as the exercise of a good public spirit. One of the surprises was the return of so many local men to the legislature, a gratifying fact if an indication that the public does not think length of service of itself a disqualifying factor for re-election. The public that has begun so well should not now lose interest but should follow the campaigns of their respective representatives until after election. The democrats of Massachusetts have an unusually strong ticket and there is victory ahead if each individual does his part in legitimately furthering the work that his party has set out to do in national and state circles.

STREET DEPT. PROGRESS

In the construction of the Pawtucket-ville sewer and the completion or continuation of the various jobs in Westford, Garham, Andover and First streets, Commissioner Morse has tackled a great many problems and it is evident that he has lost none of his enthusiasm. It is well, for a great deal remains to be done and the street department will have no time to congratulate itself on one task before another presents itself for settlement. Rogers street, Elm street, Lawrence street and many others are in a sorry condition and those who are striving for better things must realize the weaknesses of the Lowell policy of the past quite as strongly as do the many critics. With regard to consistent repair it is a matter for congratulation.

tion that the street department is attending to this most important phase of street work with more intelligent persistence than has been shown for a long time. From now until the snow flies there are urgent necessities which will keep the officials of the street department continually on the job.

THE AISNE CARNAGE

If the battle raging on the banks of the Aisne is truly as represented, the final toll of death will be enormous, for the great feature of the fighting is the dreadful cannonade that has poured shot, shell and bullet on the respective lines of both the Germans and the allies. English despatches say that the battle has developed into a siege with the Germans firmly entrenched in almost impenetrable positions and with the English and French burrowing towards them, digging up fresh trenches as they advance. Occasionally the fight has come to tests of "cold steel" between detached groups but for the most part the damage has been done by the most deadly guns of the respective powers, carefully planted behind the respective positions of either side and trained on the strategic points of the enemy's fortifications. The Germans, apparently, had anticipated the possibility of defeat to their preliminary plans of invasion for they had made arrangements to take up their present position on the Aisne some weeks ago. After ten or eleven days' continuous fighting, the result of the battle cannot be far distant.

It is not very alarming, after all, to consider that there is a possibility of a federal war tax on beer, tobacco, pullman tickets, cheques, etc. Most of us anticipate but little hardship on that score, but if we must give up beer, pullman tickets, etc.—Oh well!

A news item from New Orleans states that the bubonic plague there is not entirely stamped out yet as two new cases have been discovered. Would it not be a most effective war move for one contesting force to enclose some bubonic plague germs in capsules and send them into the ranks of the enemy? Not a whit more horrible than some of the things being done daily, and, when all is said and done, war is at best only a process of extermination—furthered by any means at hand.

Let us hope that the cleaning out of the boulevard main by the New York concern will result in visible cleanliness to the water system. We have long tried to believe that our police dotted supply is pure, but the stomach is apt to be ruled by the evidence of the eyes. Let us have but clear water for a while and the warnings of twenty experts will not be able to keep us from drinking copious draughts.

Although there is little sincerity in the economy cry of the republicans, the democrats must not ignore the fact that it may be made effective campaign material. Economy just now is good politics as well as good business. If only the republicans could point out some precedent while they were in power, their contention would carry more force.

The day of prayers for peace is approaching. Will the day of peace follow?

not wait for the waiter, but addressed the "bun." When the "bun" returned he brought a glass of iced tea. The order was given again, and the boy repeated it—at least that is what the two assistant managers thought. When he came back the next time he bore a plate of iced cream.

"Maybe he's French," said one to the other. He addressed the boy in that language. A blank look and a shake of the head was the reply. Next he tried him in German, with the same result. Spanish and Italian fell upon deaf ears.

"It'll hot he's a Pole," said one of the assistant managers, and he called over a captain and told him to address the boy in Polish.

Again the boy shook his head, but this time he spoke.

"I'm very sorry, Sir," he said, "but I'm Irish and I don't speak anything but English. I didn't suppose I was required to speak five languages."

SHUCKING CORN
Ho boys, we go, boys out to the fields of corn.
To the yellow ears and tawny spears that hang in the front of corn.
Where the purple whiffs from the ripened burrs and floats in the hazy air.
And the wild geese cry in the autumn sky, and the day is dawning fair.

Pluck 'em and shuck 'em and chuck The corn that is shorn in the morn of the day.
The gold that is rolled in the fold of the husk, and the dews of the morn.

We'll rip and we'll strip and we'll crib before dusk.
Gee when, keep the row—we're gathering in the grain.
The swelling crib with bulging rib will shelter the stalk from rain.
The golden rod, in tangled sod, like lumps of the Doge.

In beauty fills the amber hills, suffused in rich gamboge.
The ripened grapes in perfect shapes, and crimson apples cling.
The elder press with firm carers their luscious juice will wring.
The sparkling cup abrimming up, we'll drink in hearty praise.
To hurrying hours and fading flowers and Indian summer days.

The fiddler shocks of bladed stalks and scarlet leaves in silent sheaves describe a warrior band.

Ho hi, the pumpkin pie, and hominy and pork!
Speed along with happy song; the day is fine for work.
Yank the ear and ring it clear and toss it on the lead—
Tonight I see my dear Marie in the cottage down the road.

—George T. Edson.

ANOTHER GRAFT NAILED

The executive council is to be commended for its action in putting a check on the grafting game of members of legislative recess committees who evade their duty but collect compensation for services not rendered. Hereafter the rule will be, no work, no pay for such delinquents. These committees, at best, are a needless expense to the state inasmuch as they rarely do much that is of value to the state of general information for the guidance of the legislature but are a device whereby their members are furnished with an excuse for spending a little extra money in addition to their regular salaries out of the commonwealth.—Fall River Globe.

AMERICAN TOURISTS

It is supposed that the number of American tourists home from Europe by the war will reach 100,000. Already 87,000 have passed through London on their way and many of them needed help from the relief committee. The total number is surprising in its magnitude. Few persons could believe that so many of their countrymen were abroad at one time. Next year and for some years to come these repatriated patriots should devote some time to seeing their own country, and they probably will. Their absence from England and the continent will be another item in the cost of the present war.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

LITTLE INCONSISTENCIES

W. M. Ivins, appearing for Chairman Barnes of the New York state republican committee in the Roosevelt campaign developed two regrettable changes. One was the introduction of the sectarian issue, and the other the effort of the chairman of the republican committee of Boston to advise republicans of the state as to what he considered the official republican state. As a matter of fact the republican state committee had no knowledge of either of these moves.—Berkshire Eagle.

Senator Says Peace Talk
Originated With German Agents

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—"All the allies are determined," said Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, yesterday, "that they will put an end to the conditions which made the hideous calamity of this war possible. And they will fight on until this purpose is accomplished. These are the plain facts, and we had better look them in the face."

Senator Lodge and Mrs. Lodge came into port on the White Star liner Olympic, which reached quarantine before daylight and docked shortly before 9. They have been in England since the middle of June, and were unable to get steamship accommodations which pleased them any earlier.

"An interesting neutrality incident occurred as the ship was docking. A strong flood tide swung the Olympic's unwieldy bulk upstream, and four tug boats hauled her stern around. One of the tugs belonged to the Hamburg-American line, a German company helping to dock a British ship."

Senator Lodge said: "I am going home to Nahant for awhile, and then probably to Washington. When Congress is in continuous session, you see, one can drop in at any time."

"What about the war situation?" he was asked.

"I have here," said the senator from Massachusetts, taking some penciled sheets of note paper from his pocket, "a statement for the newspapermen. You won't be able to read it, but Mr. Clark, my secretary, can."

"If I have," said Mr. Lodge, smiling his famous smile, "it is in the statement." Nor would he speak again.

Mr. Clark read the statement. It said:

"I am chiefly interested in having the United States maintain a strict neutrality; I mean a neutrality which is not relaxed at one point to help one belligerent, and tightened at another belligerent, but a neutrality which is absolutely honest and equally right towards all belligerents."

"No Time for Peace"

"The time may come, I hope it will come, when our good offices may be effectively used for the restoration of peace. But that time has not yet come. This talk about peace, just now, is originated by German agents for the purpose of affecting public opinion here and elsewhere. There is no reality to it, and if our government permits itself to be used at this time by the originators of this peace talk, it will not only make itself ridiculous, but, what is far worse, our future influence, which ought to be of great value, at the right moment, will be crippled and weakened."

"I take no side, I advocate no cause, in saying this. But we ought to look facts in the face. We must dismiss from our minds, once for all, any idea of a speedy peace, which will leave everything in the same condition as existed in July. This will never be."

"Either Germany will win, or the allies. Either Germany will dictate the terms of peace or the allies will. There will be no half way about it. If Germany conquers France, England and Russia, she will dominate Europe, and will subsequently extend that domination, if she can, to the rest of the world."

"Great Britain and Ireland, France and Belgium, believe they are fighting the battle of freedom and democracy; the battle for public law against the law of the sword, and for the right of small nations to exist. Russia believes that she is fighting against German domination, and for the freedom and rights of Slavic populations everywhere."

Allies Are Determined

"All the allies are determined that they will put an end to the conditions which made the hideous calamity of this war possible. They will fight on until this purpose is accomplished. These are the plain facts, and we had better look them in the face."

"It is for us to maintain our neutrality, and at the right moment to use all our influence for a peace that will be lasting and which will bring with it a general reduction of armaments. No other peace is worth having."

MISSIONS HARD HIT

WAR REPORTED A BURDEN ALL OVER THE WORLD—COMMERCIAL IS STOPPED EVERYWHERE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Secretary A. W. Halsey of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions reports conditions at the missions all over the world as unparalleled in the history of the church. Commerce is stopped everywhere and he declares no inhabitant on the globe has escaped the effects of the war.

"I thought I had seen the country restless before, but never have I imagined anything like the present distress and hopelessness," writes Rev. Dr. William S. Nelson, long a missionary in Syria, from Tripoli under date of Aug. 21.

"Riding across the country on Monday and Tuesday, across three districts, I did not see a single camel or mule or horse and only a few weak donkeys and very few men. All were hiding from the army draft."

"The draft calls for practically all the able-bodied men, camels, cattle and sheep as well as grain still on the threshing floors."

"The cruelty of the officials trying to enforce the orders means beating and abuse for the men and destruction of household effects in the villages. Some men say if they ever reach the front they will throw down their arms and go to the rear, in the hope of getting enough to eat."

Conscription Feared

At Beirut, presided by fear of conscription, the wildest rumors were widely believed, missionaries write. "Reports indicate that already fighting is going on between the Germans and the British for the possession of this territory. The board has received word from its agents in England that a large shipment of milk and quinine cannot be delivered at Kamerun."

Missionaries in China write: "China depends almost exclusively on her maritime exports to Germany and France are the principal buyers in times of peace, but no freight can be delivered at present and trade with Europe is suppressed. All factories are either closed or are working with a reduced staff, at starvation wages."

There is a popular uprising in demand for bread, for there are countless homes where everything has already been pawned for food. We may see some of the furor of the communique repeated unless the wealthy are disposed to share their plethoric possessions with the poor."

In West Africa the situation is declared critical. "The West Africa mission," it says, "with an exception of a single station at Benito, is located in Kamerun, German territory."

HEN HAS AUTO RIDE

WESTFIELD, Sept. 24.—When a Southwick man stopped his automobile on Elm street late last night after a trip from his home his attention was called to something on the front axle.

An investigation showed that one of his big Buick Coches had been used to rest on the machine and had hung on all the way into Westfield, a distance of six miles. The owner did not notice the hen when he cranked the machine, as it was very dark.

Biddy was removed from her perch and went back home in a bag.

For the first time in the history of the town, the teachers of the Pollard school, Billerica, were yesterday afternoon obliged to pick up their books and papers and hold the school session under the trees in the yard adjoining the building. Mrs. Bailey and Miss Stone, teachers in the new addition to the school, found that the heat was too intense for study and hence a part of the yard was converted into school rooms and the studies were carried on.

GERMAN CRUISERS RETURN TO THE BOSPHORUS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says he has learned from a diplomatic source that the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which took refuge in Turkish waters shortly after the outbreak of the war, steamed out of the sea of Marmara Monday and returned to the Bosphorus yesterday.

AUSTRIAN GENERAL A PRISONER AT LEMBERG

IN GALICIA THE RUSSIANS HAVE ### TAKEN POSSESSION OF JAROSLAW

PARIS, Sept. 24, 2.30 p. m.—The following official announcement was made in Paris this afternoon:

"First: On our left wing, between the River Somme and the River Oise, our troops have advanced in the direction of Roye. A detachment occupied Peronne and held this position in spite of a spirited attack on the part of the enemy between the River Oise and the River Aisne the enemy continues to maintain important bodies of troops, well entrenched. We have made a slight advance to the northwest of Berry-au-Bac."

"Second: On the center, between Rheims and the Argonne district, the situation shows no change. To the east of the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse, the enemy has continued his attacks, delivering them with special violence. The fighting continues, accompanied by alternate retreats and advances at certain points and advances at others."

"On our right wing there has been no change of importance. In the region of Nancy and the Vosges certain detachments of the enemy have again attempted to enter upon French soil, driving back light covering bodies of our troops, but their offensive was soon stopped."

"In Galicia the Russians, having taken possession of Jaroslaw are completely investing Przemyśl and continuing their offensive movement on Cracow."

GERMANS TRYING HARD TO

PIERCE LINE OF FORTS LINKING VERDUN AND TOUL

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Interest in the fighting today centers in Woerwe, says the Bordeaux correspondent of the Times where the enemy is making a serious effort to pierce the line of forts linking Verdun and Toul.

To the northeast of Verdun, the corresponding continues, east of the Meuse heights and in the direction to Mouilly their first attempts have failed. In the south of Woerwe they hold line positions running through Rheims, Metz, and Lunenburg. The general situation remains unchanged.

On the left and center the allies have the best of reasons for confidence in the result of the battle.

A week elapsed since it first became clear that although forces to abandon successive positions prepared for defense, the enemy had found to the north of the Aisne, north northwest of Rheims, formidably prepared fortified positions upon which they might hope to maintain themselves for many days while their own troops were recovering from the retreat and while the fire of victory among the allies was burning out.

The positions, enormously strong by nature and dominating the valleys and towns, have been turned into regular fortresses. The line of trenches built with science and the solidity of permanent works are covered by flanking trenches bristling with mitrailleuses and reinforced by mazes of barbed wire and blockhouses.

Most of the work on this line was finished while the battle of the Marne not yet begun. The railroads on both sides are running troops along the front, the Germans coming from Lorraine, the British from the whole empire and the French from the south and west.

Meanwhile the siege operations continue. The situation remains unchanged in spite of the furious cannonading and the desperate fighting, but with each fresh engagement the situation becomes more clear, the plan of the staff more definite and the day of its realization more imminent.

CUNARD STEAMER CALLED

THE FRANCONIA IS COMMANDEERED FOR WAR—PASSENGERS MAY GO ON MAURETANIA

The officials of the Cunard line have notified local agents that the sailing of the Franconia, scheduled from Boston next Tuesday, has been cancelled. The Franconia has been requisitioned for service in the European war by the British government. The Franconia arrived in Boston yesterday and was to sail on the 24th for Queenstown and Liverpool. The Cunard line states that passengers booked on the Franconia may be transferred to the Mauretania, sailing from New York on Sept. 30.

Among the Lowell people who were booked through Murphy's ticket agency, to sail on the Franconia is Mrs. Cutler.

DEATHS

Phinney Boyle is preparing for a busy day during the coming boxing season. The local featherweight is a trifle heavier than last year although not big enough yet for the lightweight division. If Boyle shows the same improvement this winter that he displayed during last year's bouts he will be out in the limelight before long.

Joe Jasper has created a more favorable impression upon the boxing fans of Boston with every appearance. The Hub welterweight does not know very much about the ring game although he has been pitted against many men. His aggressiveness and his willingness to stand up and fight with an opponent is what has won him popularity. Jasper's battle with Al Thiel, new Al McCoy, this week was a stirring affair from beginning to end.

Steve Kennedy, the Lawrence lightweight, will probably resume boxing before long. The down river scrapper, when in condition is a tough proposition for any of them in these parts. If Kennedy had been in shape when he boxed his battles of the past few years there would have been very few decisions against him.

Gardner Brooks will have great difficulty in finding anyone in New England who will box him this winter. His decision to defeat of Barney Snyder will make other New Englanders think long and seriously before taking a chance with the Lowell bantam weight. The boy who makes up his mind to enter the ring with young Brooks knows well what a face massage Gardner's long reach is going to effect.

There is some talk about Jim Johnson and Sam Langford being rematched at the Atlas A. A. The last bout pleased the crowd beyond a doubt. It is safe to say that neither Joe Woodman nor Langford himself will agree to having George Twohey officiate at the next encounter between the huge blacks. The last affair was Langford's yet the decision was a draw.

POPE AWAITS REPORT

Will Consider Protest on Getting Facts About the Destruction of the Beautiful Gothic Cathedral

ROME, Via Paris, Sept. 24.—The Vatican, according to the Rome newspapers, is awaiting authentic information concerning the bombardment of Rheims before considering a protest. It has been asserted that Pope Benedict telegraphed the German and Austrian emperors, deploring the damage done to the cathedral at Rheims. The Vatican, however, declines to comment on this action, saying that it will publish through its own proper channels what steps have been taken when the opportune moment arrives.

REVOLT MAY MEAN ARMED REVOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—General Carranza has informed the United States government he will not attack General Villa, but will order his forces to be on the defensive and resist attack.

The first chief's communication declared the national convention would be held as scheduled on October 1, when a provisional government would be established which he hoped would be satisfactory to the United States.

John R. Sullivan, American consular representative and the Brazilian minister, conferred at length with Carranza today and were shown the message from Villa disavowing Carranza's authority as First Chief.

At the constitutional agency here there were intimations that Carranza might send a peace commission to confer with Villa.

Nothing short of a postponement of the national convention and a system of representation satisfactory to Villa, it is believed, will induce the northern general to change his course. Already Zapata has refused to send delegates, and officials would not be surprised if Zapata and Villa joined forces against Carranza. Together they would have 60,000 to 70,000 men.

The gravity of the situation was indicated today when Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, called on Robert Lansing, acting secretary of state, to learn details of the Carranza-Villa break. The report which reached embassies and legations here was that Carranza had not been manifesting a pacific spirit, and that trouble was growing.

Secretary Bryan, who had gone to Asheville, N. C., for his health, kept in touch with the president by telephone.

DESPATCH FROM EL PASO

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 24.—If General Villa's revolt against the Carranza government results in armed revolution, the first battle probably will occur at the old battlegrounds of either Torreon or Zacatecas. General Villa forced to abandon his expedition in assistance of the Maximo revolt in Sonora today prepared to rush his troops south from Juarez and Chihuahua City to meet what was reported as a strong force of Carranza soldiers moving north from Aguas Calientes and Zacatecas.

According to official reports Villa controls 40,000 troops. Maximo has mobilized 50,000 troops in Sonora. They are mostly Yaqui Indians. Efforts, it is said, are being made by the Carranza element to enlist the services of the Mayas, a rival tribe who outnumber the Yaquis in the west coast country. Villa also probably will be able to recruit many troops from Durango state, where he has operated frequently.

Carranza's forces comprise the unified force of General Pablo Gonzalez, his eastern division commander, probably numbering about 30,000 men, and those of the west coast troops under Obregon which participated in the entry of the national capital.

It was asserted that all of the west coast forces with the exception of those led by Mayorena would stand loyal to the Carranza government. Since the lifting of the embargo about a week ago, it is said, General Villa has been importing large quantities of arms and ammunition and sending financial and material assistance to Mayorena, who as governor of Sonora first rebelled against the new Mexican government.

Efforts were made to conceal the break, but news of it leaked out in certain circles, causing a sensation among military men. It was regarded as most serious. General Pablo Gonzalez, chief of the army of the east, has telegraphed Villa an appeal which gives eight reasons why Villa should reconsider his action and remain friendly to Carranza.

MAIL BOXES ON HOUSES

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT ASKS THAT MAIL BE DELIVERED AT FRONT DOORS ONLY

Orders have been sent to all city delivery postoffices by the postoffice department, that the practice of delivering mail by carrier at the rear and side doors will have to be discontinued and that inside of 30 days residences and places of business must provide means for the receipt of their mail at the front door, either by a slot in the door or an ordinary house box.

It has been ascertained that the efficiency of the delivery service, especially in large cities, is greatly impaired by the reason of carriers delivering in other ways than through a slot box. With the assistance of the people mail slots or a mail box, the carriers are enabled to save much time and thereby increase the efficiency of the service.

ENGLISH PAPER PRINTS LINCOLN'S PLEA

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Spectator, in an article on "President Lincoln and Compulsory Service," gives verbatim Lincoln's plea for the draft as taken from John Hay's biography of Lincoln.

The paper says that while England is likely to get only a million men without conscription, it is obviously better to leave things as they are during the war "even though the voluntary system puts with a good deal of unfairness and places a heavy burden on willing shoulders."

GERMANS SUFFER GREAT DEFEAT AT SUBIR

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Paris Matin prints a despatch from Petrograd stating that the Germans who drove General Rennenkampf back into Russia are reported to have suffered a great defeat at Subir. The Russians have recaptured Subir in East Prussia on the Polish frontier. It is stated that the Germans are evacuating East Prussia to reinforce the line from Thorn, in West Prussia on the border of Poland, to Kalisz.

CASUALTIES OF OFFICERS ABOARD BRITISH CRUISERS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The admiralty in publishing a list of the casualties of officers serving aboard the cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, which were blown up and sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, says:

"Not being among those saved, it must, therefore, be presumed that they lost their lives."

The list contains 24 names from the Aboukir, 25 from the Cressy and 11 from the Hogue.

BLAIS INSANE

He Will be Committed to the State Hospital for Insane

Joseph W. Blais, who murdered his wife in this city, has been declared insane by a committee of alienists appointed by the court.

William A. Hogan has received official notification from Judge Keating of the superior court of his appointment as counsel for Blais. Mr. Hogan, up to the time of the notification, appeared for Blais at the alleged murder's solicitation.

After the matter was there were some doubts entertained by the officials who had him in charge as to his insanity. He was transferred from the local jail to the Worcester Insane asylum for observation.

Last week Dr. Deemer of this city and Dr. Wiley of Boston were appointed by the superior court as a jury commission to report definitely on Blais' mental condition. The two alienists, after a thorough examination, which took several days, declared the man insane.

It is expected that a jury will be impaneled next week which will order Blais' commitment to state hospital for the criminal insane at Bridgewater.

MONUMENT DEDICATED

IN MEMORY OF LEICESTER MEN WHO TOOK PART IN THE REVOLUTION

LEICESTER, Sept. 24.—A boulder monument commemorating the deeds of the Leicester men in the Revolution was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The arrangements were in charge of Col. Henshaw Chapter, D. A. B., and state officers of the association were present.

The exercises opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the school children. An address of welcome was given by Miss Adeline May, regent of Col. Henshaw Chapter, and prayer was offered by Rev. William Weston Patton, pastor of John Nelson Memorial church. Addresses by Mrs. George C. Jenkins of Weston, state regent of the chapters, who was guest of honor, and Daniel Kent of Worcester followed. Several of the descendants of the Minute Men and of the standing company of the town made brief remarks. The program ended with the singing of patriotic songs by the school children.

Following the exercises a reception was given in Memorial hall by Col. Henshaw Chapter. The committee in charge of the reception was Miss Caroline Thurston, Miss Adeline May, Miss Ruth Hatch, Mrs. George W. Burnett, Mrs. Frederick H. Gifford and Mrs. Harry E. Sargent.

The monument rests on the spot where the Leicester Minute Men, under command of Capt. Seth Washburn, gathered before they marched for Lexington and Concord.

THE VOTING IS DELAYED

LACK OF MACHINES CAUSE OF TROUBLE IN PITTSFIELD TUESDAY, MAYOR MOORE SAYS

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 24.—The trial of voting machines at the primaries yesterday was not satisfactory to city officials, for the voting was delayed. Three machines were used in each ward, one for each of the parties. Congestion was caused very largely by new voters who had not visited city hall for instruction on how to vote by machine.

Mayor P. J. Moore said yesterday that it was the lack of machines which caused the trouble. Many voters went to the polls and, after waiting for a time, left without voting.

BOY ADDRESSES BAPTISTS

SHELLEBURN FALLS, Sept. 24.—The annual convention of the Franklin Mills River Baptist association was continued yesterday. The morning devotional service was conducted by Rev. J. D. Graham of Colburn and an address on "Christianity in the Commonwealth" was given by Rev. H. A. Heath, general secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Missionary society.

In the afternoon meeting Charles F. Taylor, aged 14, sang and also spoke on "The One Who Never Changes." The closing exercises were led by Rev. J. B. Rice of Greenfield.

NUMBER OF WOUNDED

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS STUCK IN BATTLES, REPORTS DIRECTOR RICKNEILL

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The number of wounded in battle in Europe is already in the hundreds of thousands, the hospitals of Paris and Berlin and cottages on the battlefields and churches are filled, and many other wounded lie exposed in trenches, according to Ernest P. Rickneill, national director of the American Red Cross, who arrived here yesterday on the steamship Olympic from Liverpool.

Mr. Rickneill, who left New York on the armored cruiser Tennessee, which carried gold to Americans in need in Europe, spent several weeks observing conditions in the countries at war.

"Official reports give little definite information of the losses, but the number of wounded is already in the hundreds of thousands," Mr. Rickneill said. "The truth is that over the thousands of square miles already battle-swept there have been left almost countless thousands of men helpless from ghastly wounds. Some have been gathered into trains by the Red Cross surgeons and nurses and taken to hospitals in the larger cities."

"Into Paris and Berlin thousands have already been brought, and one by one the hospitals have been filled and public and private buildings have been utilized for the wounded, but still the numbers increase."

Some of the wounded were taken into cottages on the battlefields and the churches, but still there are thousands who lie in the trenches and in the fields suffering from thirst and exposure.

"Let no man imagine the American Red Cross can do too much or enough. Nurses and surgeons are needed more and more and also medical and hospital supplies."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

M. O. COOK ARRESTED IN HAVERHILL AS RESULT OF DEATH OF NEPHEW, P. C. COOK

HAVERHILL, Sept. 24.—Melvin O. Cook was arrested yesterday afternoon on charge of manslaughter, the police alleging he was responsible for injuries that Cook's nephew, Philip C. Cook, suffered last Saturday evening in falling on a sidewalk on Emerson street, which resulted in his death.

The police first learned about the alleged assault when a report was made to headquarters that Philip C. Cook had died at the Haverhill City hospital of concussion of the brain and a fractured skull. Medical Examiner John P. Croston, who heard of a street fight on Emerson street Saturday ordered undertakers to discontinue embalming the body until after the autopsy.

Inspector I. G. Hussey located Mrs. Laura Wildes of 11 Temple street, Boston, who was a witness of the alleged assault. Yesterday she identified M. O. Cook as the man whom she saw strike P. C. Cook, and his arrest followed.

Dist. Atty. Atwell granted authority for an autopsy which was performed last evening. The accused uncle denies there was an assault, the claim being that Cook fell on the sidewalk and accidentally sustained the injuries that resulted in his death.

THE VOTING IS DELAYED

LACK OF MACHINES CAUSE OF TROUBLE IN PITTSFIELD TUESDAY, MAYOR MOORE SAYS

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 24.—The trial of voting machines at the primaries yesterday was not satisfactory to city officials, for the voting was delayed. Three machines were used in each ward, one for each of the parties. Congestion was caused very largely by new voters who had not visited city hall for instruction on how to vote by machine.

Mayor P. J. Moore said yesterday that it was the lack of machines which caused the trouble. Many voters went to the polls and, after waiting for a time, left without voting.

MERRIMAC MARKET DAY

AUTO PARADE FOLLOWED BY SALE AT JAMAICA PARK, IN CHARGE OF IMPROVEMENT SOC.

MERRIMAC, Sept. 24.—Market day was observed with an automobile parade yesterday afternoon. Some 50 machines were in line, fully 35 of which were from this place, Haverhill contributing the remainder. The autos were gaily decorated, as were the business places and many homes.

The procession was headed by a band. Fred S. Hardwick was chief marshal. The parade was in charge of Fred S. Hardwick, Miss Sally Delano, Mrs. Ralph Lane, Mrs. Charles Staples, Byron Sargent, Ralph W. Hammond, Louis B. Davis, Howard Lovell.

At the conclusion of the parade, the citizens assembled at Jamaica park where the town improvement association had inaugurated a sale known as Market Day. In the evening a band concert enlivened matters. The committee at the park were Mrs. George Trevelyan, Mrs. T. H. Patten, Mrs. Fred T. Parker, Mrs. John Currier, Mrs. N. J. Howe, Mrs. Harriet Lockwood, Mrs. George B. Patten, supper; Mrs. Harry Morgan, Mrs. Byron Sargent, Mrs. George MacGonigal, Mrs. Alexander Blake, Miss Myra Stronach, confelons; T. TROLLEY CAR ON ANDOVER AND HAVERHILL LINE LEAPS CURVE—SIX PASSENGERS SHAKEN

ANDOVER, Sept. 24.—A Bay State Street railway car on the Andover and Haverhill line jumped the track at a curve on Elm street about 5:15 yesterday afternoon and crashed into a stone wall. The car was running slowly, but the half dozen passengers were shaken.

The accident is believed to have been caused by rail spreading. Traffic on the line was delayed for several hours until the car could be replaced on the track and taken to Haverhill.

WALTER H. BRACKETT, 92, ENJOYS CAMPING AND FISHING TRIP IN WILDERNESS OF QUEBEC

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Walter H. Brackett, eminent Boston artist and sportsman, has returned to his Boston street studio after two months of camping and fishing in the wilderness around the mouth of the Saguenay and Marguerite rivers in Quebec, Canada.

Brackett is 92 years old and is not the oldest active painter in America, but the oldest active sportsman. He made the trip alone and returned alone, 10 years younger than when he started, and as he expresses it, "feeling like a 4-year-old."

Temperature Today Considerably Lower Than Yesterday—Hot Spell Apparently Broken

The report from the weather bureau at Washington that cooler weather was due today proved to be correct and the temperature dropped down perceptibly. As a result persons having occasion to walk the streets did so with much more comfort than on any day since Saturday when this part of the country was enveloped in a hot wave.

The thermometer at the local police station registered 83 in the shade today, a falling off of about 10 degrees since yesterday.

Bar's thermometer in Merrimack square hovered around 78 while yesterday at this place it registered close to 92. A cool breeze was blowing which added greatly to the pleasantness of the day. The hot spell is apparently broken.

LYNN POLICE COURT PROCEEDINGS

Police court proceedings were interrupted this morning momentarily when Lieut. Maher, the head of the local police detectives, rushed into the court room and whispered excitedly in the ear of his chief. The cause of the hurry on Lieut. Maher's part was soon learned.

David Stryoman, alleged forger, thief and all around crook, was arrested by the local detective this morning at the factory of the Barry Shoe Co., charged with the larceny of a watch, chain and locket from a Lynn man. The arrest was made for the Lynn police.

About ten days ago Supt. Welch received a telegram from Chief Inspector Faurot of the New York police. The wire requested the local police to be on the lookout for a man traveling under the name of David Stryoman and gave a description of him. The crime he is wanted for in New York is forgery.

Lieut. Maher and Inspector Petrie were immediately sent out on the trail. The officers finally, after several days' search, located a friend of the man wanted in New York.

This friend worked in the Barry Shoe Shop but denied knowing anything about the whereabouts of his much wanted acquaintance. He was shown constantly, however, but without results.

Yesterday morning two inspectors of the Lynn police came here and made known their errand at the local barracks. Stryoman was also wanted by them. It seems, for lifting a man's watch and chain several weeks ago.

Supt. Welch and the two Lynn officers held a consultation and it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Lowell police. They Lynn cops were in possession of a picture of Stryoman and this photograph they sent to Lowell this morning.

Lieut. Maher then started out with the wanted man's photo and was not gone long before he returned with the prisoner. The photograph was readily recognized by the foreman of the shop as the likeness of a man who was employed there under the name of Arthur Smith. Arthur Smith, alias David Stryoman, was called into the office and was then placed under arrest.

Mr. Harry Barry of the Barry Shoe Co., stated that Stryoman had gotten suspicious from some cause and had made all arrangements to sell his concerns at the shop and get out of town. If Lieut. Maher had called an hour later it is altogether probable that he would have found a vacant bench instead of Stryoman.

Stryoman will be turned over to the Lynn police this afternoon. After he

RUSSIA COMPLETES COLOSSAL OPERATION

Greatest Ever Undertaken by a Military Power—By Her Conquests in Galicia She Controls the Greatest Supply of Gasoline in Europe—The Russian Movement Now Described as a Huge Wedge—Her Sources of Supply Well Protected

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Virtually no new information has reached London this morning concerning the progress of events in the western war area, but from the east comes news which here is taken to show that Russia has almost completed the first stage of what may be considered in its entirety the most colossal operation ever undertaken by a military power.

The fall of the Austrian fortress of Jaroslau virtually completes the investment of Przemyśl so far as lines of communication are concerned. Even the continued occupation of Cracow by Austrian and German forces has not aided in that junction of Austrian and German armies which is necessary to keep Russia from overrunning Galicia and from pushing the armies of Austria back to the ridge of the Carpathians. By her conquests in Galicia Russia now controls the greatest supply of gasoline in Europe. This product is of the utmost importance to Russia because of her necessity for motor transport.

The Russian movement is now described as a huge wedge, the right line of which extends roughly from Libau on the Baltic, along the railroad line to Warsaw. The Russian general, Rennenkampf, is guarding this line. It protects the Russian sources of supply and prevents any outflanking movement against the Russian army attack, which already, according

LABOR BOARD

Says He Found Himself Always in the Minority

Appointment of Mulready in His Absence Specific Reason

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers' Union, started the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., yesterday afternoon by announcing that he had resigned as the representative of organized labor on the state board of labor and industries.

The announcement came in the midst of an address on conditions in the textile industry. For a minute the hundreds of men and women in the hall sat news from Roumania that the exportation of coal to Austria has been forbidden may be followed, it is held here, by a similar measure regarding gasoline. This would virtually deprive Austria and her ally of this very necessary product for their auto transport and aerial service.

With all the necessary motor transport, together with absolute command of her few railroads which are no longer threatened by invaders, English observers expect Russia to continue to move with that rapidity which in the past has amazed English military experts. It has been predicted that on account of her lack of railroad facilities Russia would take six months to get as many men into the field as she has already stationed along the line of this great wedge in two months' time.

Combined Montenegrin and Serbian forces are said today to be in occupation of the entire southeast section of Bosnia and Herzegovina. No official confirmation has been received by Russian sources of the report that a Russian cruiser has destroyed a German cruiser and two torpedo boats in the Baltic.

The British public this morning is expressing elation at the feat of British airmen of having dropped bombs on supply sheds near Cologne and confidence is growing that Great Britain is better protected than hitherto has been believed from an aerial assault by Germany.

In Belgium, the defenders and invaders hold their relative positions without change but many reports are being transmitted to England that the Germans are feverishly entrenching along their line of communications.

RUSSIAN OPERATIONS BEING DIRECTED WITH A VIEW TO CAPTURE OF KHYRUV

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—"All possibility of the Austro-German forces near Przemyśl effecting a junction with the other armies further west has now been excluded, as the Russians have reached the river Wislok," says a despatch from Petrograd to the Morning Post. The message continues:

"To the south of Przemyśl the Russian operations are being directed with a view to the capture of Khyruv, a junction station 20 miles south of Przemyśl which will completely cut off the Austrians last Galician fortress from communication in any direction and give the Russians command of all routes towards Cracow and the lines passing into Hungary."

The position now held indicates the rolling up of the Austrian forces right up to Cracow. It is believed here now that the investment of Przemyśl has been practically completed and that another week at least will bring news of the final crushing of the Austro-German forces."

GERMANS PRACTICALLY IN TOUCH WITH THE FRENCH 13TH ARMY CORPS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The correspondent of the Times in France reports that Uhlans yesterday blew up the railroad bridge at Miramont between Amiens and Arras. He adds:

"We are certainly on the eve of great events in this region, whence the enemy is being gradually pushed out by the Germans who are still strong beyond a line drawn roughly from St. Amant through Donain, Ronchail and Cambrai."

"The Germans are practically in touch with the French 13th army corps at Courchelette and Arleux, where fighting may be expected."

without a sound, but when he tried to explain his reasons for his resignation he was compelled to stop because of the cheers and applause.

A full telling of the conditions in the southern textile mills and the fight that is being waged to change them, Mr. Golden said: "When Pres. Alden introduced me to this convention I was introduced as a member of the Massachusetts board of labor and industries."

"This introduction was an innocent mistake because at 11 o'clock this morning I had ceased to be a member of this board, because at that time I sent my resignation to Gov. Walsh."

"Effort after effort has been made by organized labor to secure legislation for the betterment of the working men and women. We secured the board of labor and industries. We demanded a commission to shoulder the responsibility of the position, a man with a union card, who would have a heart in his work and an interest in bettering the conditions of his fellowmen."

"In place of our requests and demands, a commission was appointed. This commission did not live out its natural life, and this year a new commission was appointed, with the reappointment of only one member of the former commission, a woman."

"I was appointed to the new board, and from my experience there I have nothing but words of praise for the woman member, who had the courage at all times to stand up and fight for her rights and the rights of men and women, whom the board was appointed to care for."

"But, after I pass her, I will say no more, as I believe that the others try, but they don't know what they are trying to do, as their hearts are not in sympathy with the work, but if they are, they are not in the right place."

"I learned this for certain when I recently returned from the west and found that the board had, during my absence from the state, saddled onto us for five years, as commissioner of labor, the man who is now in the position. I took the only course that was open for me to take, and that was to turn in my resignation, which I did today, and which took effect immediately on being presented."

Single Commissioner Needed

"I am satisfied after practical experience that the commission form of handling labor laws is wrong, because no matter what kind of men or women are on this commission, the labor representative is always in the minority and is treated as such."

"I am convinced that the fight of organized labor against the commission is right, and the only way to register the labor laws is by a single commissioner, a man who carries a union card and knows from experience, what to do, and who has a heart and a head clear enough to do right."

Immigration After War

"Commissioner John B. Lennon told me that he had been informed that other than San Francisco, Boston was the worst offender in the country for Chinese smuggling. I want to say that the Chinese immigration laws are now being enforced better in Boston, than they have been for a number of years."

"Nothing is so corrupt as Chinese smuggling, and when we complete our investigations and get the evidence which we are now after, we will make revelations which will startle the country, owing to the positions in society which some of the persons we will get occupy."

"Following this present European war we will get multitudes of aliens, many more than flowed into this country after the war of 1870. In an effort to prevent this it is up to you members of organized labor to get busy on the laws and take advantage of the present conditions."

Withheld From Governor

John Golden of Fall River, president of the United Textile Workers' union, yesterday sent his resignation to Gov. Walsh as a member of the state board of labor and industries. Because of the fact that the governor is still a resident at the Westralia office, he did not feel like disturbing him about it or making the contents of the letter public without the governor's permission.

Following is the official statement, issued by the board:

"Mr. Golden's statement that he had sent his resignation to the governor came as a great surprise to his fellow-members of the state board of labor and industries, and when he was asked his reasons he stated that he had the greatest respect for the individual members of the board and felt that they acted according to the dictates of their consciences in all their decisions, including the appointment of a commissioner of labor, Mr. Edwin Mulready, who was in a neutral position as far as capital and labor are concerned; but that he (Mr. Golden) represented organized labor, and in the board refusing to appoint a man for commissioner of labor for the state of Massachusetts who was actively connected with organized labor, such action placed him out of tune with the work of the board, and that he (Mr. Golden) felt that he could not further continue to serve on the board."

"The state board of labor and industries expressed great regrets that Mr. Golden felt he could no longer continue to give to the state, as a member of the board, his valuable assistance in the good work they were doing."

GEORGE CHARETTE,
Chief Gunner U. S. N.

By Lieut. Com. Hobson—Lowell Man Now in Asiatic Waters Will Return for Christmas Holidays

George Charette of this city, chief gunner aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, is now located in the Asiatic stations, according to information received from Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who is deeply interested in the welfare of the hero of the U. S. S. Merrimack, and who will be home in Lowell for his Christmas dinner.

On Sept. 18, an item was published in The Sun in reference to the whereabouts of George Charette. It being stated that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Charette of Gershom avenue were very anxious about their son, not having received news from him for several months, while they expected he would return to Lowell in July, when his term of 30 years' service expired.

The congressman, who was in Washington when the item was published, and who by the way, receives The Sun daily, became interested after reading the item and immediately interviewed Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation in the navy department, and the information received was to the effect that Mr. Charette is still aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, located in the Asiatic stations. The ship has no regular course to follow, but steams around China and Japan. The rear admiral also informed the congressman that present plans were to order Mr. Charette to his home in November or December and unless plans are changed the hero of the Merrimack will attend the Christmas dinner at the home of his parents.

Referring to George Charette it may be of local interest to read a short address delivered recently in the house of congress by Congressman Hobson, who was in charge of the expedition that sank the Merrimack in the port of Santiago during the Spanish-American war.

Congressman Hobson had occasion to speak about the young heroes who gave up their lives in the recent Mexican trouble and he also dwelt at length on the sinking of the Merrimack, making special reference to the Lowell man. His address was in part as follows:

"A matter came up—a little incident; a little expedition—in my day. Being a naval constructor, knowing how to build ships, I naturally knew how to sink ships. The question of sinking a ship came up, and naturally I wanted to be associated with it. Seven men were wanted, and Admiral Sampson issued a call for seven men. The call was issued by signal from the flagship, and more than a thousand responded."

"The main trouble I had from that time to the time we started in was in refusing the appeals of men—some who had been my old shipmates, pleading with me on personal grounds, others on other grounds, all begging me to let them go in. Yes, young Poinsett and his comrades, who so gladly gave up their young lives in the Mexican trouble, make me think of those seven men as they lay with me on the deck as the ship was slowly sinking. Only two torpedoes went off. We had 10, but the wiring and the batteries connected with the others had been broken and cut away and crushed before the time came to fire them. Only two went off. So we went down slowly right under the muzzles of their cannon. The original plan was that after firing the torpedoes we would quickly get away from the ship in the lifeboat and thus try to escape; but the lifeboat was shot away, and I changed my plan entirely, but did not explain it to them."

"Well do I remember those seven men there. Shall I follow them, shall I follow them to pieces above us, on both sides of us. My men would say, 'Now, can we be off?' I would say, 'No, no man move until further orders.' When the boiler went up they asked, 'Can we go?' I said, 'No man move until further orders.' At last the ship gave a lurch, just before she was going down, and heaved as though she would turn over on us, and we heard the gurgling and the rushing sound of the whirlpool approaching, and they asked, 'Can we get off now?' and I said, 'No, stay with me.' And they stayed with me, gentlemen, every last one of them, and went down with me, no man knowing whether he would ever come up again."

"Now, I have another little memory—an afterthought that comes up. By 11 o'clock that day we were in the Morro. All the men were in one cell—seven men in one dark cell. I knew it was a question of their health, and I called upon the commandant to let one of them come to me for instructions about taking care of their health. They sent George Charette of Lowell. After he got his instructions he put his heels together and saluted and said, 'Sir, the men looked as though they were getting ready to execute us. Everything looked that way. There was that one chance to send me a message. What do you suppose that message was?'"

"I will not describe how we had stayed in the water after we came up, clinging to the edge of an old raft, with our bodies submerged, hiding as the Spaniards in launches closed in around us. My men knew they would kill us if they discovered us. For hours we remained. Again and again the men wanted to dive and swim away, each one for himself, but I would not consent, but just told them to stand by me, and they stayed. Now you would think that a man going through an experience like that would never want to go into it again. The message they sent to me was this—I can see Charette, with his heels together, as he said: 'Sir, the men asked me to tell you that they would go in with you again tonight.'"

SEVEN HOURS DEBATE

WAR REVENUE BILL WILL PROBABLY PASS HOUSE TOMORROW—SHIP BILL NEXT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A special rule limiting debate on the war revenue bill to seven hours and harring amendments was agreed upon late yesterday by the house rules committee. A vote on the bill probably will be reached Friday.

The committee also agreed upon a rule to make next in order for consideration the Alexander Bill for the purchase, building and operation of ships by a company to be organized by the government. It would allow eight hours of general debate and opportunity for amendment. Chairman Henry was authorized to call up the bill at his discretion. The recent omnibus rule for expediting all of the conservative bills, several of which have been passed, was vacated and it was agreed that the radium bill should be called up as a privileged measure whenever it might be deemed advisable.

ATHOL, Sept. 23.—During the firemen's parade this evening, Kenneth Ledrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urbane Ledrew of Tremont street, was run over by the auto of E. H. Solidge of Orange. The boy ran directly across the street into the path of the machine, which was proceeding slowly. General Sec. Barry of the Y. M. C. A. picked up the lad, who was taken to the office of Dr. W. J. Bolton. It was found no bones were broken, but both knees, his head and shoulder were more or less injured.

GOLDIE'S MISTAKE

Once upon a time there was a goldsmith who made lots of pretty and very valuable jewelry in his little shop. He had a daughter named Goldie who had been away at school and had just come home to spend a long time with her father for her mother was dead and her father was getting old and needed someone to care for him.

When Goldie came home she found the house very untidy for her father had no time for housework, and she spent several days sweeping and dusting until the house looked very clean and nice.

Pretty soon, one day, father did not feel well and asked Goldie to go to the shop and get from his safe a piece of jewelry which must be sent to the person who had bought it that day.

Goldie did as she was told, but when she got to the shop she found it very dirty, so she took a broom and dust pan and swept it very clean. She noticed a lot of shiny bits of metal but, as they were on the floor, thought they were of no use, so she swept them up and threw them with the dust into the river which ran by the shop.

It wasn't until two or three days afterward that her father went back to the shop and found the floor swept clean. He rushed home and found Goldie.

"Oh, what have you done?" he cried. "You have swept up my floor and thrown away all the metal silver and clippings from the jewelry which drops on the floor as I work. It is worth a great deal of money and now you have gone and thrown it in the river."

Goldie was very sorry for you see she didn't know that in the dust on a goldsmith's floor are lots of valuable bits of metal.

HUMAN SIDE OF LORD KITCHENER

Wife of One of His Staff Tells Stories of His Kindness

A Strict Disciplinarian—He Enforces Square Deal for All

Woolwich with my parents when I first saw the then engineer, Kitchener. He was most shy and diffident, but I wasn't. In truth I was just the opposite, and probably that is the reason we became fast friends. Even now I can remember how he started when I asked him to please fasten my skirt. He did it, but he blushed. Not long after that when he was called to Egypt he gave me a doll, and I treasured it many years.

Mrs. Erskine told how, when she was 8 or 9, Kitchener returned on leave and removed the acquaintance, telling her all about the Soudan and teaching her French. Next time she saw him she had reached the mature age of 19 and was in love with Capt. Erskine of his staff. It was then that she learned of his objections to the marriage of any officers. He was a star of the Anglo-Egyptian army then, and England was beginning to take some notice of him.

Hebroke for his Government.

"When my husband's leave of absence expired I went to Algeria to be near him," said Mrs. Erskine, "and there got a better idea of Kitchener in the field. I remember one incident distinctly. The Sirdar wanted a certain modern make of gun and so specified in a requisition sent to the war office. In due time he received a reply saying the government would send a different make. Immediately he returned the order across which he had written, 'You may keep your guns; I can throw stones at the Arabs myself.' It is needless to say he received the weapons he desired.

"It was during this campaign that he recommended to D. S. O. (distinguished service order) a Roman Catholic bishop named Robert Brindley, and was approached by a member of his staff, who remarked he hardly thought this would be popular in England unless a church of England divine was also named. I recommended a man for distinguished service, the general quickly replied, 'His religion has nothing to do with the matter. Personally, it doesn't concern me what the people at home have to say.'"

"When Kitchener was going home after conquering the Soudan I met him in Marseilles. He was wearing a blue serge suit and a derby hat, and was much less conspicuous than the members of his staff. And this in spite of the fact that he was about to be made Lord Kitchener of Khartoum. I remember distinctly one thing he said to me. It was this: 'I had always hoped my little girl would not marry a soldier.'"

"Why?" I asked. "Because," he replied, "is long drawn out torture for a soldier's wife. Do you realize you'll have to play second fiddle to your husband?"

"Yes," I answered, "I know that, but after all he loves me best." "True enough," said Kitchener, "he loves you, but in event of war he'll have to leave you. War is his profession and he'll have to follow it."

"If Kitchener was determined in war he was equally determined in peace. One thing he had set his heart upon was an English college at Khartoum. He was always raising money for it and I remember after he had been made a lord he raised £25,000 by his subscription. There was a very big banquet in the city as a result of the center of London, and the promoters wanted him as chief drawing card. 'I'll be there if you'll subscribe £20,000 for the college,' he said. The committee finally offered £10,000. 'Now it will cost you £25,000,' said his lordship—and he got the entire amount.

His Estimate of Fame

"Later on Lord Kitchener, my husband and myself attended an affair in the general's honor. It was held in the Corn Exchange at a small country seat near London and was a very small, pompous master of ceremonies. On the way home we passed an ice cream cart on which were lithographs of Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales and our companion. 'That, and that only, is fame,' declared his lordship, 'flicking his own dust-covered picture of the general of his riding whip.'"

Every newspaper reader knows that during the present war correspondents are completely bottled up. Apropos of this Mrs. Erskine tells of a remark once made by Lord Kitchener having a distinct bearing on the subject:

"If there is ever a great war and I happen to be a secretary, he once said to me, 'I'll make it a criminal offense to print unauthorized news. But if there is a great war' he added, 'I am sure not to be war secretary.'"

"In the Soudan campaign some of the correspondents begged to go to Khartoum and write what they saw. He just smiled at them and replied: 'You can write what you see.' Then he took good pains that they remained in the rear and saw nothing.

"The general was big enough to do little things and we all loved him for it. I recall that I once wanted my cousin, a member of the guards, to take me to a theater in London, but I told him he must buy seats in the pit. He was horrified. 'What! he said, 'I'll sit in the pit with your husband a member of the Tenth Hussars! You can't afford to do that!'

The general overheard the conversation and smiled a three-cornered smile for which he is famous. 'I'm going to London this afternoon,' he remarked to me, 'and I'll take you to the pit. I'm not a member of the guards.' We went, but we didn't sit in the pit."

Once When He Retreated

Lord Kitchener's only retreat was orderly, but still a retreat. It occurred in London not so long after royal honors had been conferred upon him by Queen Victoria whose hand he kissed, although, as he later said, "it was a long way down to reach it."

On the day of the retreat the general had been fated at a dozen affairs and finally wound up at a tea where Mrs. Erskine was one of the guests. Women, particularly, had besieged him and when he saw his old friend he rushed to her.

"Talk to me! Please talk to me! Never mind what you say," he said, "I'm something just as though I was important," he begged me, said Mrs. Erskine. "So I talked to him about nothing and finally managed to ask him what had disturbed him. 'It's those two women over there,' he said, pointing to a couple of grand dames. 'They have been following me all the afternoon and I didn't think I ever would escape.'"

Kitchener has a sense of humor as well as a sense of justice. One day he, Capt. Erskine, the latter's wife, and others were visiting friends in Colchester and ate heartily of greengages, which is English for a sort of plum which is green when it's ripe.

"The general saw me devouring quantities and finally took me to task," said Mrs. Erskine. "Don't you command 'Why?' I asked. 'Because you'll get the stomach ache,' he replied gravely. 'So will you,' I responded, 'for you have eaten quite as many as have I.' 'I know that,' he replied, 'for I've got it already. That's why I'm trying to save you.'"

It was the habit of the officers and their wives to play "the game of war" in times of peace. This consisted of taking a map and, after sides had been chosen, sticking flags in the map, showing the advance and retreat of troops. One day a big European war was suggested and Lord Kitchener was enlisted as umpire.

A Prophetic War Game

"I played England in a war with Germany," said Mrs. Erskine, "and accidentally planted my flag on Belgian soil. Cries that this was neutral territory were immediately raised, but Lord Kitchener backed me up. 'That's just what she ought to do,' he said. 'If ever there is a war with Germany that is what the English will do unless the Germans do it first.' You forget the treaty of London," someone said. "No," he shot back, "Belgium was a statesman. He signed to something that would be for the future good of his country. War knows nothing about the future good. It is only the present that appeals to the warrior, and any clever commander knows that the best way to get from Germany to France is through Belgium."

"Then what will happen?" I asked. "I mean what would happen should Germany invade Belgium."

"That is in the lap of the gods," was his reply. "But I'll tell you what I think would happen. Germany would win the first round. After that she would be outmaneuvered."

Picking up one of the little flags, he said he thought Ostend would be a good place to land troops, but reconsidered and decided on a point south of Dunkirk."

Mrs. Erskine was in Pretoria during part of the Boer war. When Kitchener arrived at Mafeking as chief of staff for Lord Roberts, the young officer realized that "moss maps" were a thing of the past. They were all put to work. That was true of the officers. One day Lord Kitchener saw a young lieutenant sporting a monocle.

"Does your eyesight require you to wear that?" he asked.

"Then report tomorrow morning to the line of communication," ordered the general. "I do not require men with poor eyesight at headquarters."

His Justice and Discipline

"A soldier was digging a ditch near Pretoria," said Mrs. Erskine, "and the general observed him for a long while. Finally he sent for him. He asked him if he wasn't ill. The soldier replied that he was; that he felt quite badly. 'Then, why don't you report sick?' demanded the general. 'I did,' replied the soldier, 'but the doctor said I was fit for duty.' Lord Kitchener was fit for duty, and he was not a soldier to make an examination, found the soldier was suffering from typhoid fever and sent him to the hospital. Then he said to the doctor, 'You can apply for your leave home. I have no use here for the sort of a doctor you are.'"

Erskine prophesies that very little war news will come out of England while Lord Kitchener holds his present position, but says that what does come with his sanction will be accurate.

AGREE ON TRUST BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The Clayton anti-trust bill conferees agreed upon their final report yesterday, completing a measure that is a combination of features of both senate and house bills.

Important changes made in the measure as it left the senate relate to interlocking directorates and exclusive contracts. The conferees restored the house section prohibiting interlocking directorates of bank directors, with an amendment to provide:

That from and after two years following the passage of the act, no person shall at the same time be a director or officer, or employee of more than one bank, banking association, or trust company which has deposits, capital, surplus and undivided profits aggregating more than $500,000, the provision to be applicable only to banks in cities having a population of more than 250,000. The house bill gave the capital limitation of $2,500,000 and contained no population limitation.

The provision to prohibit exclusive or "cycling" contracts follows the spirit of the Walsh amendment to maintain independence of retail dealers. It would make it unlawful to lease or make a sale or contract for sale of goods patented or copyrighted, on the condition, agreement or understanding that the lessee or purchaser shall not use or deal in the goods of a competitor of the lessor or seller, where the effect of such a transaction may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly. Specific penalty in this section of the senate bill was eliminated.

Labor, agricultural and fraternal organizations are exempted from the provisions of the bill and labor is declared not to be a commodity.

A provision growing out of the New Haven railroad difficulties would make it a felony for any officer or director of a corporation willfully to misapply its funds or willfully to permit them to be misapplied. This is made punishable by a fine of not less than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than one year or more than 10 years or both.

TROOPS TO LEAVE MEXICO

Troubles Between Carranza and Villa Will Not Alter Plans—U. S. Will Insist on Peace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—It was officially stated at the White House today that the latest troubles between General Carranza and General Villa would not alter the plans of the United States as to withdrawing troops from Vera Cruz or the status of the embargo on arms. No date had been fixed for moving the troops.

General Villa's open repudiation of General Carranza's authority as first chief of the constitutional army in charge of the executive power in Mexico spread a sinister feeling in official circles today.

While officials admitted that the situation was a threatening one they were not without hope that the rupture would not lead to a physical clash. Once before Villa renounced Carranza's authority, they said, and delegates of the two chiefs met at Torreon, where Villa again recognized Carranza as first chief. That effort would be made to adjust the differences of the two leaders peacefully was generally expected but just how far the United States would lend its influence to the movement is not known.

In the strongest possible language, Paul Fuller, personal representative of President Wilson, who has just returned from Mexico told both Carranza and Villa that the United States would insist upon the maintenance of peace at its doors.

President Wilson yielded to the appeals of both Villa and Carranza to withdraw the American troops from Vera Cruz only because they assured him that they were working harmoniously to establish a strong central government. Pres. Wilson, it is thought, may now feel himself justified in maintaining the American forces at Vera Cruz in view of the sudden reversal of the situation.

What is perplexing officials here is the variety of reports from their agents as to Carranza's attitude. One reliable report was to the effect that Carranza recently expressed his willingness to withdraw soon and go to the United States for a rest, believing that with the evacuation of Vera Cruz and the selection of a new provisional president he could retire happily to private life.

President Wilson was expected to confer with state department officials today about this situation.

President Wilson is understood to take the position that Carranza and Villa must settle their differences without interference from the United States and that the presence of the American troops at Vera Cruz would not solve the difficulty.

According to official information here, Villa is willing to have Carranza become provisional president and resign now and run for the presidency later. Villa, it is said, objects to Carranza doing both.

As outlined in official circles today, President Wilson will continue to pursue a watchful waiting policy and allow the Mexicans to work out their own destiny, providing that rights of foreigners are respected.

ALLIES WIELD GREAT BATTERING RAM

Formidable Force Thrown Against Allies Left is Still Flinching—Germans Losing Heavily on Their Right—Belief Unanimous That Battle of the Aisne Cannot Last Much Longer

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The formidable force the Germans threw against the allies left is still flinching, according to the official communication, under the unrelenting blows of the Franco-English battering ram. Even the famous guards, as in the battle of the Marne, are unable to stand the pressure and are giving a little more ground every day.

The diversion attempted in Lorraine having proven ineffectual, the Germans are now making a fierce drive in the Woivre district northeast of Verdun. The object, no doubt, is to cut off the army operating around Nancy, but the Germans already had tried to make an opening between Verdun and Toul, besieging Troyon at the same time. It is doubtful if they will succeed any better this time than they did in the former attempt. Nevertheless, the maneuver constitutes a menace to the allies, who are resisting with all their might and are repulsing attacks with heavy losses.

That the Germans are losing heavily on their right is also attested by the constant arrival here of prisoners and wounded. Early this morning many automobiles were seen with wounded both Germans and allies passing through the streets, but some of these were convalescents returning from the seashore and rejoining their corps.

This morning's press is unanimous that the battle of the Aisne cannot last much longer for the steady retirement of the German right must entail a weakening of the center elbow that the Germans threw out along the river Oise to prevent being turned.

THE NEWLY FORMED RUSSIAN REGIMENTS COVERED THEMSELVES WITH GLORY

PETROGRAD, Sept. 24.—An official communication issued by the general staff today says:

On Sept. 21 the Russian troops took by storm the fortifications of Jaroslavl, on the right bank of the River San. They took 20 cannons, even though the enemy offered heavy resistance and blew up the bridge over the San.

Two days previous the Russians had occupied Staromiaslo, Przeworski and Lancut (to the north and west of Jaroslavl). The Russian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Austrian rear guard and inflicting heavy losses, although the Austrians destroyed many bridges.

Every day the number of prisoners and seized cannon increases.

The demoralization of the enemy is shown by pillaging and panicky retreat. The villagers assert that a majority of their officers are killed or missing and that the soldiers feel the loss keenly.

QUICK TRIP FROM ROME

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell Reached Boston on Steamer Canopic Today

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell reached Boston today aboard the steamer Canopic after a quick trip from Rome, where they had attended the coronation of Pope Benedict XV.

The voyage across was made at night with all lights out and portholes shrouded; the only reminder of war-times.

"I would congratulate the American people on the fact that they are enjoying peace while other nations are in the throes of war," said Cardinal Gibbons. "And I would also congratulate and praise the American government on its maintenance of peace, notwithstanding great temptations," he added.

The venerable prelate said that what little he had seen and the much that he had heard of the horrors of the war impressed him deeply.

"It is a great pity," he exclaimed when he learned of the damage to the cathedral at Rheims, "and a loss that can never be replaced. I knew it well and admired it in common with a world of lovers of art."

Cardinal Gibbons said he had no doubt that the war had shortened the days, if it had not directly caused the death of Pope Pius X. "I am sure the present Holy Father will do his utmost to bring about peace."

Pope Loves Americans

"Pope Benedict, the new pontiff, has a great love for America and Americans, looking up to our government as a model and exemplar of the best on this earth," said Cardinal O'Connell. "The Holy Father sent a message of sincere good will to the people of this land."

As to their inability to reach Rome in time for their participation in the election of the pope, the cardinals said they had done their duty. Cardinal O'Connell expressed the opinion that the law setting the date of the conclave as ten days after the death of the pope would be changed to enable the cardinals at points distant from Rome to take part in future elections.

Cardinal Gibbons said he was very tired and would be unable to address the American Federation of Catholic Societies at Washington next Sunday. He said he would appear before the convention as will Cardinal O'Connell, but both will make only brief remarks.

Troops are Mobilized

Rev. B. G. Gaw of Washington, one of the five clergymen returning from the Holy Land, where they had been sent by a Washington newspaper, said that Italy had mobilized 400,000 troops on the northern frontier, and was calling out a class of reserves every few days.

"Everybody in Italy seemed to want war," said Mr. Gaw. "Turkish mobilization delayed the clergymen in Palestine, where all available horses were seized by the Turks for military purposes."

Thelston Wells of New York said that he had been detained as a Russian spy at Blyn, in the Austrian Tyrol. A letter from Secretary Bryan eventually established his identity.

Wm. S. Spencer of New York was a bearer of three medals, decorations of the order of St. Alexander Nevsky, recently created by Prince William of Wied as king of Albania. They are for Colonel Roosevelt, Lyman Abbott and Charles R. Crane, Chicago.

GERMAN CRUISER EMDEN FIRED FEW SHELLS WHILE PASSING MADRAS

CALCUTTA, Sept. 24.—The papers published an official despatch stating that the German cruiser Emden while passing Madras fired a few shells but that the damage to the city was slight.

Madras is a seaport of British India, the seat of government and headquarters of the Madras army.

SUBMARINE CREDITED WITH DESTROYING BRITISH CRUISERS IS UNINJURED

LONDON, Sept. 24.—A despatch to Reuters' Telegram Co. from Amsterdam states that the German consul there, according to the Telegram, has been advised by his government that submarine U-9, which is credited with blowing up the early British cruisers in the North Sea early Tuesday morning, has returned to a German port uninjured.

BRITISH TROOPS JOIN IN MOVEMENT AGAINST GERMANS AT TSING TAU

TOKIO, Sept. 24.—The war office makes the official announcement that British troops under Brig. Gen. Nathaniel Barnardiston, commander of the north China forces landed on Sept. 23 in the neighborhood of Looshan bay to participate in the movements against the Germans at Tsing Tau.

O'SULLIVAN SAYS—

With the war news from official sources in Russia, Austria, Serbia and even Germany undependable we haven't much fault to find if the calendar isn't dependable. The calendar calls for the retiring of straw hats and the opening of Fall styles but the weather contradicts the calendar much to our discomfort and disappointment.

We are going to have a Birthday Party at the Merrimack Friday. This week marks the rounding out of twenty-one years of service to the public and the establishment of a reputation for good goods and square dealings.

There is always a desire on the part of discerning buyers to see what the Merrimack shows at its Openings and I presume that desire will be intensified this year on account of my closer attention to the activities of the store.

You need not expect sensational figures and extravagant statements from this store. The public who have goods to buy and cash to pay are good credit sufficiently interested to examine the goods at close range they have to change their money for. Today our window dressers are busy fixing up our Birthday dress for the coming season and I invite you to visit the store, look it over inside and outside and we are confident you will decide that you have in Lowell a store that isn't equalled in New England in its appointments and that your dollar will go further here for the class of merchandise than you expect—for working prices, active business, satisfaction to customers is the rule here at the Merrimack.

STREET RAILWAY MEN

CONDUCTED AN ENJOYABLE OUTING AT CANOPIC LAKE YESTERDAY

Division 238 of the Bay State Street Railway union held its annual outing at Canopic Lake yesterday afternoon and the usual good time was enjoyed by all those who attended. It was one of the most successful events of its kind that the street railway men have held.

On the arrival of the party at the park the sports and field events held the centre of attraction. The street railway men boast of some fine athletes and some of them showed unusual class in the different events.

The half mile event was first run off and Don Primeau showed that besides driving a car at a high rate of speed he was there with the speed himself and he left a large field of contestants far behind. Don carried home a suitable prize.

Conductor Kenyon proved to be an athlete of great endurance and won the mile run in close to record time. He also left the bunch of starters far in the background.

The fat man's walk proved to be the most enjoyable event of the day and a goodly number of heavyweights entered. Tom McAndrews must have been reading some of Dan O'Leary's books, for besides winning the event easily he showed remarkable speed and a lot of style. Most of the heavyweights dropped out early in the race thinking that they could recuperate and get back and overtake the leaders but it proved to be a hopeless task. One of their number was overheard to say that he never walked such a distance in his life and never would while the electric cars were handy. Tom McAndrews was awarded a handsome umbrella.

Joseph Powers and A. Clancy, who have been practicing the three-legged stunt for weeks past were rewarded by coupling the blue ribbon in this event. Joe and Aloysius will wear Polish neckties, undoubtedly donated by Gen. Clark.

The hundred yard dash was won by Jack Lynch, one of Lowell's fastest athletes and D. O'Hara captured second prize. Jack will excite the jealousy of his fellow employees with his red vest which he will wear for the first time Sunday. All the boys signified their intentions of greeting him on that day. Mr. O'Hara was presented a pipe, no doubt a scheme to keep him out of training. The hop, step and jump was won by Frank Breen of the Oaklands and he was awarded a briar.

A baseball game between the married men and the single men provided everyone with a vast amount of fun. The benedictine proved too much for the bachelors and hammered out a 10-5 victory. The feature of the game was a home run drive of John Lariviere of the married men when three runners occupied the bases.

Before the baseball game a sumptuous dinner was served by Caterer Harvey and was much enjoyed. The start home was made about six o'clock. Everything considered, it was a most successful affair.

This picture shows the ruins of the great library at Louvain, Belgium, one of the most famous in the world for old manuscripts and ancient tomes. It ranked with that of the Vatican. The building was destroyed in the German destruction of the city, and all the works of incalculable value have been destroyed. The alleged sacking of Louvain was described from an English viewpoint in the official notice issued by the English press bureau on Friday, Aug. 28, which read as follows: "On Tuesday evening a German corps, after receiving a check, withdrew in disorder into the town of Louvain. A German, guard at the entrance to the town mistook the nature of this incursion and fired on their routed fellow countrymen, mistaking them for Belgians. In spite of all denials from the authorities the Germans, in order to cover their mistake, pretended that it was the inhabitants who had fired on them, whereas the inhabitants, including the police, had been disarmed more than a week before. Without inquiry and without listening to any protests the German commander in chief announced that the town would be immediately destroyed. The inhabitants were ordered to leave their dwellings. A party of the men were made prisoners and the women and children put into trains, the destination of which is unknown. Soldiers furnished with bombs set fire to all parts of the town. The splendid church of St. Pierre, the university buildings, the library and the scientific establishment were delivered to the flames. Several notable citizens were shot. A town of 45,000 inhabitants, the intellectual metropolis of the low countries since the fifteenth century, is now no more than a heap of ashes."
